BORAH ASKS FIGHTING CAMPAIGN

CORRUPTION BIG ISSUE DECLARES IDAHO SENATOR

Prediction Made Before Hamilton Club At Chicago That "It Will Be Teapot Dome Against Tammany Hall" In Approaching Presidential Battle—Pleads For An "Aroused People" And Consideration Of Living Issues.

CHICAGO, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Corruption in government is the greatest issue before the country in the approaching presidential campaign, Senator William E. Borah declared here tonight in a speech to the Hamilton club, in which he pleaded for "an aroused people and a fighting campaign."

Despite the corruption of a few in republican ranks, he said the party could win easily in November if it had "courageous leaders, candidates and a platform of principles." He predicted there would be counter charges of corruption between republicans and democrats, with the democratic "Queensborough scandal" in New York City, vieing with the republican oil scandals.

"It will be Teapot Dome against Tammany Hall," he declared.

Borah made no specific mention of prohibition nor of his "conscience fund" in his prepared speech. He dealt rather in generalities.

"Above all things," he said, "Give us an aroused people and a fighting campaign. This is the beginning of things worth while in American politics. The country needs again that kind of political warfare in which the voters demand consideration of living issues and concrete programs of the hour."

Borah urged the development of a campaign similar to that of 1828 when Andrew Jackson won or that of 1860 when Abraham Lincoln won.

Discusses Platform.

In proposing a platform Borah said the republican party should not overlook just tax laws, economy in government, rehabilitation of the farm, control of rivers, restrictions on the growth of bureaucracy, or the conservation of the nation's national wealth in coal, oil and natural power.

"But I would place above them all in the platform and in the program and in the purpose of the party, as first in importance, a pure ballot, a clean government and the in-

McLaughlin announced at once that he would file a notice of appeal before May 14, the opening of the May term of court. If this is done, Warren will not hang on the date designated, but will remain in the county jail until the Supreme court passes on the appeal, probably in a year or more.

During the recent pre-primary election rioting here Anderson was the storm center of a movement to invoke government supervision at th polls. He requested that troops be sent to Chicago to insure freedom of the ballot, but his request was refused.

Anderson's death was discovered by the assistant manager at the hotel LaSalle when he failed to answer a call from the desk.

A WILD THRONG CHEERS FLIERS AT NEW YORK

MAYOR WALKER AT HEAD OF RECEPTION

Trans-Atlantic Trio Astounded at Ovations Given Them.

NEW YORK, April 28—(I. N. S.)—The three Robinson Crusoes of the air-Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, Maj James Fitzmaurice and Capt. Hermann Koehl—stepped into the waiting arms of Mother Manhattan tonight.

New York gave a turbulent "hello" to the Irish-German crew of the Bremen which blazed a new trail across the Atlantic.

Mayor "Jimmy" Walker, with his famous smile, and reception committee, officially greeted the fliers on their arrival at the Pennsylvania station from Washington.

The crowds provided the unofficial welcome, a milling, roaring, neck-craning mob, defying police arrangements and reminiscent of the welcome to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Despite a rain-curtained sky and a chilling wind, the route from the terminal to the Ritz Carlton hotel was choked with cheering citizens.

In their rest suite at the hotel, the three trans-Atlantic heroes said they would try the flight again." They posed for pictures. The baron wore his monocle pertly. Fitzmaurice smiled an Irish smile. Koehl put his arms about his comrades.

Then they said "Hello" to America via the radio.

Fitzmaurice Delighted.

"Here we are at last—all the way over," said Major Fitzmaurice over the radio. "First to Greenly island and then to Murray Bay and then we fell into Long Island. And, mind you, it is d— good and we are most happy. The Canadian people were most awfully sweet and we really hated to leave them. But here we are again and I cannot tell you how wonderful it is, because if I told you, you' can't tell what might happen."

Baron Von Huenefeld, after speaking to his mother in Germany, said:

"We are so happy to be here at last and so grateful for the hearty welcome we are receiving that we

METHODISTS IN HUGE MEETING

Expect 75,000 Out-of-town Visitors at Quadrennial Conference.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 28—(U. P.)—Th Episcopal address and reports of the various boards will feature the first week's program of the greatest assemblage of churchmen ever to convocate in Kansas City.

The thirtieth general quadrennial conference of the Methodist church will open formally in Convention hall Tuesday morning. A monster communion service for the 875 official delegates Tuesday will give the conference a spiritual atmosphere.

During the month that the conference will be in session more than 75,000 out of town visitors are expected to attend the numerous sessions. The episcopal address, which deals with all phases of life in the thirty-five nations where Methodism is organized received its finishing touches today. Forty bishops of the church have been busy for a week assembling data and formulating policies to be contained in the address.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York will probably read the address Wednesday morning.

The official business of the conference is as broad as life itself and touches every phase of spiritual and economic endeavor in which the Methodist Episcopal church is interested.

Delegates will lay down policies for more than five million members in the United States alone, not including a Sunday school membership of more than four million.

Millions Affected.

Other millions in foreign lands also will be affected by the policies and principles laid down by the delegates here. Administration of large sums of money conduct of hundreds of schools, colleges and hospitals operated by the M. churches will come in for consideration during the thirty day session.

A demand has come from New York delegates that the rule under which pastors in the church pledge themselves never to use tobacco be abolished. This question is expected to precipitate a lively fight between liberal and the stand pat element.

World peace is an issue which

Rejects Rifle Match Measure on Basis of Constitutionality.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINION SUPREME

He Has Already Decided McNary-Haugen Statute Unsound.

WASHINGTON, April 29—(I. N. S.)—President Coolidge, in his first veto message of the present session, today indicated to congress that he will not tolerate any invasion of the powers of the executive branch of the government.

The vetoed bill—a minor measure regulating the holding of annual rifle matches—brought from the white house a veto message of unusual length, with a dissertation upon the rights of congress and the executive branch.

In stressing the statement of the attorney general that the bill was unconstitutional, the president indicated that he regards this as sufficient for the veto of any measure.

With the attorney general holding that the McNary-Haugen farm bill, now under consideration in the house, is unconstitutional, the veto message was regarded as indicating clearly what the president will do on the farm bill.

The vetoed measure was introduced by Representative Speaks, republican of Ohio. It provided for a board for the promotion of national rifle matches.

"The bill provides a board to perform federal functions at federal expense, to be constituted of five officials of the government and fifty-one members to be appointed by officers and agencies who are not a part of the federal government," said the veto message.

"The method of appointment of federal officers is clearly defined by Article 2, Sections 1 and 2, of the constitution. I have been advised by the attorney general that this bill is unconstitutional because it takes away from the executive branch of the government and vests in persons not in any branch of the federal service the power and duty

DEPOSITS CLOSE TO PEAK FIGURE

Aggregate In State Banks $285,000,000; Cash Reserves Strengthened.

A surprisingly good shewing of state bank resources, deposits and cash reserve appears in the compilation given out Saturday by State Trade and Commerce Secretary Bliss summarizing conditions as of March 10 in banks operating under Nebraska charters.

There are 777 such banks at the present time, excluding those in the hands of the guaranty fund commission, and they have total deposits of $270,403,539. The commission banks on March 10 had total deposits of about $14,600,000, making the aggregate deposits in all state institutions $285,000,000. This is close to the peak figure attained during the post-war boom in 1919-20.

The last previous summary of state bank statistics, under date of December 31, 1927, covered 855 banks, including seventy-eight which were then being operated by the guaranty fund commission or have since been taken over by it. These had combined deposits of $274,467,862.

The record thus registers a gain of over 10 million dollars in deposits during the first two months and ten days of the current year. This accounted for chiefly by the large shipments of grain and live stock which moved from Nebraska farms during that period and brought good prices on the markets.

Reserves $10,000,000 Higher.

It is not alone in deposits that the state banks improved their situation materially in the first period of 1928. Their cash reserves were greatly strengthened at the same time, the increase being over $10,000,000.

As against $49,891,485 of cash on hand in 855 banks last December, 777 banks comprised in the present report have $59,997,591. The average reserve is 22 per cent of deposits, being the highest that has been carried by Nebraska banks for many years. Under the state law they are required to maintain a 15 per cent reserve.

Bond holdings of the 777 banks at this time amount to $82,186,22b, compared with $28,735,212 which were owned by the 855 banks in December.

Another favorable development is a material decrease in real estate holdings, which represent

Paddock, not knowing what had happened, was off with the crack of the gun, raced around the mass of spectators who were picking themselves up and covered the distance in 17 2-5 seconds which was announced as a new world's record.

UNION OFFICIAL IS 'WAR' VICTIM

BURLINGTON, Wis., April 28—(I. N. S.)—James Lynch, business agent of the coal drivers, teamsters and chauffeurs union of Chicago, was shot and killed here this afternoon by a group of four men.

Two of the men were later arrested at Antioch, Ill., a short distance from here, and were rushed to the Waukegan, Ill., county jail for questioning. They gave the names of William Martin and Thomas Elliott and were said to have confessed they killed Lynch as the result of a labor war.

A cold wave that left the whole south shivering was added tonight to the menace of the elements. Record breaking low temperatures for April were recorded from North Carolina to the Gulf of Mexico.

The flood and storm stricken areas of Georgia, Florida and Alabama faced probable frosts. North and South Carolina also feared extensive damage to crops.

Homes Unroofed.

Meanwhile, a score of Florida towns swept their streets clear of debris, broken window glass, uprooted trees, resulting from a wind storm that cut across the state yesterday, causing loss of four lives, ruining extensive cucumber plantings and tearing roofs from houses.

In Alabama, along the Tombigbee river, the flood menace was most formidable as other swollen rivers disgorged the bulk of surplus waters into the Gulf of Mexico.

Loss will run high into the millions. Hundreds of farmer families have been driven from their homes.

90 HIGH SCHOOLS IN MUSIC CONTEST

Nearly 1,800 Contestants Will Compete Here May 4 and 5.

Orchestra, Chorus, Band and Glee Club Events Come On Saturday.

Registration for the fifth annual Nebraska state music contest to be held in Lincoln on Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, is nearly completed. To date ninety towns have entered, about 1,800 contestants. This is an increase of about 300 over the registration of last year. This year the Nebraska State Music association and the University of Nebraska extension department of which A. A. Reed is the director, are co-operating in giving the program.

All solo events will be held on Friday in Morrill hall at Fourteenth and U streets. Preliminaries in the various events will take place in galleries A and B and in the auditorium of the hall. On Friday evening the final contests in all solo events will be held in the auditorium after which the winners will be announced and presented with their medals. This year contestants in solo events have been allowed to select their own numbers instead of having to play a selection chosen by the executive committee, as has been done in previous years. It will be more difficult to judge under such an arrangement, but the committee thought that it would be easier on the contestants and the system has proved to better advantage in other state contests.

On Saturday the group events will be held in the Lincoln high school auditorium at Twenty-second and J streets. Here the boys and girls glee clubs, mixed choruses, bands, and orchestras of classes A, B, and C will compete during the day. In the evening at the end of Class A orchestra contest the grand championship trophy will be awarded to the school amassing the largest total of points. Lincoln high school won the first cup offered, by winning the first three successive contests, and last year Omaha Central won the trophy. In order to keep this permanently it is necessary for a school to win the cup three times. The Sinfonia trophy or sweep stakes cup will be awarded to the class B or C school making the largest number of points. Hebron Academy won this event for the third time last year thereby gaining permanent possession of the old trophy. Cups will be awarded to first and second place winners in all group events and a ribbon to all winners of third places. These cups are presented with the grand championship trophy by the Lincoln chamber of commerce. In addition medals will be awarded to first and second place winners in the solo events. The Lincoln Woman's club will again offer its medal to the girl scoring the highest number of points in the contest. Instructors and conservatories over the state are offering scholarships of a year's tuition at half price to the first winners of solo events.

Three Judges.

The judges for this year's contest are: Mrs. Marian Cotton, director of music, New Trier Township high school, Winnetka, Ill.; Frederick Doetzel, supervisor of music, Cedar Rapids public schools, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; and J. Deforest Cline, director conservatory of music, Colorado State Teachers college, Greeley, Colo. O. H. Bimson, assistant superintendent of the Lincoln public schools, succeeds H. O. Ferguson as chairman of the committee in charge of the contest, and the contest will be under his general supervision. Other members of the committee are: Mrs. Carol M. Pitts, head of the music department of Omaha Central high school; Miss Cora Conaway, supervisor of music of the York public schools; Miss Vera Robertson, supervisor of music at Wahoo; and M. H. Havelock Boy Scouts Perform Real Service for Community; Trees Planted to Hide Dump

Boy Scouts of Havelock did a good turn for more than a day, when they planted trees along the edge of the dump fronting the Cornhusker highway north of the town. The young workers, in their laboring clothes, with their shovels and spading forks, are shown above, and the line of duty, where the seedlings were planted, in the lower picture.

Thirty boy scouts, members of the Havelock troup, are receiving the praise and gratefulness of their community for a valuable service which they recently performed.

For sometime past there has been an urgent need that something be done to remove the unsightliness of the Havelock dump, which is located on the Cornhusker highway a mile north of the town.

It has been an eyesore to the residents, but even more so it has hurt their pride because the hundreds of motorists who travel the Cornhusker highway daily have received their first introduction to Havelock from the dump.

It's removal was impossible. The mayor and the council could find no other location for it. No one wanted it near or on their property.

Scouts Solve Problem.

But the scouts came to the rescue. Civic pride, community improvement, forestry, and all else that goes with the great outdoors is an important part of the creed and training.

They decided to plant some trees along the edge of the dump next to the highway to hide it. What could be more appropriate for the observation of National Forest Week.

With money they earned themselves, they asked Scout Master O. J. Hitchcock and his assistant James Ross to arrange for the purchase of the trees from the state extension department at the Agricultural college. One hundred pine trees were secured.

Trees Planted.

Promptly at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Friday April 20, every scout reported at the dump, armed with the proper utensils. Mayor Fred Hall had laid out the line for the planting and had seen to it that the rubbage had been removed from that area. Each scout was assigned to the task of planting a tree or two. The little seedlings were set in the ground in a manner which most assures their healthy growth, the earth was tamped in around them, and sufficient water was poured around their roots.

The reward of their efforts will not be so noticeable this season but in another year or two a hedge will have grown up that will turn the unsightly place into one of beauty at least so far as persons driving along the highway will be able to see.

258 MILLION IN GAS TAXES PAID

Nebraska's Collection From Levy Totalled Over $3,600,000.

Gasoline taxes, levied in every state of the union with the exception of Massachusetts and New York brought in a total net revenue of $258,966,851 during 1927, according to information collected by the bureau of public roads of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Of this amount, $182,095,503 was used for the construction and maintenance of state highways under the supervision of state highway departments, and $55,440,161 was apportioned to the counties for local road purposes.

All but 4 per cent of the net receipts were allotted for road purposes, including the payment of interest and retirement charges on highway bonds.

The returns indicate an increase in gasoline consumption over that of 1926 in all but two states, and it is estimated that approximately 10,596,000,000 gallons of gasoline were used during the last year by motor vehicles. The average yearly consumption per each vehicle is estimated at 458 gallons.

Of this total amount of gas tax receipts, $3,664,919 represented the collections of Nebraska. Eighteen states of the union collected less than Nebraska though many of them levy a larger tax. Thirteen states, including Nebraska, levy a 2 cent tax. The other 35 states collect taxes ranging from three to five cents a gallon.

California, with a 3 cent tax collected $22,467,083 last year. Pennsylvania, with a 3 cent tax ranked second with $17,296,333. Texas was third, and Florida was fourth.

FARMERS OF GAGE PUTTING IN CORN

(Special to The Sta.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28—A few farmers in Gage county began planting corn yesterday, and with favorable weather a considerable acreage will be seeded before the close of another week. The ground is reported in good condition for seeding, but the weather has been too cool the past few weeks for crops, gardens and other vegetation. A few farmers were obliged to resow some of their oats, the crop having been damaged by freezing weather the past few weeks.

THREE BAD FARM FIRES IN JOHNSON

Buildings, Horses, Machinery, Grain and Other Property Worth Thousands Burned.

(Special to The Star.)

TECUMSEH, Neb., April 28—Fire today destroyed a large barn on the Tom Sandusky farm southeast of St. Mary, with four head of horses some farm machinery, ten tons of hay, grain, etc. The origin of the fire is not known. The barn was worth $2,000 and insured for $800. The contents belonged to the tenant, Elzie Goosman, whose loss was $2,200 and was partly covered by insurance.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a combination garage and machine shed on the farm of Fred Gefeke, two miles west of 91k Creek, with two Overland automobiles, 200 bushels of clover seed, some machinery and tools, feed, etc. The loss was $2,500, partly covered by insurance.

Still another fire burned a large implement shed, a granary and a small shed at the home of Joseph Mandery, north of Tecumseh. Mr. Mandery got his automobile and a wagon out of the shed, but lost $800 worth of farm machinery and grain. He had insurance on the contents of the buildings but not on the buildings, which were valued at about $2500.

Marines Laying Plans For Drive On Rebels

Garrison of Puerto Cabezas Stands Ground While Reinforcements Come Up.

PUERTOS CABEZAS, Nicaragua, April 28—(I. N. S.)—With a squadron of fighting planes and a cruiser already here and another cruiser due to arrive tomorrow with reinforcements, the American marines today continued their preparations for their forthcoming operations against General Sandino and his rebel followers.

The guerillas who recently raided four American-owned mines, looted them of food and supplies and destroyed what they could not move, have fortified themselves in the hilly, pathless and almost inaccessible mining district.

Reports that Sandino was planning an attack upon this place have caused no alarm here. The 200 marines here are quite capable of defending the town, although they cannot risk taking the offensive against the strongly entrenched rebels until the reinforcements have arrived.

No further word has come from George Marshall, American assistant superintendent of the La Luz mine, who was captured in the raid, but it is thought he is still alive.

The closing session of the charm school Thursday night will hear Mrs. Herbert Brownell on "The Charm of the Balanced Life."

Academic Pentathlon Is New Feature Annual High School Contests Here This Week-End

Nebraska high school students will turn toward Lincoln and the university beginning next Friday for the annual series of contests in scholastic, musical, forensic, and athletic fields.

The first, and one of the most important, contests come next Friday and Saturday, when the sixth interschclastic academic contest and the fifth all-Nebraska music competition are held. In the academic contest, which will be held at the university on Saturday, students from all parts of the state, having won over others in preliminary competitions, will contest for gold, silver, and bronze medals in twenty-one subjects ranging from spelling to trigonometry and modern European history.

Last year more than 600 high school students came to Lincoln for the academic contests alone. According to officials at the university extension division, the enrollment this year will undouotedly exceed that. Reduced railroad rates effective throughout Nebraska next week will help to bring many friends and relatives of the youthful contestants to Lincoln.

Perhaps the most interesting of the academic events next Saturday is an innovation this year—the first annual academic "pentathlon," a battle of wits corresponding to the all-around competitions of athletes Each high school has the privilege of athletes. Each high school has the pricilege of entering two contestants in the pentathlon, and they will take examinations in five subjects—advanced composition, mathematics, a composite test of English literature, natural sciences, and social sciences, and one additional subject.

The board of regents of the university offers scholarships to the students winning the four highest places in the academic pentathlon. These scholarships provide for all fees of the freshman year, excepting matriculation and registration. The pentathlon is based on the five principal subjects requirem for college entrance.

Subjects included in the regular academic contests are: Spelling, English composition (elementary and advanced) English literature, first year and advanced algebra, plane and solid geometry, trigonometry, American, ancient, early and modern European history, civics, economics, beginning and advanced Latin, French, Spanish, zoology, botany, chemistry, physics, general science, and physiology.

On Friday and Saturday the first annual all-Nebraska music competition will be held at Morrill hall. Winners in county and district contests will compete in solo, small group, glee club, band, and orchestra events.

A week after these first contests the best high school athletes and debators in Nebraska will gather in Lincoln for their big tournaments—the annual debate elimination contest and the track and field meet.

The Western Passenger association has authorized an open rate of a fare and a half for high school week, on sale May 3 to 12, to return by May 14.

LIBEL SUIT TO BE ARGUED IN SUPREME COURT

The $35,000 libel suit brought against the McKelvie Publishing Co. by the C. C. Whitnack Produce Co. has been set down for argument before the Supreme court Thursday, May 10, according to the call issued by the clerk of the court Saturday.

The suit grew out of the publication by the Nebraska Farmer of an article dealing with certified potatoes.

The District court of Lancaster county returned a judgment in favor of the McKelvie Publishing Co., and dismissed the suit. The Whitnack company appealed to the Supreme court.

Another case which is set for argument before the court on Friday, May 11, is the appeal from District Judge Shepherd's ruling denying a writ of habeas corpus for the release of James Carbino, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for first degree murder.

The application for the writ is based on the assertion that Carbino is now insane and was insane at the time he committed the act which caused the death in Omaha of Anna Greco. He is now said to be confined in the state hospital.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon Of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution i na marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver 999—1278 S. Third St., Milwaukee, Wisc., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer. —Advertisement.

Piedmont

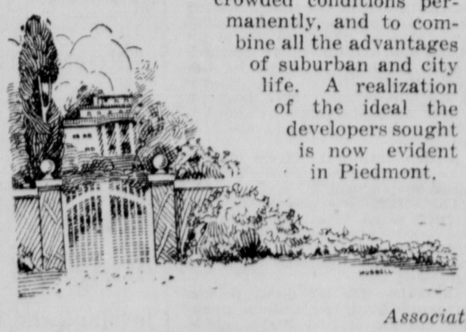
A Corn Field a Year Ago--Now

A Well Established, Rapidly Growing Residential District

¶In April of 1927 Piedmont was announced as "a community of beautiful homes amid spacious surroundings." The idea proposed differed from anything previously advanced in residential developments in Lincoln.

¶Piedmont homesites were to be large—three times the size of ordinary residence lots. The building restrictions were such that there would always be ample room; that pleasant surroundings and an agreeable atmosphere would always be maintained. There was to be space for trees, shrubs, gardens and expanses of lawn. An abundant supply of clean, fresh air was assured because of the location, well above the city—while the restful quiet and calm of the country was to be retained.

¶In fact, the idea was to get away from crowded conditions permanently, and to combine all the advantages of suburban and city life. A realization of the ideal the developers sought is now evident in Piedmont.



¶Homes are completed and occupied; others are in process of construction; tracts are being landscaped by owners in preparation for building later. The 1928 building season will witness much activity in Piedmont.

¶In the year that has intervened since Piedmont's announcement more than a mile of paving has been put in, while a total of more than four miles is to be laid, the most of which will go in this year. Other construction work now completed includes two and a half miles of sewer, two miles of water mains, two and a half miles of gas mains and laterals. Where the paving has been laid, a boulevard street lighting system has been installed, which when completed will reach a total length of seven and a half miles. Piedmont has every city convenience.

¶To those who desire a comfortable suburban place amid spacious surroundings, with the assurance that there will be no encroachments, price is not a consideration, yet Piedmont homesites, with all improvements except paving installed and paid for, are available at figures that will agreeably surprise you.

¶Drive out Cotner Boulevard and through Piedmont. Note the developments. The owners or associated selling agents will appreciate the opportunity to show you Piedmont.

RAILWAY STOCKS HOLD SPOTLIGHT

Wabash and Lehigh Jump 15 Points, But Gains Later Wiped Out.

Crop, Trade and Industrial Reports Spotty For The Week.

BY W. S. COUSINS.

NEW YORK, April 28— (I. N. S.)—A strong market for the railroad stocks developed this week, both prior to and after the announcement of the sale of Wabash and Lehigh Valley railroad stock to the Pennsylvania railroad and the elimination of L. F. Loree, for the time being at least, from the railroad merger situation.

Wabash and Lehigh jumped about 15 points each, where prices were virtually on a level with those at which the big block of shares was transferred by Mr. Loree, but profit taking developed near the week-end and a good part of the early gains were wiped out. The oil stocks and the New York City utilities and tractions had an unusual active weak, with prices buoyant.

Speculative interest was again revived on the money market developments, which included the increase in the rediscount rates of four Federal Reserve banks to 4½ per cent, the refusal of the New York Reserve bank directors to take similar action, the heavy calling of loans in New York for month-end settlements and the maintenance of the call loan rate at 5 per cent. The week's additions to speculative borrowings were comparatively small, corresponding in part to the decline in stock trading in the first three sessions of the week, and reflecting the accumulation of stocks in "strong hands" in Wall Street and elsewhere.

Crop, trade and industrial reports continue spotty, according to the weekly surveys of Dun's and Bradstreets'. The weather has not been conductive to much growth in surplus-producing areas owing to cold, wet and even flood conditions, and, in some parts of the country, continued cold and snow.

Gain In Earnings.

The seasonal falling off in the operations and sales of the steel manufacturers was reported this week. The Steel corporation was able to report a gain in net earnings to $2.36 a share on the common in the first quarter of the year, but this was only 36 cents above dividend requirements for the period.

Car loadings have been running somewhat smaller, but this is accounted for in good part by the decline in the movement of coal from the mines, particularly in the strike regions. Grain and livestock loadings constitute the exceptions to the general trend toward smaller traffic. Employment conditions have shown considerable improvement, particularly in Detroit and other automobile manufacturing centers.

Bond sales in the open market this week aggregated about $155,000,000. Industrial and railroad bonds were turned over in large volume in the listed markets, with price trends generally higher. Convertible industrials had an excellent stimulus in the agressive advance of the copper and oil companies with outsanding convertibles, and rails were bid upward on the brighter prospect of the eastern railroad trunk line consolidations.

Another large increase in the country's bank clearing brought the total for the week ended April 26 to over the corresponding week of $11,011,536,000, a gain of 15 per cent 1927.

Wheat Prices Soar.

CHICAGO, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Wheat closed at 3¾ to 3⅞c higher today, corn and oats ½c higher to ¼c lower.

For the week wheat was ¼ to 13⅝c, corn 1⅛ to 1½c and oats ⅞ to 4¼c.

A broad trade prevailed in wheat all week and prices had little difficulty in soaring to new highs on the crop. There was a continuation of liberal commission house buying so much in evidence of late and the heavy profit-taking was easily absorbed. Houses with eastern and foreign connection were also active buyers.

The May future hit the $1.67 mark during the week, while July touched $1.66 and September $1.53.

Dry weather over the southwest, firmer cables and hardening of premiums for all grades of cash wheat were factors back of the boost.

Soft wheat acreage losses continue to increase, as the crop was in no condition to withstand any further unfavorable developments. In western and northwestern Kansas it was estimated a loss of 80 to 90 per cent was noted in some counties. In Oklahoma, eastern Kansas and eastern Nebraska conditions are good.

Spring wheat seeding is late. Clearances of wheat and flour from North America were 10,624,000 bushels, against 9,308,000 bushels last year. Primary receipts for the week totalled 4,317,000 bushels, compared with 3,225,000 bushels a year ago.

Milling Demand Active.

The milling demand is active and the absorption of mills is steadily decreasing stocks.

Number 2 red winter wheat led the activity in cash markets. In some instances the cereal sold up to a 55 cent premium over the May.

Foreign crop news was mixed. Supplies abroad were moderate.

Corn was higher in sympathy with wheat. Declines were offset to some extent by good commission house buying. Receipts are large, shipments from primary points are even larger, but indications point to a substantial reduction in visible stocks. Country offerings continue small. Cash prices were uneven with demand moderate.

The strong cash situation forced oats up and the May to a new high on the crop. Crop conditions were favorable in most sections.

Hog Market Steady.

CHICAGO, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Hogs finished on a par with a week ago, steers, cows and heifers steady to 25c higher, lambs 50 to 75c higher.

A strong undertone prevailed in the hog market in spite of large arrivals. Shippers were the most active buyers and bought up 50 per cent of the week's run. Packers held back for lower prices, but at times were forced to pay current prices. Arrivals this week were 150,000, against 127,000 the previous week and 120,000 a year ago. The best light hogs finished around $10.50. Good grades cleared at $10 to $10.40; selected heavy $10 to $10.25. Pigs sold at $9 to $9.75.

Good to choice steers were bought up on a higher basis despite larger receipts. A much better outlet for beef at eastern markets stimulated greater activiy on the part of buyers from those points. Local demand was also strong. Most of the heavy steers sold at $13.50 to $14.90. Plainer and medium grade offerings cleared at $12.50 to $13.50. Yearlings were good sellers all week at $12 to $14.50. Receipts for the week were 54,000, compared with 45,000 last week and 44,000 a year ago. Good heavy cows finished at $9 to $11; plain and medium weights $7.50 to $9. Good yearling heifers moved at $13 to $14. Calves lost 50c. Packers took the bulk at $10 to $11.50.

Sheep receipts were also large but a strong demand prevailed all week and gains were well held. Arrivals numbered 66,000, against 56,000 last week and 55,000 the same week last year. Best grades of lambs moved up to the highest point of the year. Best wooled Colorado lambs brought $18.25, with the bulk at $17.75 to $18.15. Shorn lambs went at $15.50 to $17.10.

Chicago Cotton Closes Higher.

CHICAGO, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Cotton closed 106 to 113 points above last week on active buying, unfavorable weather conditions and firmness at Liverpool.

The May future hit the 21.25c mark and the July 21.05c, new highs on the movement. Temperatures over the belt were too low for cotton, and the start of the new crop continues late.

Today's closing prices were from 4 to 12 points lower under realizing sales.

May finished at 2102, down 11; July 2087, down 9; October 2060, down 4; December 2057, down 12; January 2056, down 4.

MAYOR OF CRETE

(Special to The Star.)

CRETE, Neb., April 28—C. E. Beals, newly elected mayor of Crete who will assume his office May 1, was born Sept. 14, 1883, at Carrollton, Mo., and went to Kansas City with his parents at 12 years of age. After finishing high school he attended Baker university at Baldwin, Kas., and there he met Miss Clara Griffis, also a student, who later became his wife.

In 1912 Mr. Beals went to Lincoln to work for the Burlington and in 1916 became an employe of the old Adams Express Co., now the American Railway Express. He was transferred to Crete in 1917 and is still in the employ of the company, beside having served as city clerk for the past six years. That his services in that office were satisfactory is evidenced by the fact that he was the nominee of both the citizens and non-partisan caucuses and was elected mayor by a majority of 353.

Mr. and Mrs. Beals have one daughter, Lucille, who has grown to womanhood here, going through the high school and Doane college and who is now a teacher at Oxford, Nebraska.

ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM HELD

300 Local Odd Fellows Celebrate Founding Of Lodge.

The various lodges of Odd Fellows of Lincoln gathered together Friday night for the purpose of commemorating the one hundred and ninth anniversary of the founding of American Odd Fellowship. Over 300 members and friends were in attendance.

Following the supper served by the members of Circle No. 1 of Charity lodge No. 2, the company assembled in the upper hall where the following program was rendered; with Past Noble Grand William Miller presiding:

America—by the company.

Vocal solos—Paul Spence, "The Poor Man's Garden," "Tommy Lad."

Address—J. W. Pittman, superintendent of the York Home.

Vocal solos—Wilma Clyde.

Music—Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Thoms.

Paper written by Henry Allen Brainerd, and read by Mrs. Pearl Smiley.

Short talks by past presidents of the state assembly, B. Rosalie Crabtree, Lincoln; Mrs. Knapp, Omaha; assembly chaplain, Mrs. Edith Lancaster, York, and Mrs. J. W. Pittman.

Past Grand Master Johnson took for his theme "What Odd Fellowship is, and What It Is Not," basing his remarks upon the Bible. He illustrated the teaching of Odd Fellowship with the story of the Good Samaritan and other biblical characters.

Henry Allen Brainerd's paper related several facts pertaining to the history of the lodge and told of the formation of the first lodge of Odd Fellows in 1819 in the city of Baltimore with five members. Since then five members have constituted a quorum necessary to transact business he said.

All Missourians organized the first lodge in the state of Nebraska when five men formed the first chapter at Nebraska City. They were W. H. Stubblefield, Max Rich, Samuel McClay, Samuel Leland, L. A. Onyett. Rich was Grand noble; McClay vice grand; Leland, secretary; and Onyett, treasurer.

Capital Lodge No. 11 has had 140 noble grands, eighty-five of whom are named at roll call at each meeting as past noble grands. The lodge was organized in the little old wooden building located at 123 South Tenth street, the first floor being used as a drug store. After several moves the lodge finally located in its present building, which was erected in 1882.

On October 18, 1870 the grand lodge held its thirteenth annual session in Lincoln, with Winfield H. Barger of Hebron, presiding, and at this session several members of Capital lodge No. 11 petitioned the grand lodge for permission to organize a Rebekah Lodge, and the same being given Charity Rebekah Lodge No. 2, which came into existence under the name of "Daughters of Rebekah."

MEMBERSHIP CUP TO M. W. A. CAMP

Local Lodge Honored for Securing Most Members During 1927.

Over 200 Woodmen attended the "jubilee" meeting of Nebraska Camp No. 2226 of the Modern Woodmen of America Monday evening at the Knights of Pythias hall at which time the camp was rewarded for securing the largest number of new members during 1927 of any lodge in the state.

Head Consul A. R. Talbot presented the banner, which has been the membership prize for many years, to become the permanent possession of the camp and the silver loving cup, which will remain in its possession for a year. He complimented the camp upon its ability to hold the state banner for three consecutive years.

Mr. Talbot told of the advance made by the society since it was organized in 1883 with twenty-one members. Now there are 13,428 camps with a total membership of 1,108,662. With the 16,965 certificates outstanding the membership total will be 1,125,617 he reported. Mr. Talbot gave especial mention to the state deputy, E. E. Kester, who, he said, has brought more members into the society and organized more "father and son" classes than any other individual.

Mr. Talbot was introduced by the consul of the camp, H. F. Stonsifer. Twelve candidates were received into membership making the total of the camp, 825. Dr. F. A. Wells of Camp 190 sang a song of his own composition dedicated to the M. W. A. Several orchestra numbers were given by Umbarger's Harmony Kids.

RAIN IS NEEDED.

(Special to The Star.)

GRANT, Neb., April 28—No rain to amount to anything has fallen here in the past six months, but the wheat appears to be growing fine. The moisture on top of the ground is all that is holding up the prospect for the next few days. The farmers are still smiling, however.

RE-ELECT TEACHERS

GARRISON, Neb., April 28 —The Garrison board of education has re-elected the following teachers for the coming year: Primary, Miss Lillian Kirby; intermediate, Mrs. O. N. Clark. C. Harold McCulley of Panama has been elected superintendent of the schools. All vacancies have now been filled.

STUDENTS TO BE HOST TO PUBLIC

Pharmacy and Engineer's Night Will Be Held Thursday.

Students in engineering and pharmacy will display their wares in the annual open house to the public next Thursday evening. That is "Pharmacy Night" and "Engineers' Night."

This is a special week for both colleges. The engineers will begin Wednesday with a pep rally and convocation, and among the outstanding events will be the annual field day at Antelope Park Wednesday afternoon. The pharmacists are confining their activities more to the exhibition of work done during the year and displays of recent developments in medicine and pharmacy.

Last year students in the law college mixed—in several ways—with the engineers, these "mixers" developing at one time into a free-for-all battle at a law fraternity house. No repetition of that situation is anticipated this year. So far the horizon is clear of disturbance.

The open house of both colleges this year is expected to surpass all previous ones in size and interest. The college of pharmacy building, near Twelfth and R streets, will be filled with displays from a number of the most prominent drug and medicine concerns in the country. Special entertainment will be provided and samples distributed as in former years.

Some of the most prominent displays will include insulin, the new drug used in treating diabetes, and ephedrin, a drug extracted from a Chinese plant and used in place of adrenolin.

"The Pharmaceuticians," an orchestra made up of pharmacy students featuring two pianos, will furnish the music. A moving picture, "How Biologicals are Made," explaining the manufacture of such drugs as smallpox vaccine, and diphtheria antitoxins, will be shown continuously during the evening. Another interesting display will feature all phases of cosmetics.

All the buildings of the college of engineering will be open to the public on Thursday night. These are just behind the university hall on the city campus, and include mechanic artse, civil, electrical and mechanical engineering, and the physics laboratory.

Displays of all phases of the engineering students' work will be made. The department of physics and geology are co-operating.

BURKETT TELLS DISTRICT'S NEEDS

Candidate Says Postoffice Conditions Should Be Improved.

Elmer J. Burkett, republican candidate for congress after reading Congressman Morehead's statement said:

"I am not inclined to engage in any controversy with Mr. Morehead about what he has or has not done during his long term in congress, nor about the reasons for his disappointment in that particular. I accept his word for it and let it go at that. He said sometime ago, and everybody read it, that he had not accomplished much, and I accepted that as true—never disputed it and never affirmed it. Now he gives as a reason for his inability to do things, that he is a democrat and likewise I accept that, and neither affirm it nor deny it. However, I have a notion that upon his own statements, whatever, may be the reason for his disappointment in not being able to acomplish things that he ought not to complain if the people think that someone, for political reasons or otherwise should be sent to congress, who can more efficiently and successfully represent the district and its welfare. This district ought to take a part in the constructive work of the government and likewise should share with the other sections of the country in all the wonderful things that our government is doing for the people. Our people are just as worthy as the people in other districts and in my opinion are entitled to as much.

From Mr. Morehead's statement, my becoming a candidate for congress has stirred up a mare's nest in Washington. I will promise him and Washington likewise, that if the people authorize me to represent this district that I will 'blow the roof off' if some consideration is not given to our needs out here in Nebraska.

Criticizes Falls City Office.

"Mr. Morehead says in this statement, that he knows of nothing in the district that needs attention. I suggest that he step into the postoffice at Falls City, his hometown, and he will find it too dirty to use as a 'garage,' let alone a place where all the public must come and where men and women must work and live long hours of the day and night. I undertake to say that it has never been cleaned or painted since he has been in congress. Again, let him step into our fine postoffice building here in Lincoln and observe the dingy, smoky and dirty condition where hundreds of our fine young men and women work day time, night time and overtime in the performance of their arduous duties, and which has never been cleaned or repainted since he has been in congress. Again, I call attention to the fact, that in our postoffice in Lincoln there are no more clerks to do the work today that there were when he went to congress and yet the work of our postoffice has increased by 'leaps and bounds.' The receipts of the Lincoln office today are twice as much as they were when I was in congress and yet there are no more clerks to do the work. It is an injustice to the men and women employed there and an injustice to the people of this community, who are entitled to good service. The average receipts of the postoffices throughout the country per clerk employed to handle the business, is $7,000; in Lincoln, I am informed, that those average receipts per clerk are more than $10,000.

"I do not care where the first rural seystem as completed and I presume was he says that the first one was in England. I never had anything to do with that. I never represented England in congress, but I did represent this first district and I know one of the first completed rural systems in the United States was established in this first District, and I know that it was after a very careful survey was made in which every postmaster in the district, representatives of the rural free delivery service from Washington, and myself had a part and at which time I insisted that every farmer have his mail delivered to his door rather than be compelled to walk a mile or two to get it."

PICKS SEVEN TO BUILD PLATFORM

at the Lindell hotel, State Chairman Sackett announced, at which time it will conduct a hearing for those who may wish to present their ideas of what should or should not go into the platform. An invitation has been addressed to Mr. Weaver to be present, and he is looked for at that time, among others.

A. N. Mathers of Gering, who is to be temporary chairman of the state convention and make the keynote speech, will also arrive in Lincoln either Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning, to remain here until after the party conclave has finished its work and adjourned.

It will be Chairman Mathers' province to appoint the committee on resolutions in the convention. Should past precedent be followed, it will include several, at least, of those serving on the preliminary committee, and perhaps all of them. A few others may be added to the committee.

The tentative platform which the preliminary committee is to prepare will be subject to revision by the official convention group on platform after it is appointed.

Code and "Farm Relief" to Fore.

The two main questions which will receive the advance committee's attention are repeal of the Nebraska code law and whether the McNary-Haugen "farm relief" bill now pending in congress shall be endorsed.

On the former subject, it is anticipated that a declaration in harmony with candidate Weaver's views will be drafted. It will doubtless be stronger in tone than the indefinite phraseology used four years ago, promising to "eliminate duplications and overlapping in the state government." Weaver favors a distribution of administrative responsibilities and functions among the different elective state officers, instead of centralized control in the governor, with the complete abolition of the code finance department and other unnecessary activities.

As to "farm relief," the likelihood is that no explicit endorsement will be given the McNary-Haugen bill by name, but some sort of a plank will be drawn favoring legislation "to place agriculture on equal terms with other industry." This may go so far as to approve the principle of the equalization fee, although such a clause might come under fire from Coolidge supporters in the state convention, since it is generally believed that the president will veto the bill again because of that provision.

One thing which appears fairly certain is that there will be no sniping at Senators Norris or Howell in the tentative platform; nor will it cast any brickbats in the direction of C. A. Sorensen, candidate for attorney general. On the contrary, the two senators may receive complimentary mention, while the state ticket as a whole will doubtless be endorsed.

will always remeber the brave men and women who flew before us. We can never forget such a splendid example to our fliers as that given by the brave Americans who crossed the Atlantic ocean and we are proud to bring you by airplane the good wishes of Germany."

Captain Koehl, speaking in German, also expressed his appreciation.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, in his congratulations to the fliers, did not forget his friend and fellow flier, the late Floyd Bennett.

"These wonderful fliers have accomplished the impossible and I want to congratulate them most heartily," said Byrd. "I think it was a most gracious thing of them to go down to Washington and pay their respects to Floyd Bennett.

"Wonderful Sports," Says Brd.

"It showed that they are the wonderful sports we know them to be."

One of the first thing the fliers did was to "civilize" themselves, as Fitzmaurice put it. This procedure included a visit by tailors with tape measures, and representatives from haberdashers and shoe stores, with order pads as long as an arm.

The trans-Atlantic trio then went to dinner with the mayor's reception committee and a few chosen guests.

They were scheduled for an early retirement. Tomorrow they will attend mass at St. Patrick's cathedral and in the evening visit the annual performance of the Lamb's club. Mayor Walker is in on the program as an actor.

NEW YORK, April 28—(I .N. S.)—The three Robinson Crusoes of the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen arrived at the Pennsylvania station from Washington at 6:13 o'clock tonight.

And New York shook hands with the Irish-German flying trio—Maj. James Fitzmaurice, Baron Von Huenefeld and Captain Herman Koehl.

The fliers were met by Mayor James J. Walker and the full membership of the mayor's reception committee for distinguished guests.

Walker shook hands warmly with the fliers, congratulating them on their great achievement.

The crowd in the railroad station was tremendous and it was with difficulty that the fliers and the reception committee made their way through to waiting automobiles when they were whirled to the Ritz-Carlton hotel where the airmen will make their headquarters.

Word that the fliers had arrived had spread quickly and great throngs congregated around the railroad station. There were cheers from the assembled throng as the fliers, and the reception committee, slowly made their wav to the street and to their automobiles.

All along the rain soaked streets stood crowds of people who warmly applauded as the distinguished visitors were being driven to their local headquarters.

Crowd Held in Check.

A heavy cordon of police had been thrown about the railroad station and prevented the crowd from rushing the visitors.

The first to greet the fliers when they returned to New York was Mayor Walker.

"Glad to see you, indeed," said the mayor.

They smilingly acknowledged his greeting and shook hands with him. Captain Koehl was the first off the train, followed by Fitzmaurice and then on Huenefeld who wore his manacle screwed to his eye.

William Egan, station master, also greeted the fliers. Walker and Egan walked with them up two flights of stairs to where the mayor's reception committee was waiting. When they arrived there was a booming of flashlights and shouts from the crowd.

The photographers halted the fliers for several minutes while a number of pictures were taken.

By this time the throng inside the station was roaring itself hoarse:

"Hurray for Koehl—Fitzmaurice—Huenefeld," was the cry that went up repeatedly.

The police took every precaution to see that there would be no recurrence of the disorders of Friday when the fliers left for Washington. They were massed in large numbers inside the station and kept the big crowd back against the walls. The place was so packed that many of the spectators availed themselves of advantageous places in the girders.

Reach Automobiles.

At 6:23 p. m., the aviators had managed to make their way, escorted by twenty policemen and a score of detectives, to their automobiles.

The crowd made several efforts to break through the police lines, but failed.

As the fliers came out into the street a tremendous cheer arose. The streets in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania hotel were packed with people.

Every window in the hotel was occupied. The windows were thrown up and those inside cheered themselves hoarse. Confetti and torn paper swirled out into the street and down upon the fliers' automobile.

Automobile horns honked and sirens shrieked as the fliers' automobile slowly made its way through the streets from the Pennsylvania to the Ritz-Carlton, preceded by a motorcycle police guard of forty or more officers. The din was terrific as the procession passed across Broadway.

At 6:48 the machines carrying the fliers and the reception committee reached the Ritz. Here the excitement was intense. A tremendous mob had assembled there. Cheer after cher went up. It was with the greatest difficulty that Koehl, Von Huenefeld and Fitzmaurice and Mayor Walker pushed their way through the mob.

The fliers smiled good naturedly. They were buffeted about a bit but they didn't sem to mind it.

Koehl and Von Huenefeld echoed his sentiments.

Germans and Irish predominated in the assembled throng.

Talk Over Radio.

The fliers at the Ritz talked over the radio. All three expressed their appreciation of the reception given the min New York. They seemed tired but refused to admit it. They posed readily enough for photographers and talked freely with reporters.

"Will you try that east to west flight across the Atlantic again?" Koehl was asked.

"He glanced at Von Huenefeld and smilingly retorted:

"Certainly, next time we hope we'll make New York, and not land in a spot like Greenly Island.

He added that next time they'd probably carry a wireless to keep in touch with the world.

The girl reporters found Major Fitzmaurice an engaging conversationalist. One woman reporter asked them how their wives felt about the flight and Fitzmaurice, speaking for all three, said:

Praise For Wives.

"I feel that our wives have played a part in our success. They were very brave. They saw us off with a smile. Not a whimper from any of them."

Koehl spoke up:

"I'll certainly be glad when my dear wife gets here Monday. It seems an age since I saw her last.

Von Huenefeld interjected.

"I'm a bachelor—unfortunately."

Fitzmaurice remarked that he and his companions deeply appreciated the welcome given them by New York city. He said he had read in the papers that his eldest unmarried daughter, who is accompanying her mother from Ireland, is to be the Queen of May here.

"Your eldest unmarried daughter?" asked Mayor Walker in some surprise.

"Yes," replied Fitzmaurice, "she's 6."

BERLIN, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Despite the fact that it was nearly 2 o'clock in the morning, millions of radio fans in Germany listened in on the speeches of the Bremen's crew, broadcasting from New York tonight and clearly received all over Germany.

The laughter of the crowd at the Ritz Carlton hotel in appreciation of the witty speech of Major Fitzmaurice was distinctly heard in Berlin.

NEGRO EXPECTED SUCCEED MADDEN

CHICAGO, April 28—(U. P.)—A complex situation arose today over the naming of a successor to Representative Martin B. Madden, who died yesterday in Washington. Madden, representative in the national house from the First congressional district of Illinois, apparently will be succeeded by a negro.

Six negroes were named tonight as the most prominent possibilities as Madden's successor. The First congressional district comprises Chicago' south side "black belt," the most exclusive region for the city's colored population.

A successor must be appointed by Gov. Len Small to fill Madden's unexpired term, but the governor will not appoint any one until after a count of the recent Illinois primary vote.

Bishop John L. Nuelson of Zurich, Switzerland, has brought to the general conference, along with advocacy of an extensive bureau of publicity and public relations.

Bishop Nuelson believes that furthering of world peace should be made one of the major activities of Methodism.

"In Europe today, ten years after the mighty World war to bring peace," he said, "there are more soldiers under arms than there were at the opening of the war. The intense nationalism that prevails in the countries of Europe and elsewhere is a menace to world peace. The only way world peace can be brought about is through the growth of international spirit."

Silent On Merger Move.

A movement to merge the Protestant and Episcopal churches into one group of 17,000,000, proposed in Chicago by William F. McDermot of the promotional department of the Methodist churches, failed to evoke any discussions among bishops and early arrivals.

The plan has no official cognizance, it was said. "The report is just one of those nebulous things that gets started from the personal opinions of one or two," a spokesman for the bishops said.

One of the most far reaching problems to come before the general conference is the demand of Chinese Methodists that they be given home rule government and permission to select native bishops to eventually replace American bishops in Chinese territory. High representatives in the church see in the demands of the Chinese a probable movement to secede from the international organization of Methodists and also to throw off the yoke of authority which the general conference in America holds over the foreigners.

Sunday, special services will be held in all Methodist churches in the city for the visitors. Pulpits for the most part will be occupied by domestic and foreign bishops who will recount their experiences and problems in the conferences under their jurisdiction.

CORRUPTION BIG ISSUE DECLARES SENATOR BORAH

tegrity of the constitution under which we live."

Indifference at the polls has permitted an expansion in the powers of the president until no other ruler in the world was intrusted with as much power, he said.

"It is the worst of governments when the people are indifferent. We all rejoice, therefore, in the sign of renewed concern upon the part of whose government this is. It means issues clearly stated and candidly met. It means just and equal laws, sincerely and courageously enforced. It means constitutional government respected and upheld. It means corruption driven from its lair in public places.

Clean Government Demanded.

"Clean government and a pure ballot are issues on which millions of republicans do not intend to keep th peace.

"When the public is uneasy, it is time to be frank. When Illinois grows restless, the country is on the verge of a riot."

Borah declared "nothing could be worse" than the corruption revealed by the senatorial investigators in Washington. But he added that the party itself could not be held for "what a few men did in secret. He averred that of the 15,725,016 persons who voted for President Coolidge in 1924, at least 15,725,000 were "guilty of no wrong, uncorrupted and incorruptible."

"They are ready to fight for clean government and republican principles.

"Corruption will undoubtedly be one of the issues of this camapign. There will be those who will hunt out the evidence to show that there are corrupt democrats. The Queensborough scandal in New York and the oil scandal will take their place in campaign literature. Teapot Dome and Tammany Hall will be weighed against each other, and the voters will be urged to decide between acute and chronic corruption."

"Deeper and Broader."

The real issue of the campaign will lay "deeper and broader," he said.

"The fight for clean government is a fight for free government. The issue is here is a notorious fact that officials of great cities, who hold in their keeping the decency and health of millions of men, women and children, go into partnership with crime and lawlessness. It is now notorious [illegible] governors of great states, trusted executives of great and noble commonwealths, barter their state's honor for a few paltry dollars, that men high in the federal government consort with those who seek the nation's wealth, that venality has left its filth in the exalted precints of federal power.

were termed critical by Maj. Donald H. Connelly, United States district engineer, today.

Between 800 and 1,000 volunteers are "topping" the levee in an effort to save thousands of acres of farm land from inundation.

Pennsylvania Towns Isolated.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 28—(U. P.)—Towns were isolated, trains were off schedule, trolley car service was halted, highways were blocked and hundreds of automobiles were stalled today by the worst April snow storm in the history of Pennsylvania.

Snow, which has fallen for twenty-four hours reached a depth of from six to twenty inches in the western and central sections of the state. The snowfall had prospects of lasting throughout the night.

Wind and low temperatures accompanied the snow. The mercury dropped as low as 31 degrees above zero in Pittsburgh today, establishing a new low record for this date. The wind which swept the storm in upon Pennsylvania wrought damage to buildings and telegraph wires which were laden with snow.

A Party Slap.

WAHSINGTON, April 28—(U. P.)—Winter took a party slap at the eastern United States today. Frosts were heralded for the Ohio valley, east gulf states and Virginia for tonight, but the storm which brought the cold weather was passing up the Atlantic coast to sea, and warmer weather undSay was predicted by the United States weather bureau.

Storm warnings were displayed tonight from Cape Hatteras all the way north to Eastport, Me.

Raging Seas Take Toll.

NEW YORK, April 28—(I. N. S.)—High winds and raging seas during the past forty-eight hous along the Atlantic coast took a known toll of three victims and possibly four others, according to reports reaching here tonight. Great loss of property and delay in traffic on both land and sea has resulted from the storms.

safe flight from one hemisphere to the other over waters that have already taken a terrible toll of life.

"The Byrd expedition is not to start until fall, so there's plenty of time to cross the Atlantic in the meanwhile, if it can be arranged," stated the pilot.

Lieutenant Stultz is well remembered as the pilot who first took off with Mrs. Grayson in the ill-fated "Dawn" and then turned back to Newfoundland. He later resigned from the expedition, refusing to risk his life in a "blind" flight.

Lieutenant Stultz' refusal to continue the flight to Copenhagen in the Grayson plane last October, after three hop-offs from Old Orchard, Me., later was justified by the disaster. Stultz turned back in defiance of orders from Mrs. Grayson, contending that weather conditions were such as to make the trip at that time foolhardy.

to make appointments to and removals from posts in the federal service."

In summarizing his objections the president said:

Says Unconstitutional.

"I consider the proposed legislation undesirable because it is unconstitutional, in part; because it charges the war department will have little control and takes from the war department control it now exercises over the national defense, and because as I am of the unwisdom of enacting this bill into a law I am constrained to returnf it without my approval."

Representative Speaks immediately reintroduced the bill to provide that all appointments would be subject to approval of the president.

In discussing legislation with callers yesterday, President Coolidge indicated that the McNary-Haugen bill is not at all satisfactory, and the Jones-Reid flood control measure, unless it is changed to meet his demands for higher local contributions may be rejected when it comes to the white house.

SENATE HONORS EIGHT FLIERS

men, will get it for their 25,000 hop around the world. Francisco de Pinedo, Italian, will get it for twice spanning the Atlantic.

Colonel Lindbergh, first to cross the Atlantic on a non-stop flight, was voted a gold medal, for which bronze duplicates will be made and sold to the public. Ellsworth will get a similar medal for his flight across the North Pole with Amundsen and Nobile in a dirigible.

Two Dessenting Voices.

Two dissenting voices were raised against granting the medals, that of Senator Bingham, republican of Connecticut, who opposed the Ellsworth medal, and Senator Cole Blease, democrat of South Carolina, who contended the senate was conferring medals on foreigners when many Americans cited for bravery in the World war went unhonored.

Bingham opposed granting Ellsworth a medal because "he is a rich young American and spent his money to further aviation in countries other than this, and was only a passenger on the expedition." He ran into a hot argument with Senators Robinson of Arkansas, democratic floor leader, and Swanson, democart of Virginia, who defended Ellsworth.

"Do you think we should have made Lafayette buy his uniform in America?" said Robinson.

"I'll vote to recognize heroism by an American no matter how his feat is done," said Swanson. "I will not make him buy his plane in America before recognizing his heroism.

Blease at first opposed the bill giving medals to the Bremen fliers and the Frenchmen.

"This hero worship for foreigners has gone about far enough," Blease exploded. "Here we are decorating representatives of other nations while our own heroes, already cited for bravery, are not given the recognition due them."

ADMINISTRATION IS COMMENDED

Nuckolls County Republicans Want "Practical" Farm Relief.

Saline County Endorses Coolidge "In All Particulars."

(Special to The Star.)

NELSON, Neb., April 28—The republican county convention held here this week, enthusiastically and without a dissenting vote, adopted resolutions commending President Coolidge for his efforts "to secure the pasage of constitutional and practical farm relief law;" calling for the repeal of the Esch-Cummins law; demanding the amendment of the primary law, which is declared to have failed to acomplish the purposees desired.

The primary law, it is stated, makes possible the nomination of inferior candidate by reason of interference of voters of the opposite political faith, and it is frequently an expression of a minority of the people instead o fthe majority.

Repeal of the intangible tax law is demanded, as is a curtailment in the "extravagance" of school authorities.

Charles R. Imler was elected county chairman and John J. Pfeiffer, secretary. Delegates to the state convention are: Glen Adamson, J. R. Silvers, Robert Johnson, J. Warren Keifer, jr., S. C. Sweet, John Long, A. A. Tumbleson, J. W. Bell, R. J. Adcock, Robert Greenwood, W. W. McCutchen, John Caldwell and Frank Hopkirk.

Hits Insurgents.

FRIEND, Neb., April 28—Charles W. Sloan, former congressman, was the principal speaker at the Saline county republican convention here Thursday, paying particular attention to the attempt of factions to split the pary and to disregard republican principles after being elected to office on the republican platform. Thomas J. Dredla was elected chairman of the county committee and Harry E. Hannes was made treasurer.

The resolutions endorse the administration of President Collidge "heartily and unequivocally" and "in all particulars." State and county arministrations are also endorsed, as is tse present good roads program, and the resolutions "further recommend that continued efforts be made in the securing of legislative equality for agriculture." Another recommendation is for the prosecution of those guilty of breach of faith to the government in the exploitation of natural resources. All republican candidates are endorsed.

Delegates to the state convention are:

I. A. Kesler, Edward J. Kubat, C. E. Meecham, Elza Cogswell, C. E. Beals, T. J. Dredla, George Wright, Charles Kohout, J. J. Grimm, A. N. Dodson, B. R. Dunn, Ed. Timmel, Gerald Turney, F. H. Allen.

Furnas Democrats.

(Special to The Star.)

BEAVER CITY, Neb., April 28—At a mass convention of the democrats of Furnas county, held at the court house in Beaver City Thursday evening, the following delegates were elected to attend the state convention: T. P. Newton, R. J. Harper, J. O. Correll, A. M. Keyes, S. L. Meyers, L. J. Lomax, Sim Woodruff, Frank Blincow, C. S. Paine, C. S. Letson, and J. E. W. Richards. A county central committee was selected, and D. E. McClelland was elected secretary-treasurer, and Frank L. Pierce, chairman.

Platte County Split.

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., April 28 — Platte county democrats, in county convention, adopted a resolution endorsing the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. Republicans, holding their county convention the same day, split on the bill. Of twenty-four candidates, eight favored the McNary-Haugen measure, eight opposed it and eight declined to vote, declaring that they were as yet undecided whether it would have the desired benefits for agriculture.

Song Contest Winner

Miss Helen D. Brock of Leigh, has been announced the winner of first honors in the song contest sponsored by the Woman's Athletic association of the Wayne state teachers' college. Miss Brock was given first place for an original organization song and third place for another composition classified as a "pep" song.

The winner of second place is Miss Louise Rickabaugh. Announcement of the winners was made by Miss Esther Dewitz, director of woman's athletics in the state teachers' college at the annual banquet tendered the members of the Woman's Athletic association.

Miss Brock's organization song contains three verses and a chorus and is sung to the tune of "America the Beautiful." Her "pep" song won recognition because she had woven into it the words "Woman's Athletic association." Some of the music instructors had previously stated that those words could not well be written into a song because it is almost impossible to make other words rhyme with them. Miss Brock succeeded in using the words creditably and her composition was given third place. Winning these honors credits her with 100 points in athletic work and she has been chosen with other students to participate in the May pole festivities at the college on May 22.

FEWER PUBLIC BONDS ISSUED

Examiner Sees Tendency to Slow Down Voting of Indebtedness.

During the month of April, 1928, a total of $471,698 in public bonds was approved and registered in the office of L. B. Johnson, state auditor. Of this amount, $135,500 was refunding bonds which do not increase the amount of indebtedness, leaving a total new indebtedness of $336,198 for the month. No school bonds were presented for approval in April.

For the year ending April 30, 1928, bonds totalling $8,825,767 were approved and registered in the state auditor's office. Of this amount $2,174,478 was refunding issues, leaving a total of $6,651,289 new indebtedness for the year. Only $1,210,000 new school bonds were issued during this period.

The foregoing figures and others have been compiled by bond examiner Ralph C. Lawrence, who has charge of the registration of bonds in the auditor's department. Mr. Lawrence sees a tendency to slow down in the voting of new bonded indebtedness by the people of Nebraska.

State a Heavy Bond Buyer.

The state of Nebraska is the largest purchaser of municipal, school, county, precinct and district bonds, having invested $1,286,869 of its funds in such securities within the year. Only $179,765 of that amount was bought directly from the issuing subdivisions, and $95,000 of that was refunding bonds exchanged for others of the same governmental units which the state already held. Where such replacements occurred, the interest return to the state was reduced, but a net rate of 4½ per cent is still being realized from the refunded bonds.

Over $1,100,000 of bonds was purchased from dealers on terms to net the state from 4.1 to 4½ per cent interest, and in a very few instances slightly more.

The state government now owns approximately $14,000,000 of bonds, mostly of its own cities, villages, counties, school districts, and other local units. The amount, however, includes several hundred thousand dollars of Massachusetts and Mississippi bonds bearing 3 and 3½ per cent interest, which were bought 20 or 25 years ago.

About one-tenth of the state's trust funds are reinvested each year as bonds are paid off or refunded.

Record of Bonds Cancelled.

While new and refunding bonds were being issued, the state auditor's office during April received official notification that others had been retired and cancelled in the gross sum of $235,765.

Nebraska City was high with $46,000. Scottsbluff cancelled $17,000. Kearney $16,000. Posen $14,000, and North Platte $12,000.

Of the school districts Elm Creek was high with the cancellation of $10,000. St. Paul paid off $5,000. McCook $3,500, and Grand Island, Dannebrog, Ogallala, Ruskin, and Wauneta each cancelled $3,000.

BELA KUN IS FACING DEATH

Held On Suspicion Of Fomenting Plots For Internationale.

VIENNA, April 28— (I.N.S.)— Facing almost certain death is Austrian officials accede to the demands of Hungarian authorities that he be delivered there for trial, Bela Kun, one-time red dictator of Hungary, was being held here today on suspicion of fomenting plots on behalf of the Third Internationale.

If the Austrian officials yield to Hungary's request for his extradition, he will have to face old charges that he illegally executed one-hundred forty-five persons during his bloody five months' regime in Hungary eight years ago.

It is not yet known whether or not Kun had become a Russion citizen during his stay under the soviet. If he is a citizen of the soviet there is little likelihood that he will be surrendered to the Hungarian authorities.

Several Arrested.

Several companions, one a woman were arrested with Kun. The radical readily admitted that he was here to execute orders of the soviet but he would not elaborate upon his statement. He was arrested as he was entering a drug establishment which he was running as a camouflage.

Kun is being held on a technical charge of entering the country illegally. Details of the evidence against him have not been made public.

He and his companions are being guarded closely to thwart possible attempts against them by Hungarian fascists here.

BILL FOUGHT BY SHALLENBERGER

Nebraska Solon Argued Against Flood Control Plan.

An extended speech against the lower Mississippi flood control bill in the form it passed the house last week was made on the floor of the chamber by Representative Shallenberger, who also offered an amendment providing for the construction of reservoirs along the principal tributaries of the Mississippi to hold back part of the flow from its drainage basin and make it available for irrigation and water power in the territory through which they flow.

The Shallenberger amendment received strong support, but was defeated by a margin of five votes. Congressemen Simmons and Howard of Nebraska spoke in favor of it.

On the bill as a whole, without his amendment, Congressman Shallenberger said during the course of his remarks to the house:

"I will vote for a bill that authorizes a plan which will be effective in the regulation and control of the flood waters of the Mississippi, and which will promote, in the greatest degree, the interests of the whole valley and does not unduly burden the national government.

"The bill under consideration sets up a policy and authorizes national expenditures that, if carried to their logical conclusion, can bankrupt the federal treasury. I cannot support the bill in this present form. The committee reports it admits that it is not the best nor most efficient plan. Its final cost is beyond the ability of the human mind to conceive or determine.

"It is proposed to expend untold millions, raised by general taxation, for the benefit of a limited territory without any contribution or payment by those directly benefitted.

"Congress has in the past authorized great policies and plans for national development—the reclamation act and the national highways are examples. One hundred and fifty millions of federal funds have been expended by the government to develop irrigation projects operating in eleven states. But the farmers who have benefitted by the expenditure of that great sum of money are bound, and their lands and property are pledged, to pay back into the national treasury money advance. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been taken from the national treasury for the construction of highways but because the states where they are built are being greatly benefitted by them, the law rightly requires that the states shall pay one-half the cost of their construction. Either the states that benefit from flood control should bear a fair share of the expense or we should provide a plan that will amortize at least a part of the cost to the federal treasury.

"If the excess rainfall for the spring months can be held back for a time, floods will be avoided and great benefits in many states will follow. If the spring floods are not stored and used upon the tributary water sheds, the waters are wasted and the lands they destroy are all washed into the sea. Losses from drouth on the valley water shed are greater than the damage from too much water. The waste of national wealth by soil erosion is even worse than the destruction by floods on the lower river.

"Controls of floods by protective walls and spillways alone is a policy of great initial and continuous expense with no possibility of returns to the national treasury. The experts whom President Coolidge has consulted have estimated that the cost of flood control by levees and spillways on the lower Mississippi will amount to more than fifteen hundred millions of dollars. If original estimates are so huge a sum, no one can tell whether the final cost will be 1,500 millions or three thousand millions. In addition there will be continuing maintenance expense.

"Expert engineers vary as to the probable cost of reservoir storage, but the concensus of opinion is that it will not reach one half the sum given by the presidents advisers. As the cost of controlling the floods by walls and spillways in the lower valley.

"Regulation by storage and diversion on the tributary streams that cause the flood will be a source of continual benefit to the states and constant returns to the federal treasury. Attempted control by the levees and spillways will constitute a system of never ending expense and constant danger."

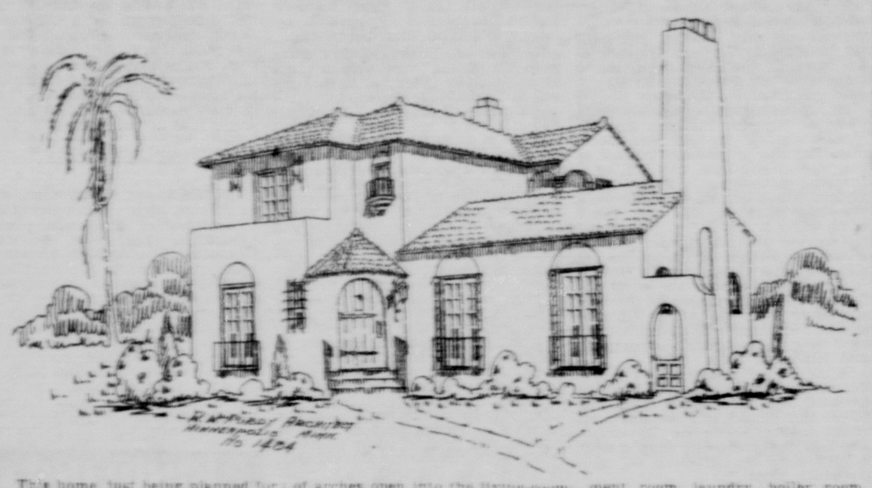
A BEAUTIFUL HOME OF SPANISH DESIGN

No. 1434 DESIGNED BY W. W. PURDY



This home, just being planned for a high sightly lot, overlooking a boulevard of one of our large middle west cities, is truly a beautiful home.

Even the entrance located in a rounded corner, with circle top door and mission tile roof, bids a hearty welcome. Note on entering the heavy strap hinges on the massive slab door, iron rail and Spanish lantern.

From the entrance hall, one gets a view of the stairway, with its iron rail and balustrade. A series of arches open into the living-room. The fireplace is of Spanish design, with ornamental plaster. French doors give plenty of light and air, not common in the "real" Spanish home. In the dining-room, French doors have been used to serve as windows, each opening out onto an iron balcony.

The kitchen is most complete with ample cupboards, sink under the windows, place for an electric refrigerator, and a built-in breakfast alcove. From the rear hall, one reaches the stairs to basement, or the rear stoop leading down onto the yard. A maid's room and bath is located on the first floor, while three additional chambers and large bath is to be had on the second floor.

In the basement is a large amusement room, laundry, boiler room and a two-car garage. This garage permits a terrace on the first floor with cement floor, and iron rail.

The exterior walls are of frame construction, with white cement plaster over metal lath, and red Spanish tile on the roof. The number of unusual balconies, is very pleasing.

The floors throughout are of oak, with oak trim in the main rooms on the first floor, balance in pine painted, with tile floors in both bathrooms and tile wainscot in the main bath. Linoleum on the kitchen, and entrance hall floor.

With the walls decorated on rough plaster, it is estimated that this home can be built, exclusive of heating and plumbing, for about $10,500 to $12,500.

A musical drama entitled, "A Rocky Mountain Trip," was presented following a short business meeting of the Home Builder's class of the Elm Park Methodist church Thursday evening. Mrs. J. M. Neeley based the drama on an auto trip through the Rocky mountains which she took a number of summers ago. She compared the life of a home builder to a mountain stream. The following songs were given during the presentation of the drama: "I Passed by the Window," by Mrs. A. B. Swanson; "Reading—Wooing," by Mrs. E. P. Haas; "Mother's Croon" by Mrs. N. W. Gaines; "My Task" by Mrs. F. M. Barnes; and "Follow the Gleam" by Mrs. J. M. Neeley and her daughter, Aleen.

W. C. T. U. Circulates Roll of Allegiance

State Organization Seeks to Nullify Efforts of Anti-Prohibitionists.

The Roll of Allegience which was inaugurated last winter to counteract the effort made by the Association Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment, has had a popular reception.

The state prohibitiory amendment was submitted to the voters of Nebraska by initiative petition at the general election in November, 1916, and adopted with a majority of 29,442. During the legislative session the following winter laws were enacted with an emergency clause for the enforcement of the amendment. These became in force May 1, 1917. Last October, the association began the circulation of two petitions through the state. One asked for the repeal of the state prohibitory law, the second for the repeal of the enforcement laws of the state.

The first, because it would repeal a part of the constitution, required signatures equal to 10 per cent of the total number of votes cast for governor in the last election, or 42,992. The second, repealing a legislative act needed but 7 per cent of the same vote. These must represent 5 per cent of the voters in thirty-eight of the counties in the state. The latest published reports from the association indicate that the number of names will be secured, although the quota has not yet been obtained in the required number of counties, and if all legal requirements are met, the question will be placed upon the ballot next November.

The argument may be made that the repeal of the state law will not invalidate prohibition, since Nebraska voters may not repeal a federal law. While this is true, yet it would be one step toward the goal sought by the wet forces and the repeal of the enforcement laws would amount to nullification and would leave all enforcement upon the respnsibility of federal officers, with no authority on the part of county, and local police officers. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, believing the people would speak with no uncertain voice on this question, began in January to circulate the Roll of Allegience, asking the signatures of men and women who believe in the integrity of the law and desire it to remain in our statutes.

Organizations and individuals, men and women have been earnestly devoting time and strength to this movement. It has been reported, on good authority that each signer to the "wet" petition is expected to accompany his or her name with at least one dollar, one half of which is retained by the circulator. Whether this is true or not it is certain that the thousands of names being gathered by the "drys" is by voluntary, free will service.

Mrs. G. W. Bemis of York, 80 years old, has secured more than 500 names by her own personal effort. Mrs. Lina T. Cooper, Hansen, 90, has nearly 200.

Gallstones Kill Millions Annually

According to eminent medical authorities, Gallstones exact even a greater toll of lives than modern warfare. It is estimated that every year millions of people die directly or indirectly from Gallstones or kindred ailments. An old German doctor, Dr. Hildebrand, devoted years in an effort to find a Gallstone cure. His efforts were spured on by the fact that he was a sufferer himself. After numerous experiments he at last found a treatment that cured him of his Gallstones. The old doctor then prescribed this treatment to other sufferers. The amazing results they report is convincing evidence of the merit of his treatment. For a limited time through the Dr. Hildebrand Laboratories, Dept. 2318, 155 N. Union Ave., Chicago, Ill., sufferers everywhere may obtain a test of this marvelous treatment free. Anyone troubled with Gallstones, Liver or Stomach ailments should send their name at once. —Advertisement.

FIRMS SEEKING TO LOCATE HERE

Many Institutions Want Establish Connections In Lincoln.

During the last few weeks the chamber of commerce has received correspondence from institutions in almost every section of the nation. For the most part the writers "realize the importance of Lincoln" as a manufacturing, jobbing and retail center and are atempting to establish connections here.

A random glance through the chamber files shows that no one class of business has a monopoly in the desire to locate here. The leters come from every line. Manufacturers are represented. So are jobbers, retails, schools and brokers.

In addition to those seeking to locate in Lincoln there are letters from firms and individuals hoping Lincoln firms are contemplating establishing outside connections. A firm in New York asked the names of Lincoln concerns "wanting a New York representative." Another wanted to know of some one here "who would be interested in securing an established school of fine arts."

A manufacturers' wholesale distributing corporation wants a Lincoln manufacturer to act as a sales representative for the United States and Canada. The chamber of commerce at Rochester, N. Y., wrote for one of its members, a manufacturer of "simplified safety letters." The letters are used for marking street intersections and other purposes. The maker wants a representative in Lincoln.

The maker of a recently patented coal burning stoker asks for the name of a firm or individual willing to handle the machine here. It is the desire of the company to establish a distributing branch. This inquiry came from Illinois. Chicago company want to establish a branch here also. Its product is a new style telephone holder.

The manufacturer of a brick machine has written with a view to having the equipment sold from from here by a brick maker. This also was the object of the maker of molds for casting a concrete post for use in fence building and other purposes.

These are only a few of the many letters of this kind that have been received by the chamber recently. In every instance an effort has been made to establish the connections sought. This not has required an unusual amount of correspondence with local business men but it also has required the writing of many more to the inquirers. To carry on the work has at times taxed the capacity of the office force, especially when the clerks have at the same time had to answer the hundreds of other inquries about the city from school children, and people wanting to set up branch offices here, or who anticipate bring their children to Lincoln because of the unusual educational opportunities, according to Dwight Bedell, secretary of the junior division.

AUTO CLUB PARK DRAWING CROWDS

Over 500 Visitors Past Week; Improvements Being Made.

The automobiling season is on according to Fred Putney, chairman of the Auto club park committee who stated Saturday that over 500 people visited the park at Saltillo last week. It is estimated that 500 will visit the park today.

Comparing the 1927 attendance of the park with that of the painted desert of Arizona, more than three times as many people visited the park as the desert, Putney declared.

Improvements will be started at the park this week, all buildings and tables being repaired and repainted. New gravel will be put on the roads which have suffered from the Winter snows and rains.

Both the Fourteenth street and Twenty-seventh street roads are in fine condition, the first having gravel and the latter being a good graded dirt road.

BUCKINGHAM LAUDS EDUCATION SYSTEM

Research Director at Ohio University Addresses Honorary Teacher's College Fraternities.

B. R. Buckingham, director of the bureau of educational research at Ohio State university, was guest of honor of Phi Delta Kappa, men's honorary teachers' college fraternity and Chi Lambda Theta, honorary women's teachers' college sorority, at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night. About 150 attended.

Mr. Buckingham spoke on the topic, "The Great Experiment," lauding the public school system as an institution raised to its highest glory in this country. It has succeeded to the degree that today practically every American attends high school, he said.

Some comparative statistics were shown by Mr. Buckingham indicating the marvelous growth of the American public school system. For every high school in 1890, there are today seven high schools, it was pointed out, while for every pupil in the high schools of 1890, there are sixteen pupils today.

The phenomenal expansion of school attendance has mdae its mark in the colleges as well as the high schools, Mr. Buckingham said. There are six times as many colleges today as in 1890 and one university last year had as many graduates as all of the colleges in the United States in 1890.

FEDERAL COURT OPENS MONDAY

Twenty-one Cases For Violations of Prohibition Laws.

Twenty-eight criminal cases have been called for trial in Federal court commencing Monday afternoon by Assistant U. S. District Attorney Philip Aitken. A majority of the cases, twenty-one, are for violations of the national prohibition act. Four are for violation of the national motor vehicle theft act, one for impersonating a federal officer, one for using the mails to defraud and one for violation of the bankruptcy act.

Mrs. Lowell (Goldie) Horne of Beaver Crossing is charged with using the mails to defraud. An attempt to defraud Ralph W. Campbell by impersonating a federal officer is the charge against Melton G. Tegopoulos. Albert Wisner of York, who was adjudicated a bankrupt, is charged with concealing certain assets valued at several thousand dollars from the trustee of the estate.

SPRAGUE-MARTELL PARENT TEACHERS

(Special to The Star)

SPRAGUE, Neb., April 28 — Sprague-Martell central high's P. T. A. was held last Monday evening, in the community room. A community dinner was served from 6 to 8 o'clock. Some 300 guests attended. Community singing was ably led by Mrs. Stutheit.

Mr. and Mrs. Day, the latter state P. T. A. president, were guests of honor. Mrs. Day addressed the audience on aggressiveness and value of the associations, how it brings types of the highest class of citizenship to the districts, and cooperation and communion which build for clean honorable living. Districts must affiliate with other locals, these with state, and states with national, in order to reach the greatest efficiency.

The public speaking class gave five numbers.

Esther Krull, Cupid and a Cadillac.

Fern Bohmont, The Settler's Story.

Alvin Schlichtemeier, The Southern Soldier.

Irvin Wendelin, I Could Be By Her.

Evelyn Wells, Little Ike and the Porter.

Local musicical talent made the program entertaining.

Lou Hurd, superintendent, brought a message from the first district at Beatrice, held April 14. The inspiration alone is valuable from gatherings of this sort. When parents and teachers co-operate for the uplifting of the school, making at least your own immediate district a somewhat better community in which to rear your children, you feel that you have had a part in at least attempting to make the world about you a better place for your neighbor.

The high school reporter read a clever write up on "The Rose Buds and Carnations." (The girls' baseball team.)

Development of Dry Ice And Ethylene Told by Dr. Howe

The development of dry ice, of ethyline to chemically ripen potatoes, of cellulose from cornstalks, and of machines which make automobile frames at the rate of 7,000 per day were a few of the latest scientific advancements explained by Dr. E. E. Howe, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, Friday evening, He talked before a joint meeting of the Lincoln Engineer's club and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Professor Jiles Haney, president of the Engineer's club, presided at the business meeting and introduced Chancellor Emeritus Samuel Avery, who presented the speaker.

Dr. Howe talked on the development of the new machine at Milwaukee which, in 552 operations, manufactures automobile frames at the rate of 7,000 per day and of a machine in use in a Philadelphia factory which can make 30,000 electric light bulbs a day and 28,000 radio bulbs a day.

The new product ethylene, which makes it possible for Nebraska to compete with Havana and Cuba in the marketing of new and early potatoes, is the invention of Professor Denny, formerly of the University of Nebraska. Ethylene is also used to give fruits such as oranges and lemons a better color.

While the artichoke is now but a destructive Nebraska weed, Dr. Howe declared that sugar made from it is 30 per cent higher in sweetness than either cane or beet sugar. Artichoke also has the advantage that it does not have to be harvested at any particular time.

One of the most recent inventions Dr. Howe discussed is dry ice. He had a cake of this shipped here by parcel post from Yonkers, N. Y., the ice was on exhibition and 10 inch cube weighted 40 pounds. When exposed to air it did not melt to a liquid but changed from solid to a gas.

The dry ice which has a temperature of 140 degrees below zero makes it possible to ship ice cream from New York to Florida without packing it. One thousand pounds of this ice is sufficient to pack a freight car so that it will last satisfactorily for six days.

Science is making further advance in the utilizing of by-products, Dr. Howe pointed out. The by-products of skim milk are now used to make fountain pen barrels, buttons, coat ornaments and poker chips. Furural is a product of oat hulls and corncobs and is used in making bakelite, which because of its high polish, is in much demand.

Methyl denatured alcohol is made from carbon monoxide of coal and the fermented corn and is so pure that it cannot be used as ordinary alcohol. Solidifying of liquid fats and oils that were formerly wasted has been made possible resulting in a great financial saving.

Dr. Howe discussed cellulose made from cornstalks, straw, wood and other annuals. Cellulose, he pointed out, is the base for the manufacture of hundreds of products. From cellulose is made as much imitation leather in a year as could be taken from 150,000 cattle. It is also used to make transparent wrappings for candy, to make paint, duco and lacquer, and imitation silk or rayon. Rayon is made by forcing the liquid cellulose through fine openings and making it into threads. The resulting material cannot be distinguished from the silk of the silkworm except by experts.

Paper pulp is being manufactured today by shooting pine chips, Dr. Howe declared. The method is that of heating and applying pressure at different times, then suddenly releasing the pressure. Much the same process is used in shooting of breakfast cereals.

Dimenthylenechorarsene, is the name of a recent product used to combat the marine borer which is resulting in the saving of thousands of dollars in the salt water harbors, according to Dr. Howe. This product is a discarded by-product from the gases that were made during the World war.

Chromium steel, another recent scientific development, is 250 times as wear resisting as ordinary steel, the speaker stated. The use of chromium steel by the United States bureau of engraving in the making of money will result in the saving of $2,000,000 per year, he said.

Electro deposition of rubber is a new process of depositing rubber on metal so that it cannot be torn off the metal. It is being used to make seamless automobile tires.

Great progress is being made in the condensing and drying of fruit juices and milk, Dr. Howe told the engineers. A very small quantity of dried milk added to water will produce a large amount of milk. Fruit juices can be dried in a similar manner and economies effected by shipping the powder long distances where it is made into extracts and soft drinks.

ELECTRIC PUMPING PLANT INSTALLED

(Special to The Star.)

DAYKIN, Neb., April 28 — The installation of an automatic electric pumping motor has just been completed here for the use of the Burlington railway in pumping water for locomotives. The old wooden water tank and windmill, which has been in use here for many years were not dependable and did not supply enough water for increased volume of business. The electric pumping device will not only supply more water, but it is built so that it automatically cuts in and out, according to the amount of water on hand and thus is a labor saving machine as well.

CONGREGATIONAL STATE MEETING

Co-operation Between All Churches Urged by Speakers.

Leavitt Speaks to Assemblage on Character Education.

(Special to The Star.)

GENEVA, Neb., April 28—At the opening session of the seventy-second annual meeting of the Nebraska Congregational conference here Mrs. Edwin Dean of Crete, assistant moderator, presided and a round table discussion of missions was led by Miss Helen Street Ranney of Chicago. Rev. Harold Cooper of Crete opened the afternoon session and Rev. Issac Cassel of Cortland discussed "How the Women of the Church May Help the Pastor." There followed an animated discussion of evangelism, it being developed that personal work had been found to yield the best results over a period of years.

Another pertinent question was discussed regarding the situation in the town and country church. It was shown that co-operation is becoming not only popular but essential. The United Sand parish, as an example, has three churches, and two preaching points in addition. Its area is approximately 2,000 square miles, yet it employs the pastoral services of only one man. The pastor of this church, Rev. E. G. Larsen, is a thoroughly trained and experienced minister and he regards this parish as important as any city charge. As a consequence he is doing far better work than three inadequately trained men could do, on a minimum salary, even though each church utilized their full time service.

The evening service, conducted by the pastor of the local church, Rev. David Tudor, was very impressive and worshipful. The Geneva choir under the direction of E. J. Dempster led the singing, and rendered the anthem, "His Kingdom Endureth Forever." Rev. Benjamin F. Wyland preached the conference sermon on the subject, "Light for the House of a Thousand Sorrows." His forceful, and pleasing manner of delivery made a profound impression upon the audience. Other parts of the service were conducted by Rev. H. W. Guest of Crawford and Rev. Guy Birch of Weeping Water. The communion service was led by Rev. E. C. Lewis of Clay Center and Rev. Arthur Newell of Blair.

Experiment In Progress.

Dr. W. A. Tyler, superintendent of the state conference, in his annual report expressed the thought that the present day Congregationalists are in the midst of a gigantic experiment which seeks to make religious democracy efficient without sacrificing highly prized and ardently cherished liberty.

Co-operation is the form of fellowship which now seems to need most emphasis. The effort made two years ago to secure closer co-operation of the women of the churches in the general work has met with success. The women on the board of directors have proven a most valuable addition. Their diligence and their activity have added very very materially in promoting the whole Congregational task.

Another enterprise of significant importance is the young people's summer assembly at Crete. This has continued to grow under the direction of Dr. Murphy.

Through church federations the Congregational church has successfully co-operated with other churches in several communities. Our present need is active and not passive co-operation, in order to insure a development of the Christ-like spirit in the community it was stated. This kind of co-operation among denominations is deemed as advisable in America as in China. "The better world for which we long, the kingdom of good will for which we pray, must come through the transformation of individuals and of groups. This is the meaning of missionary and philanthropic work at home and abroad.

For the year 1927 the year book shows that the Congregational churches paid approximately $39,000 for missionary work. Special contributions amounted to a little less than $19,000, while the undenominational gifts were about $103,000. Compared with the period closing ten years ago the conference has gained over $17,000 or more than 60 per cent.

"On the whole it appears that Nebraska Congregationalists are making progress in co-operation and we confidently expect greater advance in the years that lie ahead. Our ideal is an effective agency through which the churches can express the mind of Christ with respect to our common interests. If we are to have more active and effective co-operation we shall need to see more clearly and follow more closely the figure of one who challenged men to follow him over the red road of sacrifice to the goal of a transformed life."

Character Education.

Dr. Frederick W. Leavitt, moderator of the conference and student pastor at the University of Nebraska, spoke on "New Insistence on Character Education," asking the question "What is there new about character Education?" particularly among people of religious interests. He said, "The ancient book of Deuteronomy is insistent on the duty of all adults to teach righteousness, binding it as frontlets about their brows, writing it on the tables of their heads, talking of it when they lie down and when they rise up and as they walk on the way."

The ethics of Jesus has been a text book for his followers for 1900 years and upon these ideals Pilgrims and Puritans built Harvard and other schools with the determination to inculcate these ideals in the lives of the young pepole whom they expected to train. With the movement of the population westward those who followed in their footsteps continued to practice and teach the same ideals. The charge that the present day public schools are Godless will have less foundation if the righteousness God loves is directly honored in the teaching of the schools.

Moral instruction will create a higher conscience so that the graduate will be more efficient. Character education in the public schools is properly aimed at the creation of a high sense of honor and reverence for human personality.

FAIR AND BUILDING SHOW BIG SUCCESS

Business Men of Stella Provide the Greatest Free Entertainment In Town's History.

(Special to The Star.)

STELLA, Neb., April 28—Stella's second annual fair and building show opened Friday evening, with most favorable weather conditions. Twenty-five booths were in use at the opera house, where the show was held under the auspices of the chamber of commerce. Purple and gold were used to make elaborate decorations, and there was a special lighting system. "Round the Loop" Orchestra from Table Rock furnished the music.

An important part of the show was the exhibit of the school, which occupied the exhibit space of the stage. Admission to the opera house was free, and the entertainment free. The chamber of commerce furnished lemonade free to the entire crowd. Wholesale houses in this territory had representatives here to help the local business firms in the display of their goods in the booths.

The affair represented an expenditure of several hundred dollars, and was probably the most expensive indoor entertainment Stella ever had.

Dr. E. James is president of the chamber of commerce, and R. E. Uhley is the secretary.

Burr Breaks Ground for Dormitory

NELIGH'S SCHOOL PAPER IS WINNER

(Special to The Star)

NELIGH, Neb., April 28—Following up the higher ranking given the Rattler, the paper published by the Neligh high school, in the national journalistic competition, comes a still higher honor in the western competition.

Schools from twelve states were entered in the event being divided into classes of schools with 500 pupils or more and those with less than that number. Neligh comes in the latter cllass and was awarded first place in its class. In addition the Rattler was entered in the free-for-all competition, embracing all schools in the section and in this contest was awarded second place.

NEW STATION AGENT.

(Special to The Star.)

FILLEY, Neb., April 28 — Harry Kober of Superior took possession of the Burlington railway station here Friday morning, having been promoted as station agent here by the railway from a night operators position at Superior. He has been in the service of the railway for the past ten years, mostly as operator at Edgar and Superior, and fills the vacancy caused by the transfer of M. W. Hamilton from Filley to Burchard as agent, three weeks ago.

PLACE STOP SIGNALS.

(Special to The Star.)

GRANT, Neb., April 28—The state highway department has placed stop signs at all intersections of the stae road which runs east and west through Perkins county. State Engineer Cochran says these stop signs are now being placed over the entire 6,200 miles of state highway system. The shape of the sign has a separate meaning which all motorists understand.

NATIONAL Egg Week

MAY 1st to 7th

National Egg Week is designed to educate the people in the food value of the egg and make them realize the important place it occupies in cookery and commercial life

The Nebraska Poultry and Egg association, the Nebraska Retail Grocers, the State Department of Agriculture, the State Medical association, the railroads, the hotel association, civic organizations, the press and radio, women's clubs, state home economics clubs, extension service, and the home economics department are all co-operating with the poultry department to make National Egg Week an outstanding event in Nebraska.

Nebraska produces three-fourths of a billion eggs a year. With 400 cases to a car it would take over 5,000 carloads or 100 trains each of fifty cars to transport one year's production. The value of poultry and eggs in Nebraska approximates the forty million dollar mark.

Shurtleff's Manufacture Upholstered Furniture

Confidence causes customers to continue their patronage. It is the foundation of all good business.

We are more than pleased by the number of repeat orders we have received from our very first customers, and every day new customers are telling us that we were recommended to them and give the names of our old customers who are talking for us and helping us in our fight for HIGHER QUALITY AND LOWER PRICES. Satisfied customers. One woman tells another. Word of mouth" advertising, that's what makes our business grow. We thank them all, and hope to continue to merit this confidence.

To Better Serve Our Customers

We have equipped our shop for the manufacture of high-grade upholstered furniture, and have just received a solid carload of frames for parlor suites and odd chairs. Our customers now have the unusual opportunity of selecting their frame, even to the color preferred on wood trim.

They may select their covering and reverse for cushions. They can put their own ideas into the suite. They are privileged to go up to the shop and see that the suite is being made in accordance with their wishes. WHEN WE TELL YOU THAT WE WILL MAKE YOUR SUITE TO ORDER we mean just that. The order will not be forwarded to another manufacturer at Omaha or elsewhere, and then delivered to you completed, and you cannot see and do not know what is under the cover. Most all upholstered furniture is filled with tow, "flax straw." Twenty cents worth fills a suite. Entirely too cheap to be good, and is used only because of its extreme cheapness and to meet price competition. There are different grades of webbing. There are different grades of spring, as well as different grades of twine with which the springs are tied. Positively we do not and will not mislead you. Tow is an inferior filling. We do not use it. We use only hair and moss, and it is well worth the difference in the cost.

We guarantee upholstered furniture made by us—Upholstered furniture that we know is rightly constructed and honestly built, with the thought of WINNING GOOD WILL uppermost in mind. Remember, the reputation of our entire store and future rests upon the quality we put into SHURTLEFF'S CUSTOM-BUILT UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE. We are building a reputation. Buy upholstered furniture of the highest quality. Do not permit yourself to be penalized by factories that use tow and other inferior filling. WE GUARANTEE THAT SHURTLEFF'S CUSTOM-BUILT FURNITURE IS BUILT AS GOOD AS IS POSSIBLE TO BUILD IT AND THAT IT IS BETTER THAN 90% OF THE SO-CALLED HIGH-GRADE FURNITURE BEING SOLD TODAY. . .

This creed is followed to the letter in our store.

The Ten Commandments of the Upholsterers Creed

KNOW WHAT'S UNDER THE COVER

As it stands on the floor of the merchant, a piece of upholstered furniture may be judged by the quality of the woodwork, the carving, the finish and the character of the covering material; that is all that is visible to the observer. Its real worth depends as much on what the customer cannot see as onwhat is visible. The unseen things include the webbing foundations, the quality of springs, the stuffing material, the amount and character of the interior stitching, and in general, the character and quality of labor involved in its production.

The conscientious upholsterer is careful to insure value by watching the quality of the following ten things:

FIRST—Good webbing, stretched to just the right degree of tension, properly tacked, turned and overtacked.
SECOND—Deep Springs of reliable quality, properly disposed and thoroughly tied with twine, soft enough to avoid cutting but heavy enough to provide requisite strength.
THIRD—All Burlaps throughout should be of a weight substantial enough to wear as long as the rest of the job.
FOURTH—There is no method of creating quality in a finished job that does not include reliable, substantial filling material.
FIFTH—The skill of the upholsterer creates the final form of an upholstered chair. The frame indicates the form but it is what the upholsterer adds to the frame in building the upholstering that determines the final appearance.
SIXTH—There are many short cuts in upholstering but none that supersedes in value and durability the effects produced by skillful handwork, time and pains.
SEVENTH—It is folly to put an expensive covering on "scamped" interior workmanship. Skimped labor or material may be hidden for a time but, like all dishonesty, will eventually make itself known.
EIGHTH—It costs as much in time to apply a cheap material as it does to apply a good one. It is economy for the customer, who in any event must pay for the time in putting on the cover, to spend enough to obtain a durable cover.
NINTH—There never was a piece of furniture made but someone could make it worse and sell it for less. Value consists in the satisfaction a customer obtains in comfort and durability.
TENTH—Every piece of furniture represents an opportunity for the upholsterer to put a little of his own personality into the job. It is representative not alone of his skill but of his reliability, his integrity, his responsibility to the ultimate consumer, whose money should purchase a full money's worth.

Laurels to Cornhuskers On Des Moines Cinders

Nebraskans Shine At Drake Relays

Trumble Victorious In High Hurdles And Andrews Wins First Place In Running Broad Jump.

DRAKE STADIUM, Des Moines, Ia., April 28—A stiff south wind hampered the nearly three thousand entries in the nineteenth annual Drake relay games here today and although many races in all the classes were hotly contested, the times were far below the existing records.

Seventeen thousand persons saw athletes from seventeen states compete in the university, college and high school relays and special events. But they saw only one record broken. This was in the shot put in which a hitherto unknown from the Pittsburg, Kansas, state normal school heaved the cannonball 48 feet 9 inches, to put into the discard the mark of 48 feet 5 1-2 inches, set in 1926 by John Kuck, then a student at the Kansas State Teachers' college of Emporia.

Huskers Win Their Share.

Athletes under the chaperonage of "Indian" Schulte, the famous coach of the Nebraska Cornhuskers, won two first places, one second, one tie for fourth, and two fifths, which was about as well as any school's entries did, save Iowa. The Hawkeyes won three firsts.

Harold "Timber" Trumble, Schulte's latest rising star, easily took the 120-yard high hurdles finals in 15.1 seconds, the wind giving him a greater battle than his competitors. He finished better than a yard ahead of Pahlmeyer of Ohio State. Snorf of Drake was third and Penquite, Drake, fourth.

Trumble won his semi-final Friday in 14.9 seconds, and did it easily. Experts were predicting that he would lower the Drake record of 14.8 seconds today, but they failed to reckon with the gale that whipped down the straightaway into the faces of the contestants.

Andrews Best In Jump.

Andrews, Trumble's teammate, won the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 3 3-4 inches. Spangler, who probably will be Andrews' greatest rival in the Valley championships at Lincoln, was second with a leap of 23 feet 2 inches.

The Nebraska two-mile relay team of Dexter, Januelicic, Chaderdon and Johnson was second to Illinois in the two-mile relay from start to finish, Johnson was a scant yard behind White, the Illini anchor, as White broke the tape. Illinois' time was 7:58.9. Iowa State was third and Notre Dame fourth.

Third In Mile Relay.

The Nebraska team of Davenport, Campbell, Earl Wyatt and Perly Wyatt was third in the first section of the mile relay, feature race of the afternoon. The first section included all the better teams. The Hawkeyes won first in the section and their time of 3:22.2 was good enough to give them the race. The Huskers, however, were crowded into a tie for fourth when the section times were announced. Northwestern was second, Indiana third and the Texas Aggies and Nebraska were tied for fourth with 3:23.6.

The Husker half-mile team of Thompson, Davenport, Earl Wyatt and Easter finished third in the first section, but the times made by entries in the second and third sections crowded them down to fifth place. They covered the four furlongs in 1:29. Northwestern won in 1:26, Illinois was second, Wisconsin third and Marquette fourth.

Dexter Fifth In Two-Mile.

Dexter of Nebraska finished fifth in the two-mile race, which was open to university and college competition. The event was won by Bullamore of Wisconsin in 9:41.8.

Hastings college's mile realy team, composed of Hamill, Lindell, Bierman and Kemp, finished second to Kansas Teachers of Pittsburg. The winner's time was 3:20.7. Hastings' time was 3:22.5. The Hastings two-mile team of Hamill, Bierman, Welch and Kemp took second in that contest, the Kansas Teachers of Pitt again winning in 8:08.

Doane's half-mile quartet of Perry, Aller, France and Alf got a fourth. Doane's time was 1:32. Oklahoma Baptist won in 1:29.2.

The Tiger boys held fourth position from the start of their race and both Hastings teams also started second and finished second.

Tecumseh Victor In Mile.

Tecumseh, Nebraska interscholastic relay champion, won the high school mile. They finished first in the second section in 3:32.3. Sioux Falls, winner of the first section.

PALISADE YOUTH IN RECORD TOSS

Strayer Hurls The Discus Over 130 Feet At Track Meet.

PALISADE, Neb., April 28—Elmer Strayer hurled the discus 130 feet 6 inches at the Frenchman Valley track and field championships held here yesterday. The record betters the state mark for the event and Strayer will try to duplicate his performance at Lincoln May 11 and 12 when the Nebraska high school athletes gather for the annual championships.

Indianola won the Frenchman Valley title with 47½ points. Palisade was second with 28 points. Trenton tallied 25 2-3 points and Culbertson was fourth with 14 points. Wauneta scored 10 1-3 points. Benkelman counted 5½ and Imperial scored one point.

Strayer of Palisade and Harris of Indianola finished in a tie for individual honors, each with 15 points.

Cross of Trenton was clocked in 5 minutes 4 seconds for the mile and Stiffebower of Wauneta equalled the broad jump record of 19 feet 3 inches. Indianola captured the 880-yard relay.

THIRD CITY WINS MID-STATE MEET

Grand Island Trackmen Pile Up Points On Beatrice Track.

Lambert Was Individual Star With String of Three First.

HOW THEY FINISHED.

Grand Island	38
Kearney	25
Fairbury	21½
Beatrice	20½
Columbus	20
Hastings	16½
Fremont	7
York	5½

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28 — Grand Island school in general and the fleet Duck Lambert of Kearney in particular featured the Mid-State high school league track and field championships, held at Beatrice today. Grand Island retained its claim to the track title by rolling up a 38-point total, while the speedy Lambert smashed three Mid-State records in winning the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash and 220-yard low hurdles.

A high wind aided the sprints, but worked hardships on the distance men. Although the day was rather against track, the Mid-State athletes turned in some brilliant performances.

Lambert Does His Stuff.

Coach Roy Pierce's Grand Island high team had the best balanced combination at the meet, scoring well on the track and in the field, collecting enough minor places to gather a safe margin.

Lambert, who will display his wares at the state meet, Lincoln, May 12, in an attempt to lower the state record, enjoyed a big day. He flashed across the finish an easy winner in the century in 10 seconds flat. An hour later he sprinted the furlong in 23 4-10 seconds and returned to the track to negotiate the 220-yard low hurdles in 26 5-10 seconds. The Kearney ace displayed a beautiful stride and appeared to have plenty of reserve power in each race.

New Meet Records.

New records established today were:

100-yard dash—10 seconds by Lambert, Kearney, bettering his former record of 10 5-10 seconds.

220-yard dash—22 4-10 seconds by Lambert, Kearney, bettering his record of 23 4 -10 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—26 5-10 seconds by Lambert, Kearney, bettering record of 27 2-10 seconds by Ragains, Kearney.

440-yard relay—46 5-10 seconds by Fairbury, bettering 46 8-10 seconds by Kearney.

440-yard dash—54 1-10 seconds by Siefkes, Beatrice, bettering mark of 54 3-10 seconds by Werner, Grand Island.

Discus throw—109 feet 7 inches by Werner, Grand Island, bettering a mark of 109 feet 5 inches by Ewert, Columbus.

Thrilling Quarter Mile.

The quarter-mile race between Siefkes of Beatrice and Werner of Grand Island, former record-holder, was one of the features of the individual events. Siefkes permitted Werner to break the wind on the back stretch and then rounded the turn with a thrilling sprint which nipped Werner at the tape.

The program of four relays gave the crowd plenty to enthuse over. Coach A. L. Biehn's Fairbury 440-yard team exchanged the baton in

Shot Put Record Smashed by Kuck

FRESNO, Cal., April 28—(I. N. S.)—John Kuck of the Los Angeles Athletic club broke the world's record in the 16-pound shot put in the Pacific relays here this afternoon, hurling the missile 51 feet 1½ inches. The former record was 51 feet.

Charlie Borah of University of Southern California equalled the world's record in the 100-yard dash, sprinting the distance in nine and three-fifth seconds. No wind was blowing and Borah's time was officially clocked.

BRITISH GOLFER SWAMPS HAGEN

Compston Conquers Yank Star; Issues Sweeping Defi to World.

MOOR PARK, England, April 28—(U. P.)—Archie Compston, Britthe American match-play star ever to Walter Hagen the worst defeat the American match-playy star ever suffered at golf.

Compston won their 72-hole match by 18 up and 17 to play—only one hole of the final 18 being necessary.

Compston continued his triumph by winning, one up, a 16-hole exhibition match, played to keep from disappointing the big gallery that had gathered to see the afternoon's play.

The match was regarded here as for the match play championships of the world, though specifically it was for a purse of $3,750.

Makes Sweeping Challenge.

Elated at his triumph, Compston immediately sent a challenge to any golfer in the world at match play for a stake of any amount.

British golfers were almost deliriously joyful at the result of the match. They regarded Hagen as the greatest American match-player, and with Bobby Jones supreme over here, as at home, in tournament play, when he is in form, not much was left for the British golf stars.

Throughout the match, Compston played unbeatable golf. Hagen seemed somewhat off form, but he would have needed superlative form to make the match.

Briton Bit Boastful.

Compston conceded nothing. His comment to the United Press on his victory was:

"The score by which I beat Hagen does not indicate that Hagen played bad golf. As a matter of fact, he played excellently—I think as well as he ever played."

At the end of the morning round, Hagen was confronted with the stupendous task of winning all 18 holes of the afternoon match if he was to get a tie, and it was announced that the afternoon's play would be an exhibition.

This was taken to mean that Hagen had conceded the one hole needed to cinch victory for Compston, and many people left the field. But Hagen's manager told the United Press that there was no question of abandonment and that the match, as a sporting proposition, would be played out.

Halved the Next Hole.

It did not take long. Ten minutes after play commenced in the afternoon, the first hole was halved in four and Compston was the victor.

Hagen played a beautiful approach shot from a difficult position for the final hole. When he reached the green, he putted for at least 10 or 12 yards. The ball hit the rim of the cup and bounced out. Hagen smiled, for the first time during the match. The crowd applauded loudly.

This hole was taken as the first

Team Pilot Right Smart At Grabbing What Other Clubs Let Go.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, April 28—(I. N. S.)—"Don't step on that; it may be Lon Chaney," was one of the season's cute cracks and everybody liked it immensely, excluding Mr. Lon Chaney and the thing that wasn't to be stepped on, neither being certain which of them was entitled to the break. By the same token, if you observe a pack peddler prowling about the family estates, don't set the dog upon him or call the hired man. It may be Wilbert Robinson.

Makes Over Old Clothes.

The latter these many years has been recognized as the old clothes man of the national pastime. One of his best parlor tricks is to make a Prince Albert out of a discarded corset cover and all you have to do is look over the line up of the current Brooklyn Dodgers to be certain that he can make a collar and tie out of a paper napkin, too. There isn't a man of any consequence on the Brooklyn club of 1928 who hasn't been tried and found minus by some other major league outfit.

Notable Helps.

His most notable employe is Dazzy Vance and the Yanks couldn't see him with a spot light. Jess Petty, another good one, had a trial with an American league club—the Indians, I think—with similar results. The Braves thought Dave Bancroft was passe, both as manager and player. Robbie paid important money for him and he is presenting Ebbets Field with the semblance of an infield for the first time in many years. Banny previously had outlasted his welcome in Philadelphia and New York.

Riconda Great at Second.

Harry Riconda, once with the Athletics and Braves, is affording an example of Robbie's revamping tactics. Harry was a third baseman until Robbie decided that a trial at second would do him no harm. As it worked out, the harm to date has been confined to that inflicted upon opposing ball clubs. Harvey Hendrick, former Yank and Indian, has been shifted from the outfield to first base and return; the first few weeks of the season found him at third base. Del Bissonette, another ex-Yankee, likewise has been transplanted—from pitching to first basing. Babe Herman, first baseman last year, is now an outfielder. Herman received several trials before the Detroit Tigers came to the conclusion that they were wasting their time and his, these being named in the order of what was considered their comparative importance.

Major League Castoffs.

The veteran catching staff also is composed of major league castoffs. Deberry having been with Cleveland, Hargrave with several rival clubs and Henline with the Giants and Phillies. The outfield is just one "reclaim" after another. Max Carey was a star with the Pirates for many years; Statz got several trials with the Giants and Cubs; Rube Bressler was with the Athletics and Reds. Herman and Hendrick complete the list of availables here, although the latter at present is taking a fling at the infield.

Flowers and Freigan.

Others doing likewise are Jake Flowers, former Cardinal; Howard

Paddock Flashes To World Record

Pacific Coast Sprinter Reels Off New Mark at Penn Relays While Dodging Shower of Falling Bricks.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Charles W. Paddock, sometimes the fastest and always the most interesting sprinter in the world, today defied old man Euclid and all the mathematicians of the ages in running 175 yards in the world's record time of 17 2-5 seconds. The men of science have insisted these many years that a straight line is the shortest distance between two given points and, if this is so, then Paddock didn't do worse than 17 seconds this afternoon.

Dodges Falling Bricks.

For, just after the barking gun had sent Paddock and three Pennsylvania sprinters on their way, a section of the stands fronting the track gave way under the straining spectators and the rains of the last two days, precipitating bricks, mortar and humanity down upon the cinder path directly in Paddock's lane. A few seconds later and the star sprinter might have suffered serious injury, for he was only forty yards away and coming like the wind when the accident occurred. Another and smaller section gave way further up the track but, by this time, Paddock and his field had winged on their way, the former to one of the most spectacular records of a spectacular career.

Swings Across Track.

Just how far Charley had to run out of his way to avoid the struggling, flailing mass of spectators and bricks can only be estimated. He had to swing from the inside lane, next to the treacherous wall, directly across the track to the pole before he had avoided all intervening obstacles.

Yet, he was able to make the change in direction without loss of stride, being two yards in advance at the time, and without even a glance at the debris that might have injured him painfully, if not seriously, went on to the tape to win by three yards and break his own record by two-fifths of a second.

Nobody Injured.

It was fortunate, not only for Paddock and the Pennsylvania men, F. Schuil L. Boyle and John Ball, finishing in that order, but the 30 or more spectators who were thrown 10 feet to the track, that not a casualty was recorded because of the accident.

Paddock's record was all the more remarkable for the fact that it was achieved in a quagmire of mud and in the fact of a driving rain that kept most of the other performers well outside existing records.

Barring Paddock's mark, only two were broken during the long, watery day and both came in the pole vault. Sabin Carr, Yale, holder of the world's record, did a mere 13 feet for a meet record in his specialty, while Allan Logan, Atlanta, in winning the vault in the Olympic decathlon trial did 11 feet 9 inches for another carnival mark.

Ohio Four-Time Winner.

Ohio State broke no records, but it finished one of the outstanding sensations with a four winners for the day. P. A. Rasmus, Ohio State, won the discus with a throw of 144 feet 2½ inches.

The Buckeyes first won the half-mile college relay championship, then turned in and took the shuttle hurdle relay in time that was just a fraction of a second off the games record and finally sent George Simpson and H. Kriss to the post to run one-two in the 100-yard dash in 10 1-5 seconds. This pair also were important factors in winning the half-mile relay, Kriss sending his team away in a lead it never relinquished. Penn State was making it close when a poor touchoff between its third and fourth men ruined its chances.

In addition to the four Ohio State winners cutting into the east's attempt to capture some of its own championships, the south produced two championships in Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech, and the North Carolina four-mile relay team. The latter easily won its race in 19:04 2-5, with Michigan State a distant second. Hamm took the broad jump in 23 feet 8 inches.

Plansky Wins Decathlon.

The decathlon title finally went to Tony Plansky, former Georgetown man, after a stirring two-day battle with Ken Doherty, Detroit

EX-SPOUSE BOBS UP WORRY JACK

Mrs. Dempsey No. 1 Will Shake Down Pugilist For Alimony.

NEW YORK, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, resting after his recent legal victory over his former manager, Jack Kearns, was threatened tonight with another court "battle." A woman, claiming to be Mrs. Maxine Gates Dempsey, divorced wife of the ex-champ, appeared here today and announced that she was going to begin action to have the divorce set aside.

The divorce was granted to Dempsey in 1919 at Salt Lake City. The alleged Mrs. Dempsey consulted Attorney Nathaniel Harben here with the announced view of beginning suit against her former husband. She claimed that she let Dempsey have the divorce, believing at the time that it was "good riddance."

Fire Story Was Hoax.

In 1924 it was reported that Dempsey's first wife was burned to death in a dance hall fire in Juarez, Mexico.

When asked about her supposed death, the alleged Mrs. Dempsey said that it was another woman who had used her name. She had remained silent during the ensuing years, she said, for the purpose of letting her ex-husband enjoy his wealth and fame. It was only when recently published magazine articles tended to defame her character that she decided to reappear among the living and ask for what she believes is coming to her.

Suit for Alimony.

The alleged Mrs. Dempsey asked that action for a divorce and alimony also be started in her behalf, and that she be given an adequate alimony pending trial of both suits.

She alleged that she married Jack in 1916 in Nevada, when he was 21 and she was 20 years old. At that time, she said, Dempsey was fighting petty fights for a living.

Asserts Lost Her Job.

"I had a job here in New York before those magazine stories appeared," she said, "and was doing fairly well. But I lost it as a result of the stories. I will not say where I'm working now, because I don't want to lose another job. I need money to live until I can get some from Dempsey. I want what's mine now for those years I have suffered."

Baseball Averages.

National League.

Much heavy hitting was going on in the National league during the first two weeks of the season and the scramble for the top place in the batting averages brought forward many unfamiliar names, while at the same time a number of the old and established sluggers were discovered far down on the list.

While Pitcher Jablonowski of Cincinnati was perched at the top with a batting mark of .600 because he made three hits in five times at bat, the real leader still was George Grantham, first baseman of the champion Pittsburgh Pirates, who has been on the job in 12 games and hit for an average of .463. Grantham has been at bat 41 times and gathered 19 hits, among which are five doubles, a triple and three home runs.

Close upon his heels is Lester Bell, third baseman of the Braves, who was traded to Boston by St. Louis because he couldn't hit. Bell has a mark of .452 made in eight games in which he was at bat 31 times and made 14 hits, three of which were doubles and one of which was a triple. Joe Kelly, the utility out and infielder of the Cubs, who subbed for a time for Grimm, was next with .450 because he made nine hits in 20 times at bat.

Hornsby Does His Stuff.

Only a short distance down the column one finds the name of Rogers Hornsby, the old slugger of the league, now a member of the Boston Braves. Apparently he has started off at his best pace for in 28 times at bat he poled 11 hits, giving him an average of .390. He had one home run and one two-bagger.

Besides Grantham, four other men in the league have gathered three homers. Hack Wilson of the Cubs and Webb of the Cubs have each poled three and so have Frisch of the Cardinals and O'Doul of the Giants.

As a team, the St. Louis Cardinals are in front in both team batting and team fielding, the hitting average being .298, while the fielding mark is .979. Pittsburgh is second in batting with .290 and the Cubs are second in fielding with .971.

Sheriff Blake of the Cubs is the leading pitcher in the league with three victories and no defeats. Jones and Bush of the same team are next to him with two victories each and no defeats. National league statistics, including last Thursday's games, follow:

American League.

After two weeks of early spring slugging, one finds a young and aspiring recruit leading the American league in batting, while such world-famed hitters as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Bib Falk, Harry Heilmann and Bob Fothergill are well down on the list. The youngster perched at the top is young Ralph Kress, new shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, who came up from Tulsa, Okla., seeking fame and fortune and has started the struggle as if he intends to succeed in a hurry.

Kress has been performing regularly for the Browns ever since the season opened and in 11 games, in which he went to bat 30 times, he has delivered 15 hits, giving him a batting mark of .500. Mullen, a pinch hitter and utility infielder of the same team has an average of .750, but has been at bat only four times in which he made three hits, so his average harly can be counted. Pitcher Ruffing of Boston and Catcher Heving of the same team have marks of .500, but haven't been at bat often enough to rate with young Mr. Kress.

Durocher Delivers.

Far up on the list is Second baseman Durocher of the Yankees, a second-string man who performed for eight games while Tony Lazzeri was recuperating from an injury. Of the veteran and established sluggers of the league, Bob Meusel of the Yankees is away up with an average of .400, made in 11 games in which he was at bat 45 times and made 18 hits. Among those 18 were eight doubles and one homer.

Young Easterling, Detroit outfielder, a first-year man, is tied with Meusel, having made 16 hits in 40 times at bat. Hale of the Athletics, who has played in nine games, is also a .400 man.

Goslin and Cobb.

Of the sluggers of last year, Goose Goslin of Washington is going at a merry pace with a mark of .359 and the old-timer Ty Cobb is keeping up a good pace with a mark of .359 for nine games. Lou Gehrig has .341 and two home runs to his credit, but one goes deep into the column to find Babe Ruth with an average of .243, though he has hit three homers Joe Hauser of the Athletics is the leading home run swatter with a total of four.

The Yankees still lead in team batting with .325 and Boston is in front in team fielding with .982. George Uhle of Cleveland and Herb Pennock of New York are the leading pitchers with three victories apiece and no defeats. American league statistics including last Thursday's games, follow:

Western Coaches Put A.A.U. On Pan

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28—(I. N. S.)—The A. A. U. today stood repudiated by the Western Track Coaches' association as a small group of men dominant in athletics which the International Amateur Athletic Federation should debar as all-powerful in America.

A resolution to this end was offered and passed at the meeting last night of the coaches of the midwest, here to attend the Drake relays.

Major John L. Griffith, sports commissioner of the "Big Ten," declared that when America wins the Olympic meet this summer the A. A. U. will take all the credit, although it was the work of the coaches that will have made the feat possible.

CONFERENCE MEET KEARNEY CINDERS

KEARNEY, Neb., April 28—The annual Nebraska inter-collegiate conference track and field championships will be held at Kearney Normal, Saturday, May 19.

Peru Normal, Chadron Normal, Wayne Normal and Kearney Normal are expected to send full teams, while Omaha university and Dana college will have men in a number of the events.

Invitation Carnival.

KEARNEY, Neb., April 28—The annual Kearney Normal interscholastic track and field meet will be held Saturday, May 5. Last year a field of 35 schools and 392 athletes were entered and the mark is expected to top this figure Saturday.

Preliminaries will start at 9:30 a. m. and finals will be run off at 2 p. m. The teams are divided into two classes with a special relay for the junior highs.

The list of trophy awards include five large trophy cups and an honor trophy for the high point winner in class A.

Japs, Cubans Divide Davis Cup Laurels

HAVANA, Cuba, April 28—(U. P.)—Yoshiro Ohta, Japanese, beat Rogelio, Cuba, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3, today in the first match of the Cuba-Japan Davis cup tennis elimination round.

Teizo Toba, Japanese player, was defeated by Viencente Banet, Cuban captain, in the second singles match 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Here and There In BASEBALL

Elmer Jacobs, discarded pitcher of the White Sox, who now is pitching for Portland in the Coast league, was on the verge of equaling a record for scoreless innings after his last game a few days ago. He had pitched 35 successive innings without allowing a run. The record is 36, made by Jimmy Whalen in 1905.

Strange as it may seem, Wallie Schang, Browns catcher and one of the oldest players in the big leagues, was leading the league in stolen bases after the game of April 26.

A lightning triple play was executed by San Antonio players against Houston the other day. Houston had the bases filled with none out, when the batter hit a line drive to Firstbaseman Grimes, who caught the ball, stepped on first before that runner could get back, making two out, and then throwing to Flaskamper at second, retiring the runner there before he could get back.

Billy Kinney, veteran southpaw once with Connie Mack and now with Hollywood, beat the Portland club recently, 1 to 0, allowing only two hits.

Clarence Blair, second baseman of Little Rock's club, will be having the big league scouts on his trail soon. In his first fifteen games he was batting .400 and fielding 1.000.

Evidently the bad weather was more damaging in Boston than elsewhere in baseball. Anyway, five of the Braves players and Manager Slattery were ill and out of the game at the same time, the players being Hornsby, Robertson, Wertz, Bob Smith, John Cooney and Burrus. With them all out, the Braves beat Brooklyn just the same.

Overton Off With First Dual Victory

OVERTON, Neb., April 27—Overton high school opened the track and field season with a 64½ to 52½ victory over the Kearney Prep squad.

The three lettermen reporting to Coach Glen A. Harden are John Dunaway, who has a mark of 132 feet in the javelin and around 40 feet in the shot; Mortimore Rettig, who has been making good time in the sprints; and, Robert Rettig, who was clocked in 57 seconds for the quarter-mile and 19 seconds for the high hurdles.

Other promising men are Seth Miller, Michael Brennan, Woodrow Smith, Norris Warren, Walter Pashby, Frank Smith Vernon Vaughn and Edwin McKinzie.

The schedule for the season:

April 27—Seven Valleys meet at Callaway.

May 5—Kearney Normal invitation at Kearney.

May 18—Dawson county meet at Lexington.

RACING PROVES VALUABLE TEST

Valve-in-Head Motors Have Proved Efficiency On the Track.

FLINT, Mich., April 28—The huge stands at the Indianapolis Speedway will echo in a few days to the staccato roar of racing engines in the qualifying heats which precede the annual international speed classic. Then a few days more, and thousands will be flocking to the Hoosier city for this headliner among the year's speed events.

Automobile makers' interest in the sweepstakes is little less keen than the interest of those who attend purely for the thrill. For from their viewpoint the 500-mile grind on Memorial day is a laboratory test of the most portentous kind. A merciless trial of stamina, which only the fittest can hope to survive, —a searching scrutiny under which every tiny detail of engineering, design, and workmanship must pass. Chance enters into the result very little. Consequently the findings reached are of immense interest, not only to the manufacturer but to the motor-buying public.

Few automobile manufacturers have found in the activities of the speed fraternity such cause for gratification as the Buick Motor Company. Not only valve-in-head engines, which have powered every Buick car, but mechanical four-wheel brakes, which Buick pioneered, have been abundantly proved in these relentless tests. Every important race since, 1910, both at Indianapolis and elsewhere, has been won by a valve-in-head engine. Both Major Segrave, and Captain Campbell, who recently shattered Segrave's world record at Daytona Beach, with 206 miles an hour, drove valve-in-head cars.

It was just one year ago that Lindbergh, in a valve-in-head engined plane, electrified the world with his Paris flight. In the intervening months, a dozen scarcely less spectacular achievements of the air have added to the prestige of valve in-head design. All in all, experience on land, in water and in air, wherever a capacity to deliver maximum power for sustained periods is required, has wirtten an indelible testimonial to this type of construction.

The valve-in-head Buick engine of today, in Buick's engineers' opinion, is the nearest approach yet made to a perfected power plant. Its outstanding point of design is the circular combustion chamber, which fits over the bore in the cylinder block perfectly, so as to concentrate the full force of the explosion upon the piston. In no other engine is this principle, —the same as is applied in artillery, —possible of use.

As the two most frequently needed tools are a pair of pliers and a screw-driver, it is a good plan to keep them in the pocket of the car where they can be reached without any difficulty or delay.

Sweetser In Again.

JESSE SWEETSER

Jesse Sweetser is again the Sweetser of old—this is demonstrated by his selection once more as a member of the Walker cup team.

The American team this year seems virtually invincible and Jesse's ability is largely responsible for that state.

After his brilliant victory in the British amateur in 1926 Jesse seemed to collapse. He dropped out of competition as one of the greatest match players. But now he's back.

Nebraska HORSES and HORSEMEN by "Columbus"

Only one horse ever beat 2:05 over a track at Lincoln and that one was Strathberry, which paced a mile in 2:04¼ over the Lincoln Park mile track in 1895, and in doing so gained the world's record for a pacing stallion wearing hoppies.

The state record for pacers is 2:00½, made last October at Omaha when Hollyrood Volo, by Peter Volo, 2:02, driven by Henry Thomas, started to beat his previous record of 2:01½. Had the day been at all favorable, Hollyrood Volo might have paced his mile faster than 2:00 and doubtless would.

The state record for trotters is 2:05½, another record gained over the mile track at Omaha. That record is held by Eleanor Guy, by Guy Axworthy, 2:08¾, a mare owned at Superior, Wis., and raced by George Loomis, Hamline, Minn. The mile mentioned was trotted in a race and constituted Eleanor Guy's fastest record.

The trotting stallion Patrick Silk, 2:24¼, by Bingen Silk, 2:07¼, is standing for public service at Lacy, Wash., where he is owned by C. B. Johnson, late of Ogden, U., but formerly of Idaho. Patrick Silk, taken to Utah by Warren Dennis, who gave the horse the record mentioned, was the first foal of Bingen Silk and acquired his name through being foaled on St. Patrick's day. He is proving a sire of speed and will be of great use to the breeders of Oregon.

Patrick Silk was out of Lolie McGregor, by Jay McGregor, 2:07¼, and that mare was also dam of Liberty Silk, 2:09¼, by Bingen Silk, 2:07¾. Liberty Silk was the second 2:10 trotter sired by Bingen Silk, the first being Bingen Watts, 2:09, so named as his dam was by Gen. Watts, 3, 2:06¾.

In The Star of April 15 we had an item calling attention to horses owned at Syracuse, Neb., which was not complete, owing to part of it being omitted. Syracuse was an important center so far as the trotter and pacer is concerned and 34 years ago a resident of that town shipped a mare to Hinder Wilkes, located in Kentucky, and the following season the mare foaled a colt which was given the name of Lewis Wilkes, later recorded as Lewis Wilkins. That colt was bred by C. E. Cotton and raced in its two and three-year-old form by Hal Bennett, then living at Syracuse. At Omaha in 1897, Lewis Wilkes won a class race for two-year-olds, trotting one of his miles in 2:21¾. The following year he raced a number of times, once at Lexington, Ky., where he won his race, with one mile in 2:16¼. Later that same year the colt won again, with one of his miles in 2:15½, which remained his record.

At the time mentioned, Lewis Wilkes was the most talked of three-year-old trotter bred in Nebraska. Later he sired a number of good race horses, his first being Charley Cotton, 2:18¾, also bred by Mr. Cotton, but raced to the record named by George Fisher, who had the gelding in 1904 and 1905. The next standard performer by Lewis Wilkes was Nathalee, 2:24¼, a record gained in 1905.

Some time later the stallion was sold to parties living in Colorado and while owned in that state sired his first 2:10 performer, the pacing gelding Red Rock, 2:10. St. Vrain, p. 2:12, was another by Lewis Wilkes that was bred in Colorado. The horse was returned to Nebraska, where he sired Lyndon C., 2:09¼, and Lloyd Gorge, 2:09¾, good trotters. By and large, Lewis Wilkes was of much use to the breeding interests of Nebraska and was sire of more 2:10 trotters than any stallion bred in the state.

George Fisher, training many years at Memphis, Tenn., raced other Nebraska bred trotters, among them the bay mare Nicklette, 2:17¼, by Fenerate, 15016, bred by John Gilbert, deceased, of Red Cloud. Before locating at Red Cloud, Mr. Gilbert lived at Dewitt and during that time owned and bred a number of horses that aided much in making harness-horse history in Nebraska. The stallion Fenerate, sire of Nicklette, and Glint, the dam of Nicklette, were bred by Gilbert. Fenerate was by Pelletier, son of Lord Russell.

Starting his breeding ventures upon a solid basis, Mr. Gilbert purchased in Kentucky the young stallion Maximum, 7857, by Madrid, 1835, and the filly Hand Maid, by Onward, 2:25¼, both bred in ultra-fashionable lines. Glint, dam of Nicklette, 2:17¼, was by Maximum. Jessie M., p., 2:15¼, by Norval Chief, 2:19¼, raced so successfully in 1903 by Fred Robare of Beatrice, was out of Hazel, by Maximum, while her grandam was Hand Maid, by Onward. And those were the only good trotters or pacers tracing to stallions and mares owned or bred by Mr. John Gilbert.

Another trotter raced by Mr. Fisher was Satine, 2:21½, by Saturn, 2605, dam Kitty Clay, by Kentucky Clay, 194. Saturn was 20 years old and Kitty Clay 21 when they were mated by N. J. Ronin, Fremont, their owner. Saturn was an unusually handsome stallion, one of the finest appearing of his sex owned in this state. He was a superb individual, of good size and supplied by nature with a wonderful coat of hair, soft, silky and shining like satin. He was fairly successful as a sire of speed, being represented in the Year Books by four trotters and two pacers, with two sons that were sires of speed and 14 daughters that were dams of speed.

Betsy Saturn, by Saturn and owned by Mr. Ronin, was dam of Dr. Archdale, 2:09¼, by Archdale. Satine, by Saturn and previously mentioned, became a dam and grandam of speed. Her daughter, Dolly Archdale, by Archdale, is dam of Nick Silk, 3, 2:11¼, Virginia Dare, 2:12¼, and John Igo, 2:16¼. Kitty Clay, dam of Satine, was also dam of Graham's Mambrino, 2:27¼, a trotting stallion owned and raced by Bob Graham of Blair, Neb. Graham's Mambrino, foaled 1882, was bred by Daniel Jones of Webster, Neb., and his sire, Mambrino Bashaw, 1759, was sire of the dam of that remarkable race pacer Fred H., 2:12¼, which ranks second to Spill, 2:06½, in number of races taken part in among Nebraska-bred pacers.

Graham's Mambrino, raced several seasons by Bob Graham, was sire of The Impression, 2:14¼, Dandy, p., 2:14¼, and five others with standard records. His son, The Impression, bred by Graham, was a good race trotter, one of the best owned in this state from 1898 to 1902, starting in many racing events and winning a majority of them. He became a sire of speed, but never attained the success in the stud that many thought he should. That fact was doubtless due to the lack of business ability or diplomacy of his breeder and owner, who was a man that seemed unable to make or hold friends.

Writing of Blair suggests the thought that something should be written concerning Bud Latta of Tekamah, for many years a staunch supporter of the trotting-horse industry. Associated with his father —William Latta—Bud gave each year for a successions of seasons a race meeting at Tekamah. In every sense of the word, those meetings were family affairs, given on land owned by the Lattas, with purses paid by those gentlemen. No one was asked to contribute a cent to the support of racing at Tekamah, the Lattas even paying every expense associated with the annual meetings.

For a series of years the Nebraska racing circuit opened at Tekamah and many excellent contests were staged on the half-mile track built and owned by Latta & Son, with several horses starting there that later become nationally known. Bud Latta owned the stallion Mont Russell, 16892, having him in the stud at Tekamah for some time. That stallion sired Lena Russell, 2:09¾, and Nina Russell, 2:12¼, two good pacing mares that were bred by Bud Latta. Judge Sears, now a member of congress, resided at Tekamah when he owned Lina V., 2:17¼, dam of Cooksey, 2:14¼, by Greenlander, 2:12¼; Shadeline, p., 2:07¼, by Shade On, p., 2:08, etc. Judge Sears still breeds and owns racing speed. Only last season Linedale, by Archdale, one of his breeding, gained a record of 2:16 trotting.

The first time the writer saw Axeyell, was at Tekamah, and afterwards that fast trotting gelding gained a record of 2:06¼. At the time Axeyell started at Tekamah he was a 2:20 trotter. Another fast one found at that meeting was Charley Wilkhurst, later gaining a record of 2:12¼. That stallion, with McHenry, 2:16, were starting in a 2:30 trot at Tekamah the day we saw them race. Others racing at Tekamah to afterwards gain fast records were Spill, p., 2:06½, Wapello Girl, p., 2:07½, Tommy Horn, 2:04½, Helen Chimes, p., 2:04¼, and others which raced through the Nebraska circuit from 1900 to 1912.

Tekamah was the first race meeting attended by the writer where every business place in town was closed each afternoon of the meeting. Other towns visited had closed some one day or possibly two afternoons, but never before had we found such action upon the part of business men. That feature attracted favorable comment and gave to Tekamah much publicity of a kind that reacted favorably. Another matter associated with racing at Tekamah to make a strong appeal was the desire manifested by Latta & Son to please everyone taking part in the racing program or attending the meeting.

WESLEYAN READY TACKLE MIDLAND

Methodist Squad Goes to Fremont Monday for Cinder Meet.

The Nebraska Wesleyan track squad will leave at noon Monday for Fremont, where they meet Midland college in an afternoon session on the track and field. Coach Ren Dow will carry at least 20 men on the trip.

Dope favors Wesleyan, to win, the meet, though both schools have been greatly hampered by poor practice weather. Coach Dow is grooming into shape a well-balanced team which should rate well in the state conference. However, he expressed doubt concerning the outcome of the hurdle races and the long distance runs.

Loder Out For Season.

The Methodists suffered a severe setback at the loss of Loder, who is out for the remainder of the season with a bad knee injury. Loder carried much of the track burden himself, being a good sprinter, hurdler, and broad jumper. Craig and Welch are in the broad jump, while Calvert, Ralston, and Taylor are the big hopes in the high hurdles, and Craig, Beebe, and McKenzie in the lows.

As usual Wesleyan is strong in the weights, with S. Johnson, Gass, and H. Bosley featuring. Shupe, a letter man and Taylor are looking great in the javelin. Captain Hannum and a goodly string of followers keep away worry in the middle distance runs.

Enters Dakota Relays.

The Dakota relays, to be held, May 4-5 at Sioux Falls, S. D., will offer the next competition for Dow's men.

The probable roster for the Wesleyan —Midland compet:

Dashes —Craig, Beebe, Carper, Killinger.

Distance—Gibbs, Gustafson.

Pole vault—Shupe, Welch, Beers.

High jump—Shupe, Welch, Shuey.

Weights — Johnson, Gass, H. Bosely.

Javelin—Shupe, Taylor.

Hurdles —Calvert, Craig, Beebe, Ralston, Taylor, McKenzie.

FISKS IN AGAIN WITH TOP-LINER

Red Tops Start Campaign With Aggregation of Veterans.

The Fisk Red Tops, amateur champions of the capital city last year, will open the season Sunday at Ulysses. The Tire Tailors have played three practice games this spring, winning two of them.

The Red Tops had a big season last year, winning 74 per cent of their games and finishing the season by taking the Lancaster county championship tourney over the 15 other entries.

Staff of Three Pitchers.

This season the Reds carry a strong battery, with three twirlers, Barney, Hull and Mankameyere, and the veteran Borgaard behind the plate. Barney and Hull dazzled on the mound all last season with the Red Tops, Barney handling the major part of the tournament games.

The heavy hitting of "Big Bill" Borgaard was as outstanding as his work as a catcher. The full lineup of veterans is again on the roster, with the new pitcher, Mankameyer, and a crack third baseman, Maver, added. Shortstop Shook and Cliff Howard, southpaw at first base, are repeating last season's stellar performances.

Next Sunday at Crete.

Sunday, May 6, the Red Tops journey to Crete, but have open dates for out-of-town teams from that time on.

The Red Top roster includes, pitch Barney, Hull, Mankameyer; catch, Borgaard; first, C. Howard; second H. Howard; third, Graham; short Shock; field, Gimlet, Donnoly, Warthen; Utility, Marshall, Mayer, Bloom, Shuck. The game manager is Charles E. Warthen, Box 152, Bethany Station, Lincoln; or phone M1990.

5 of the reasons why BUICK will serve you Better and save you More!

Not only does today's Buick excel in smart, low, dashing lines—in vivid new color harmonies—in luxurious upholsteries and appointments—but it sweeps far ahead of its field in those vital engineering factors which mean greater comfort—greater performance—greater economy—and greater value

In Most Cars—the springs must serve a double function—they must be rigid enough to drive the car, and, at the same time, must cushion the load.

In Buick—the springs have only one function—to cushion the load—and naturally provide much finer riding qualities.

In Most Cars—water, mud and dust can work their way into moving parts causing excessive wear, engine stalling and other troubles.

In Buick—the Sealed Chassis and Triple-Sealed Engine prevent these troubles. All vital parts are completely enclosed and protected from wear.

In Most Cars—vibration is merely dampened by means of additional bearings or other inadequate devices.

In Most Cars—quality is often sacrificed for price, or prices advanced to permit fine quality.

In Buick—tremendous demand makes possible both high quality and moderate price.

In Most Cars—the dealer's delivered price, including the delivery or handling charge, to the buyer—is not rigidly fixed by the factory behind the car.

In Buick—the lowest possible delivered price, including the delivery or handling charge, is definitely established by the Buick factory. Thus Buick quality is provided to Buick owners everywhere at lowest cost.

Crete High Quartet Winner 1928 Pentathlon

Saline County Squad Sweeps Honors; Hokuf All-Around Champion

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Crete high school inscribed its name on the roll of Nebraska interscholastic pentathlon champions this spring when Coach "Pop" Klein's Saline county athletes were declared winners of the eighth annual selective pentathlon. Results were announced Saturday afternoon by the University of Nebraska athletic department.

In winning pentathlon honors, Crete high scored 6,331 points, more than 500 points ahead of Cambridge high, runnerup in the competition. Members of the winning Crete quartet and the points each individual scored were Stephen Hokuf, 4,950; Paul Parker, 3,893; Walter Stedman, 3,815, and Neal Shepherd, 3,674.

Stephen Hokuf, versatile Crete high football, basketball and track athlete, gathered in all-around honors, his score of 4,950. Hokuf scored heavily in the javelin cast, discuss throw and 12-pound shot put. Here is how the scoresheet read on the four leading athletes:

Stephen Hokuf, Crete.

Broad jump—19 feet 9 inches, 870 points.
12-pound shot put—46 feet 3 inches, 1,080 points.
Discus throw—125 feet 2 inches, 1,080 points.
220-yard dash—24 4-10 seconds, 750 points.

Harold Barnes, Gothenburg.

Broad jump—20 feet 11½ inches, 976 points.
12-pound shot put—42 feet 8 inches, 858 points.
220-yard dash—23 -10 seconds, 912½ points.

Broad jump—19 feet 9 inches, 870 points.
220-yard dash—24 5-10 seconds, 737½ points.
120-yard high hurdles—15 6-10 seconds, 1,125 points.

Scott Reynolds, Minatare.

High jump—5 feet 5⅝ inches, 825 points.
Broad jump—19 feet 8- inches, 865 points.
Pole vault—10 feet 3 inches, 744 points.
Javelin cast—176 feet 1 inch, 1,241 points.
880-yard run—1 minute 87 7-10 seconds, 1,069 points.

Two New Records.

Two new pentathlon records were established during the 1928 competition. Scott Reynolds hung up a new record for the 880-yard run when he was clocked in 1 minute 58 7-10 seconds for the half-mile. The former record of 2 minutes 4 7-10 seconds was made by Elmer Strayer of Palisade last year.

Reynolds and Hokuf of Crete lengthened the javelin record, each athlete getting credit for a mark of 176 feet 1 inch. Hokuf held the old mark of 162 feet 7 inches, made last year.

While the individual performances perhaps lacked some of the brilliance of last season, the 1928 showing was consistently better throughout the field of competitors. Leading records in the different events follows:

Best Performances.

Broad jump—John Roby, Nelson, 21 feet; Harold Barnes, Gothenburg, 20 feet 11½ inches; Richard Kemp, Fairmont, 20 feet 3½ inches; Paul Darby, Trenton, 20 feet 2 inches.

High jump—Boyd, Danbury, 5 feet 11 inches; Clem Trumble, Cambridge; Glen Buckingham, Morrill, 5 feet 9 inches; Max Coe, Wakefield; Ora Harris, Indianola, 5 feet 8 inches.

12-pound shot put—Stephen Hokuf, Crete, 46 feet 3 inches; Robert Stansberry, Norfolk 45 feet 9 inches; Floyd Thompson, Indianola, 45 feet 5 inches; Elmer Reiss, Neligh, 44 feet 6 inches.

Javelin cast—Stephen Hokuf, Crete; Scott Reynolds, Minatare, 176 feet 1 inches; Keith Davis, St. Paul, 131 feet; Erskine Wood, Exeter, 149 feet 10 inches; Jones, Columbus, 148 feet 8 inches; Elmer Reiss, Neligh, 147 feet 3 inches.

Freigau, once with the Cards and Cubs and Jimmy Partridge, who somehow contrived to make the riffle at Ebbets Field without being cast aside elsewhere. However, Bill Doak and Jim Elliott, first string pitchers, were with other big league clubs, the former escaping from the Cardinals only after years of first-class pitching.

However, the 1928 Dodgers form no particular exception to the Robbinson system; they are, in fact, pretty much of a typical Brooklyn outfit—picked up and welded together into a practical ball club from here, there and nowhere. Even Robbie's pennant winners in 1916 and 1920 wre no better or worse in this respect. He took what the other fellow didn't want and made it win for him.

most attractive cards in Cornhusker prep track history.

Track enthusiasts in all sections of the state will have something to watch this week as the program is crowded with "red letter" events which should attract crowds of cinder fans Results at the various competes will be scanned with interest, for winners necessarily will cut considerable of a figure in the big battle for state laurels at the University of Nebraska stadium.

Western Meet at Scottsbluff.

Western Nebraska teams will meet at Scottsbluff for the western Nebraska championships. The track sport has been hobbled by unfavorable weather in the west this spring, but the past week of sunshine has helped to take the kinks out and a closely contested meet is anticipated. The sensational work of Scott Reynolds, Minatare half-miler and javelin expert, should enliven the meet.

Central Nebraska track followers will flock to the Hastings college and Kearney Normal meets. Both trackfests are well worth attending.

It will be the seventeenth annual meeting of the Hastings interscholastic meet and a string of trophies are up for dispute this year. The Hasings compet this year is offering a trophy this year for the second place team as well as champion. Another new wrinkle is a trophy to the team placing the most men. A large entry list assures a successful meet.

Two Classes at Kearney.

The Kearney Normal invitation meet is divided into two classes, with an additional relay for junior highs. A list of thirty-five schools competed last year and the roster this week is expected to go over this mark. The trophy awards include seventy-five medals, five large trophy cups for teams and one for the high point winner.

Southwest Nebraska teams will gather at McCook for the annual Tri-State meet at McCook, which also will include teams from Colorado and Kansas.

Northeast tracksters will divide their attention between the East Central conference meet at Walthill Wednesday and the northeast Nebraska meet at Wayne Normal Saturday. The Walthill meet promises to be of unusual interest this year, with a majority of the conference records in danger.

Head-Liner at Beatrice.

One of the headline meets of the week will be the southeast Nebraska carnival at Beatrice. Entrance of Tecumseh and Crete in the Beatrice affair, along with Beatrice and Fairbury, provides that all points will be keenly contested. Those in charge of the southeast meet have been assured of a record entry list.

The H-I-N-K meet at Peru Normal is another big affair for southeast Nebraska teams, the invitation meet also drawings from Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

The Greater Lincoln league meet will absorb the attention of capitol city teams.

NEW YORK, April 28—(I. N. S.)—Quizzed about the possibility of Tom Heeney and Jack Dempsey meeting next September in the event that Heeney defeats Gene Tunney, Tex Rickard today expressed the opinion that it was not feasible.

Anyway, I wouldn't want to promote two title fights so close together. Next year, maybe, but if Dempsey din't fight this year he will be washed up."

McLaughlin of Pennsylvania, elbowed off the track at the last turn, recovered in time to bring his team home i nthird place in the corrected standing. Pennsylvania led all the way until this point.

HIGH RATING IS GIVEN CHRYSLER

Goverment Tests Show Exceptionally Low Operating Cost.

Performance During 14 Months Trial Period Very Successful.

It has recently been learned from authoritative sources, according to Murphy Motor Co., that exhaustive tests just completed by the Motor transport division of the United States army have resulted in an exceptionally highrating for Chrysler cars in performance, economy and durability.

The tests have been under way for about fourteen months. During this time two Chrysler touring cars of the "50" and "60" models have been driven day after day in all kinds of weather and over every kind of road by various drivers who were mostly private soldiers in the army, and none of whom had any especial familiarity with Chryslers. In the entire period of fourteen months each car covered a total distance of 30,000 miles.

Advices reaching the Chrysler corporation state that itemized charges for all expenses during the fourteen months test, including fuel, oil labor, parts, tires and depreciation, resulted in a total cost per car mile of less than three and a half cents for the model "50" and under three and nine-tenths cents for the model "60."

Army engineers at Camp Holabird, Md., kept a painstaking close check of the performance of the two cars throughout the entire trial. Each car was charged with all operating expenses and depreciation according to fixed schedules laid down by the government for application to all cars tested. At the end of 15,000 and 30,000 miles the cars were torn down and inspected and the cost of these two minute inspections of every part was included in operating expense under the heading of labor.

Unofficial information received by the Chrysler corporation is to the effect that army officers who supervised the test express much enthusiasm over the showing made by the two Chryslers and regard the operation figures as remarkable, as they were lower than those shown by any other cars that have undergone the test, either four or six cylinder. It is also reported that throughout the entire fourteen months of exposure to severe weather, highway and driving conditions the Chryslers have never failed to function faultlessly and after being torn down for inspection and reassembled they ran as smoothly as ever in spite of the rough usage to which they had been subjected.

The test was made largely in cross-country army maneuvers over all kinds of roads and at time, no roads.

AUTO NOTES

In keeping check on the condition of the battery, it is well to remember that an amperage of 100 is used when starting under ordinary circumstances.

Constant "riding of the clutch" ultimately renders the gripping action of the discs practically useless.

If the car is to be driven at high speeds for a long period, slightly higher tire pressure will be beneficial.

Check over the tool kit occasionally to see if the important tools are there and in good condition.

A BIG DEMAND FOR WHIPPETS

Five Passenger Coach An Especially Popular Model.

With prices on the Whippet models reduced to the lowest range in Willys-Overland history, the demand for these flashy light 4-cylinder cars continues unabated, according to Willys-Overland sales executives.

Although there is a heavy demand for all Whippet models, the perfected Whippet Coach, a 5-passenger model, ranks as one of the outstanding favorites with mortor car buyers.

The front of the 1928 Whippet Coach presents a decidedly new appearance through the adoption of the abrupt or town car type of sun visor in place of the longer type which was formed by a continuation of the roof lines. The new visor, in addition to providing a wider range of vision, imparts a smart military effect to the cowl section of the car.

Fully Equipped.

Following the style set by the Willys-Knight group, the Whippet Coach is also equipped with full crowned fenders, contrasting window reveals and remote door controls. The new type fenders add a touch of smartness to the sweeping lines of the cars.

An automatic windshield wiper, stop light and rear view mirror have been added to the 1928 Whippet models as standard equipment.

Has Won Reputation.

The Whippet Coach, like other cars of this line, has won a distinctive reputation for speed, power, stamina, fuel economy, comfortable riding qualities, safety and utmost reliability in the 20 months it has been on the market. It was the first car in the light four cylinder field to set a new and definite trend toward the Whippet type of construction. Many of the features first introduced in this price class by the Whippet, such as four-wheel brakes, low center of gravity, generous leg room, speed, power and fuel economy, have since become recognized by the public and other manufacturers as being necessary to the modern car.

It is pointed out, however, that many other features are still exclusive to the Whippet which have led automotive experts to declare that the Whippet embraces such inbuilt qualities that it is accorded the quality leadership in that price field. These features include an engine that more than doubles its rated horsepower, heavy drilled crankshaft with full force feed lubrication and proved stamina and serviceability over a period of nearly two years.

The Whippet Coach amply accommodates five passengers, two in the individual front seats, and three in the spacious rear seat. The front seats fold forward, and in conjunction with the wide doors provides easy entrance and exit to and from the rear compartment.

NEW OAKLAND PLANT OPENED

Thousands Visit Factory at Pontiac, Mich., During Open House.

PONTIAC, Mich., April 28—The growing interest of the public in things automotive was illustrated last week when many thousands of out of town visitors joined the local residents in attendance at the three day open house celebration staged by the Oakland Motor Car company.

Checkers stationed at the factory doors revealed that the number of visitors during the three days was 60,893, while several thousand gained admittance through other entrances.

The open house celebration, which was held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, had as its principal object a formal observance of the completion of a $3,000,000 factory addition. The new units—a complete assembly building for the Oakland All-American Six and an extensive addition to the factory shipping building—increase the plant floor space by 580,191 square feet. The Pontiac Six and the Oakland Six now are being manufactured in two new and modern factories equipped with every latest device for assuring maximum precision and large production.

See Factory Running.

According to A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company, there were two other reasons for holding the open house celebration. One was to give the families of the thousands of factory employes an opportunity to see them working under the ideal conditions which the new factories afford. Another reason was to show the public all operations of a modern automobile factory running at full speed and with every process fully explained. The processes were made intelligible to the visitors by huge placards displayed on the various machines.

The factories operated from 1 p. m. until 10 p. m. instead of the usual hours, brilliant flood lighting during the evenings making the building interiors and approaches an unusual spectacle.

The open house celebration, under the active direction of Gordon Lefebvre, vice president in charge of operations, was conducted with all the precision and method which characterizes the operation of the factories themselves. Arrows throughout the plants guided the visitors from one placarded machine to another. At the conclusion of the factory tour, the guests were possessed of a complete chronological picture of the building of a motor car. Ample precautions were taken to assure the safety of the visitors. Sufficient material supply was placed near each machine to keep it running throughout the nine-hour period. This rendered unnecessary the passage of electric "mules" through the factory aisles.

The exhibits were grouped near the dance floor which the guests reached upon completing the factory tour. The floor, a portion of the new shipping building contained 40,00 square feet of space for dancing t the music of a 15-piece orchestr The orchestra music was broadca ed by radio each night.

Engine Noises and Their Causes.

If a pound in the engine is regular and continuous, it is likely to be from lost motion in the bearings. If it is irregular and occasional, it is more likely to be due to pre-ignition caused by incandescent carbon or imperfect connections. If the pounding is accompanied by occasional missing especially if the missing is more frequent when the engine is idling, it is more apt to be due to imperfect electrical connections.

The one great outstanding fact in automobiles today is that, while practically every car that runs is patterned after Chrysler—the Illustrious "72" continues to romp away from and around them all in every phase of performance that makes motoring a pleasure. Which can and does mean only one thing, of course—that since it can quickly be proven that Chrysler "72" excels every car which seeks to compete with it without a single exception, it unmistakably gives the greatest monetary and performance return which exists in the world motor-car market today.

May, With Its Implied Promise Of Radiant, Enjoyable Weather, To Be Month of Many Weddings

APRIL has at last finished packing her rain clouds and chill breezes, and is almost ready to depart, leaving her place reluctantly to a radiant, smiling May, who blithely agrees to keep all of the promises tempestuous April has made. There are to be trees literally covered with soft green leaves, there are to be green shrubs, and warm, sunny south-winds that may, with a little urging, bring back some of the lilacs and garden blossoms April so ruthlessly destroyed.

And best of all there are to be brides — May dotes on brides. No doubt she will be her most beaming self throughout her entire visit, so that no clouds may darken the horizon of any lovely wedding day, for the brides have chosen early and in-between and late May for their weddings.

TODAY comes the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Sarah Dorothy Krettner of London, Ontario, to Dr. Harold Smith Morgan of Ann Arbor, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Morgan of 1409 E street, Lincoln, and nephew of A. J. Smith, and Miss Annie Smith, 831 South Fifteenth street.

SOCIETY PEOPLE In The PICTURES

The usually drab interim between the closing of the winter season and the formal opening of the summer's activities has been more than socially colorful this year, and even the last week before the opening of the Country club, promises to have its quota of affairs. However, with May in the offing, the social outlook is even brighter than ever, with attractive brides, and guests as an added incentive.

Youth's "Revolt" Evidenced By Sport Clothes at House Dance

In the last generation, when a group of young people planned a party, their idea of a gala event was to dress up in dainty ruffles and flounces, fancy waistcoats, knee breeches, and brilliant buckles on their shoes. That was to be expected, for the girls of that age were still at the unassuming period, when it was not considered ladylike to be able to do anything violent, even as much as a fast fox trot.

Today things have changed. Now and then, for a diversion, a costume party is a novelty, but as a regular thing it would prove very tiresome. As a better exponent of the carefree modern life, the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity held a "sport" party Saturday evening at the chapter house. The sport idea was carried out in every detail, the decorations, refreshments, and even the guest's costumes.

The invitations, printed in green on white cards, were much like the spring opening of a Country club. All kinds of sport suggestions were placed throughout the house. Tennis rackets and balls, golf sticks, tennis nets, oars, paddles, and other similar things, made the fraternity house look like a most popular country club at the height of its season. In addition to this, vari-colored streamers formed a low ceiling.

Knickers And Sport Blazers.

The boys wore sport clothes, either knickers with bright sweaters, matching socks, and sport shoes, or white flannels, with dark coats or brightened by gay colored sport blazers. The girls had more room for originality in their choice of costume.

Ruth Baker wore an attractive sport outfit, a white skirt with a knitted Slovakian jacket of a mixture of colors. Black slippers, light hose, and a white serge coat as a wrap completed her costume. Frances Farrens appeared in a black and white sweater and skirt suit of a silk mixture. She wore no hat.

Betty Myers chose an attractive combination of a white-pleated skirt and a many-toned sweater with green predominating. With this she wore a small green felt hat. Nyle Speiler's outfit was a cream colored pleated skirt, a red-tailored jacket, and a cream felt sport hat, worn with light hose and dark slippers.

Red and White Ensemble.

A two-piece polka dot sport suit of crepe de chine was worn by Lorraine Landstrom. The suit was trimmed in white, and a pleated trimming on one side of the skirt completed it. Marian Lowe also decided upon red and white. She wore a red-and-white knitted ensemble, the dress trimmed in red, and the full length red coat trimmed in white. With this she wore a smart red straw hat.

Mary Ellen Fisher wore a white-pleated skirt with a sport slip on sweater in a soft blue. A bandana in harmonizing tones completed her costume. Maude Harriet Weaver was dressed in a pale blue gray sweater, a blue pleated skirt, and wore gray hose and slippers. Her hat was of gray ribbon, made in a sport style.

Doris Hosman's outfit, of a white-pleated skirt with a white Slovakian sweater, heavily embroidered in pale pink, was very smart. With this she wore a white crushed sport hat, and a white sport coat as a wrap. Eleanor Kearn wore a white flannel skirt and sweater, and a brightly colored jacket.

MEMBERS NEEDLEWORK GUILD TO CONENTION.

The Lincoln branch of The Needlework Guild of America, although comparatively new, will have representatives at the national meeting to be held in Kansas City, May 3, 4 and 5. Mrs. Eugene Levy and Mrs. H. Taylor Wilson are planning to attend the three day session at Hotel Muehlebach.

The Lincoln branch was organized last August and at the first annual gathering of donations in October, more than 800 new garments were distributed among local organizations doing charity work.

The local branch is seeking to enlarge its membership and extend its usefulness to a marked degree before next October. There are no dues, fines or fees. All that is required to become a member is to contribute two or more new articles of wearing apparel or household linen, or a donation of money. Men, women and children may join. Anyone interested is asked to get in touch with one of the officers. They are; Mrs. T. J. Doyle, honorary president; Mrs. A. H. Bennell, president; Miss Helen Tuttle, first vice president; Mrs. Robert McKee, second vice president; Mrs. H. C. Luckey, third vice president; Mrs. Eugene Levi, fourth vice president; Mrs. E. E. Smith, secretary; Mrs. C. DeVriendt, assistant secretary; Mrs. R. C. McMillen, treasurer.

Collection of garments will again be made in October and be distributed through local organizations to those in need. The needlework guild is non-sectarian and interferes in no way with the work of any other society. Stress is put upon the word "new" as the needlework Guild of America accept only new garments or articles. Workers among the needy claim that a moral influence is exerted by new garments.

The national president is Mrs. Thomas J. Preston (formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland) who will preside at all sessions of the convention. The founder, Mrs. John Wood Stewart of Philadelphia, will be on the program.

The needlework guild originated in England many years ago. The Queen is the president of the London guild. In 1885, a lady traveling in England learned of this charity, which had grown to great strength and brought the idea home to Philadelphia. Her niece, the founder of the American organization interested a few young women of her acquaintance, and from this little band the work has grown, until now there is a national body governing the branches throughout the United States. The work has reached more extensive proportions in the east.

The by-laws governing the national body, require that the annual meeting be held in Philadelphia, where the national office is located, every second year. Not often has it been brought to this section of the country, and its coming will, no doubt, stimulate interest in the middle west.

Social features will be a luncheon the first day for all official delegates, a musicale and reception the first evening and a complimentary drive and tea at the new Country club on Saturday afternoon following adjournment.

The Lincoln delegates will return home Sunday morning.

FAMILY MUSIC FEATURE NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK.

The national music committee has decided to feature family music during national music week. Following are some of the suggestions sent out..

With the slogan, "More music at home—sing, play and be happy," a feature will be made of family music making in the national music week, May 6-12. In the larger towns a "Home Night" is being suggested for general observance. In the rural sections the plan may be adjusted to the local conditions by making much of the observance consist of informal musical occasions in the various homes.

The objective behind these proposals is indicated by a pamphlet entitled, "Home Night in National Music Week," which has the subtitle, "And Music Night in the Home Every Week." This pamphlet is to be obtained without charge from the the national music week committee, 45 West Forty-fifth street., New York City. The purpose of the home programs and the music week movement is that to a greater extent every week may be music week throughout the country.

"Among the activities suggested for music week in the home are group singing, family instrumental ensembles, the learning of new instruments, the inviting of neighbors to listening hours over the radio, the interchange of records for special phonograph programs, musical games, simplified music memory contests, the toy symphony or rhythm orchestra, a check-up on the condition of the musical instruments in the home and a linking of the parents with their children's music study.

Special plans described in the booklet are those for a home sing by radio and for programs in the homes by rotating groups of local talent. The leaflet contains a bibliography of material that will help rural families to carry out any of these activities.

During the coming music week a feature is to be made of American music. As applied to rural sections, this calls especially for the use of American hymns and our songs of the people. Interesting material on these is found in "Hymns Composed by Americans" and "Stories of America's Songs," to be obtained without charge from the national music week committee.

SUGGESTIONS GIVEN FOR MUSIC WEEK.

Mrs. E. H. Westcott of Plattsmouth, state chairman of music, Federation of Women's clubs, urges the keeping of music week in the suggestions below:

Music week occurs May 6 to 12 inclusive for the year 1928. Every community is urged to observe this week of music in a way best fitted to its individual needs. Family music is to be featured—"More Music at Home—Sing, Play and be Happy" is the slogan.

The stressing of "American music that Americans Should Know" is another important point to observe.

Folk songs—Indian music—hymns by American composers — these should be included on programs.

Have your mayor issue a proclamation calling attention to music week.

Sacred concerts, band concerts on the streets, recitals, radio teas, community sings, any or all of these suggestions may be used. Lets make Nebraska 100 per cent in this project. Let every rural school teacher prepare at least one program for the patrons, and with the help of the patrons, that this week of melody may reach to every corner of Nebraska—"Music for Everybody, Everybody for Music."

Lincoln's Elite Eagerly Awaiting Club Openings

Country Club Will Usher In Summer Season Saturday With Numerous Enjoyable Dinner and Dancing Parties, While Two-Day Opening On May 18 and 19 Is Being Planned at Eastridge.

May promises much. Moonlight, spring flowers, new frocks, and club openings.

The greens have been conditioned for the golfers. The dance floor waxed for those who take their mileage to music, the windows have been washed, the corners painted, and the upholstries vacuumed. All that remains is the formal invitation to come out to see.

Eastridge Country club has its summer opening May 18 and 19. Two nights of dinner and dancing. Two nights of sitting on the wide club veranda—provided winter has gone bon voyaging by that time— and wandering up the slope to gaze on the countryside.

Country Club Opens Saturday.

But the Lincoln Country club, perhaps more optimistic, is to formally open its summer season next Saturday evening, when Lincoln's socially elite will dine and dance in small groups and in large ones, individual parties and no-host affairs.

So far, definite arrangements have not been made in the majority of instances, although everyone seems to be planning to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ames, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Miles, Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Teal, Mr. and Mrs. F. M Sanders, and several others are planning to have a no-host party, but the list is not complete. In a no-host group, also will be Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Flansburg, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lawrence, and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Traphagen.

Dr. and Mrs. Clayton Andrews will will preside at a dinner for twelve the night of the opening, and their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Verne Hedge, Mr and Mrs. C. W. Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bumstead, Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Waugh.

The military crowd also pleads guilty to indefinite plans, but thinks that there are possibilities of a large-no-host group.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Chubb have arranged for a small dinner to which twelve guests have been invited.

George Swingle has reservations for a small group, and Charles Stuart, jr., is also to be host to a number of guests.

The tables are to be gay with spring flowers and lighted tapers, and no doubt there will be favors and other lovely appointments that go to make a gala affair.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Lyman have issued invitations for a dinner to be held at the club on the opening night.

The SHOPPER

Just a Peek

IN at the cozy little dressmaking shop called Neville Dressmaking Service, at 325 Sharp building, was enough to convince me that whoever planned that shop and all its clever curtains and cushions had enough ingenuity to create anything in needlework. I found, to my agreeable surprise, that it's a new shop of Mrs. Ada Westfall. She's established herself downtown for your convenience. And, say, how nice it is to have tasty, made-to-fit dresses for the class day and graduation time—to say nothing of the coming bride's trousseau. She certainly has the art of sewing for school girls—those exquisite touches of style and clever fits are just what everyone wants. B4235.

My! We Can Almost

CONSIDER Lincoln a big, big city since one of the famous J. C. Penny stores has located here. I attended their opening Friday and, you know, they have a fine department store just brimming over with lovely fresh merchandise at prices that are unbelievably low. The main floor accommodates men's furnishings, lingerie, hosiery, notions, linens, laces etc. The baloony has house dresses, yard goods, etc., while the whole second floor is given over to ready-to-wear for ladies and children. Where, if any place, for instance, can you buy a charming tuscan braid hat for a little girl at only 98c? You'll venture to say impossible, and yet I saw loads of them at Penny's for that price. Then, too, there are just racks and racks of beautiful afternoon and evening springtime frocks for the co-ed selling at equally low prices. Too alluring for words are these. Yes, indeed, you'll be most stylishly dressed at the school year's festivities if your frock is from Penney's.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Fear Of Finding Our Own Faults In Others Makes Us Cruel And Unjust — Could A Girl Honorably "Blackmail" Her Mother To Gain Just Consideration?

Our Own Weakness.

Isn't it queer that we always suspect the Other Fellow of possessing our most troublesome weakness?

If we lie and evade, we think others do. If we'd put over a crooked deal we watch everyone with whom we have business dealings.

If we've stepped from the straight and narrow, we're apt to gaze with suspicious eyes at every boy and girl out together unchaperoned.

And when the element of protection enters this mental state, when we feel that we must keep those near and dear to us from committing our fatal mistakes, fear enters. This fear makes us cruel and unjust.

Instead of sanely thinking it out and working to make our loved ones strong where we were weak, we try to protect them by making them watchful and suspicious.

The result is tragic, but here is a girl whose mind has escaped the net of suspicion cast around it. Her outlook is clear. Instead of fearing men her interest is normal. Her view is so tolerant that she knows that her own actions alone can harm her character. Yet she contemplates "blackmail."

No, don't hold up your hands in horror. She is looking this way and that to find a way out of her trouble, and telling her mother that she holds the secret of her unfair attitude toward life, may help.

What do you think? Has "May" the right to bring her mother's past to light? Has a girl the right to say, "It is because you were weak that you suspect me of weakness?"

This question is placed squarely before us and I don't know the answer:

Dear Minerva: With all the rest of Nebraska, I am coming to you with my problem. And it is a strange one. Daily I have read in your Mails—shall I confess my past? Or do you think The Boy would love me if he knew? Or, how can I make my mother see that I am old enough to go out with boys? But never quite the thing that is bothering me.

I am nineteen years old and working. I am telling you this first so you won't think me fourteen or fifteen when I tell you that I can't have boys visit me at home, nor can I go out with them to shows or parties. My mother says that I must leave if I have anything to do with men. I don't want to do that for two reasons. I'm sort of a home girl, and second, I don't make enough to support myself decently if I had to pay the usual room and board.

At home I help with the Saturday cleaning on my one afternoon off a week, and Sundays I do my own washing and ironing and help with the dishes, so, you see, I help out besides paying all that I can afford to my mother for my living expenses. Of course, I help evenings around the house as well.

But a little male company to dinner or an evening, or an innocent outing—I simply am not allowed to enjoy. And Minerva, quite by accident six months ago, I think I found the reason. I was born about five months after my mother and father were married and they were divorced before I was a year old. My mother stepped from the straight and narrow, and she is afraid I will do the same. Can't you see her fear? Just because she was weak she thinks that I am, too, and that I couldn't go to a show and come home a good girl. How absurd.

There is a young chap who works in another office in the same building where I "labor," and he has asked to come and see me. I like him. He is good looking, apparently not in the least wild, and has asked to take me out. And what do I have to say—I, a nineteen-year old woman, that "I can't go." I'd actually lose my home if I went with him.

I am working hard and have had a promise of advancement in my office, which will mean more pay. When I've earned that, I will leave home, but in the meantime I must lose a friend I like, give up parties and fun, just because my mother is afraid I haven't any backbone.

I have no bitterness about the record of my birth. It just happened, and far be it from me to think myself less clean or fine than I make myself to be. But the thought has come into my mind that I can blackmail my mother into allowing me to have a normal life.

She harps on man's low character, on his deceit, on his continual hunt for girls to ruin, and other such rot, until I nearly go mad. Of course, I didn't use to know why. But now I do, and why shouldn't I tell mother that I know about her misstep and force her to let me live in the same sort of clean home atmosphere other girls enjoy?

I used the word "blackmail" because I would be holding her secret over her head to get my rights. But should I? She has made me miserable enough by her tirades against men and her refusal to allow a single boy friend to ever call on me. Shouldn't I force the issue? I never will be able to do it without letting her know that I know the secret of my birth.

Have I this right, Minerva? MAY.

A. As I said, I don't know the answer, and I want to hear from our readers. But I feel that I would hesitate a long time before betraying to my mother the knowledge of her secret, if I were this daughter. In the extremity of her abnormal confinement, however, I don't know what I would do. It seems to me that a very frank talk, without personalities, of the ability of the modern girl to hold her own as compared with the ignorant girl of yesterday, might turn the trick. The girl has a right to her independence; that is certain. It is not fair for her to be made to suffer for her mother's mistake. And, if the mother could but realize it, she is endangering her daughter more through the rigid restrictions she imposes than she would in allowing her the normal companionship of her youthful friends.

Letter From "Jack."

Dear Minerva: There is a certain type of rich man who looks with contempt upon every poor fellow. He regards all those who have not accumulated a competency as failures often forgetting that many a so-called "failure" could and would have been a success if he had not made sacrifices for others such as remaining at uncongenial, poor-paying work in order to support aged or infirm parents, to help educate younger brothers and sisters and do other praise-worthy deeds instead of casting his obligations to the winds and stepping out and helping himself to the plums of life, as some do.

It is equally true that there is a type of poor man who envies the boys who have made a success of life and who regards everyone who has done well as dishonest and a crook and a few years ago a millionaire soap manufacturer added fuel to the fire by declaring that no man could possibly make a million dollars and do it honestly. However, there has never been anything to show that he was at all anxious to part with any of his millions. Ignorance and inconsistency are the keynotes of such arguments as were the dry arguments of "Reformer" and "Another Reformer" recently published on this page. The former tells us that the manufacturers of liquor, or rather the erstwhile manufacturers, are spending huge sums of money to overthrow prohibition so that they can return to their former business and make a lot of money out of it and that they are the only ones who are dissatisfied with prohibition. In all arguments it is just as well to try and keep somewhere within the realm of possibility and common sense as well as to remember that one's personal opinions do not always represent the sentiment's of other people who are perfectly capable of thinking for themselves. The majority of the former manufacturers of spirits are not spending either big or little sums to overthrow prohibition for one of the best of reasons: for eight years their plants have been shut down and nonproducing and they haven't the money to spend and there are many people like the writer who never manufactured, or sold liquor or even drank much of it who doubted the wisdom of trying to enforce absolute prohibition and who after watching the experiment for eight years have seen nothing in the body and soul-corrupting mess to cause them to change their mind and think more highly of it.

We have read upon this page that prohibition should not be condemned simply because some people refuse to obey it any more than the laws against murder should be condemned simply because there are people who persist in committing murder. Such piffle is nauseating to say the least for it is patent to every thinking person that there really is a difference between something that is always wrong except in self-defense and something that is only wrong when carried to excess and which many people never carried to excess. There is nothing wrong in driving one's automobile at a reasonable speed but it is wrong to drive extremely fast, yet that is the way most people drive, but for all that, we are not going to abolish automobiles simply because many people do not handle them right. I can now hear the anvil chorus sing: "But if we didn't have prohibition, look how many more accidents there would be." I'm not so sure about that. The streets of Paris, London, Havana are as full of automobiles as are those of any American city though they are not so numerous in the provinces and those cities do not have an abnormally high rate of automobile accidents and not one of them knows the meaning of the word: prohibition. Canada does not have prohibition and automobile disasters are not particularly numerous in the Dominion and there are many cars there too; in fact the disaster ratio is less than it is in the U. S. A. This accident talk is merely prohibition propaganda manufactured to delude gullible Mid-Western dries who never wander far enough outside the corn belt to learn what really is going on in the world, like the speech recently made before congress by a Florida politician who claimed that his state "Is as dry as the Sahara Desert." If the state of Florida is as dry as the Sahara Desert, then the Sahara Desert is as wet as the Atlantic ocean. Steaming out of the harbor of Key West enroute to Havana you usually see smoke upon the horizon. After a little more than an hour's sailing you find what it is all about as you pass the rum flotilla laying off the Florida Keys, usually several large ships with a whole genavey of fast little motor boats taking on their cargoes and awaiting night fall to run to the mainland and the Penninsula state with its nearly twelve-hundred miles fo coast line broken by many rivers dotted with innumerable islands nad nearly all a mass of everglades and densely wooded offers the boys of the bootleg fraternity abundant landing and hiding places.

I know what I have seen with my own eyes. A few weeks ago in Chicago I awoke rather late one Sunday morning and went down to breakfast about ten-thirty. As I closed my bedroom door behind me and stepped into the hall I met one of the hotel boys dragging a wicker basket fastened on a little cart down the hall. This basket was about twice the size of the average clothes basket and was chuck full of miscellaneous assortment of empty bottles and mutilated corks. Many of the containers held a few spoonsful of brownish colored liquid and the aroma arising from the cargo told about what their contents had been. "Somebody been staging a party?" I asked, "Nope, usual cleanup business. Look behind you" was the laconic reply and turning I beheld another man dragging another load of "dead soldiers." The hotel had more than twenty floors and I have no reason for supposing that the one I was on was any wetter than any of the rest of them.

If prohibition was a good thing it would have been self evident long ago but it has proven to be a very terrible mistake and it ought to be laid away and something better offered in its place. It has had a fair trial and has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. If you doubt that read the letter of "Another Reformer", printed on this page on Thursday March 22nd, 1928. After telling us that you couldn't get liquor any more and what a grand success the dry law was and all that, in next to the last paragraph we find this statement: "The men who want booze badly do not care much wheth er the country remains dry or wet; they can make their own or get it from friends," which is true enough, it may be manufactured at home or purchased elsewhere as desired, which contradicts that writer's former statements and is an amazingly naive admission, even for a prohibitionist. Something like the mixed statements of the Chicago preachers. Some of them have been praying and asking others to pray for the soul of the city while one of their number recently announced that Chicago was the center of religious activities of the Nation and still another recently said: "Jesus Christ is here and He is a Prohibitionist." It may be that The Almighty has found the allurements of Chicago so enticing that he has decended from High Heaven and taken up His abode in the big town beside Lake Michigan but I'm inclined to doubt it. There does not seem to be much evidence of it. As to His being a prohibitionist you can easily set yourselves right on that by reading the New Testament, especially St. Matthew and St. Luke.

Down in Alabama a few weeks ago a Gentleman of Cloth became eloquent and chose as the theme for his sermon: "Jesus Christ, sick and vomiting." Beautiful theme wasn't it? The sermon was nothing more nor less than a tirade against our popular hero: the young flier: Charles Lindbergh. The minister said that the people of the United States had no God now but Lindbergh, they had turned their backs upon the true God and were worshiping a wicked young man who had drank a glass of champagne in Paris and who had smoked a cigarette in St. Louis or somewhere quite overlooking the fact that his native Alabama is one of the chief sources of supply for the makings of cigarettes. Take the tobacco crop away from Alabama and its people would not have much to rely on for a living. He also panned "Lindy" for not being satisfied to stay on earth; said he insulted God by trying to fly to Heaven even as the men of Babylon had tried to build a tower there, accused him of trying to stir up another war by flying to different countries and made all sorts of silly untruthful remarks winding up by telling his congregation that if they did not stop worshiping "Lindy" that they might soon expect a rain of thunderbolts from heaven. But then, I should not be too hard on the poor fellow. Some people can not help being inconsistent; its been a human trait for centuries. There was King Solomon who said that Gloom was preferable to pleasure and who then reconsidered the matter and remarked: "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine, but a broken spirit drieth the bones." And there was St. Paul who said he would neither eat meat or drink wine if it caused his brother to stumble but who later either suffered a lapse of memory or changed his mind and advised Brother Timothy to "Take a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thy oft infirmities." All of which brings me to "Ardent" who recently misquoted herself and who once told me in these words: "I guessed St. Paul was a little bit prejudiced when he said that," i. e: that bachelors were all O. K.

She merely drags the old baptism subject in so as to give her a chance to make another one of her virtulent attacks upon "Roger", a man who mentally and morally and every other way is so far her superior that to write his name in the same paragraph with hers is little more than a sacrilege. It is unfortunate that a sharp-tongued woman does not always think before she speaks but I suppose we should be charitable with "Ardent" for according to her own tell she has seen much of the sorrowful side of life, but so have most of us. The fates have been kind to few and I've had my share of trouble but I have not permitted it to embitter me.

As to immersion, we all know that "Roger" was again right when he said it was but part of "The meaningless form and empty ritual of an earthly church." It has and can have no saving grace whatsoever. It is harmless and is alright if one desires to be baptised that way but baptism that way or any other way for that matter is nonessential. Most of us have known pious old brothers and sisters who had been thoroughly soaked who gossiped and caused all sorts of trouble and who oppressed the poor. All churches are full of them and if "Ardent" will but look around her I'm sure she will find some among her own congregation. If she can not find any, it must be a very unusual church.

As to baptism, it has long been discussed threadbare but I will say that on the walls of the Patti Palace in Florence, Italy there hangs a picture of the Baptism of Jesus painted by an artist of the Fourteenth Century. It is very interesting to note that Jesus is pictured standing in the River Jordan about ankle deep while John the Baptist also standing in the water ankle deep is pouring water over The Master's head from a small pitcher which water had evidently just been dipped up for the purpose. The clothing on both of the figures is not wet and clinging appearing but looks dry and it is quite evident that neither of the figures have been under water. I have seen a number of pictures of the baptism of our Lord in the art galleries of the world and do not recall a single instance where the artist has depicted the scene as an immersion though that may have been the way it took place; we do not know and it is a matter of no consequence one way or the other. No doubt "Ardent" will arise in her wrath and tell us that artists like musicians and travelling men are a degenerate lot who know but little and therefore are not to be taken seriously, but after all, that will be merely Ardent's opinion and we leave the matter there for the dear lady is entitled to her opinions even as the rest of us are entitled to ours.

In closing I want to say a few words to the young American whose Chinese friend is in love with and wants to marry an American girl. By all means do everything in your power to discourage the marriage and avert a great tragedy. It is alright for you and the young Chinaman who is educated and refined to be such good friends; I am glad you are. All men are brothers but with reservations. It is alright for the various branches of the white race to marry. I know of a young Greek who married an Irish girl. He has a good business; they have a beautiful little girl and a happy home, but for the white race to marry into the yellow, the red or the black races, it always spells tragedy, grim and stark. What of the children born of such unions? They are neither white or yellow or red or black as the case may be; they are outcasts, halfbreeds, loathed and despised by both the husband's and the wife's people. If you could go down in New Orleans where live the high class Creoles, and Qudaroons, the Octaroones, the pure blacks and the "Po White Trash" and all the mixtures in between you would speedily come to a realization of the horror of it all and you would never so much as turn a finger towards encouraging the union of the American girl and the Chinese boy. Out in San Francisco which has the largest Chinese settlement in America there has been some marriages such as your friend contemplates and I never knew one that did not terminate in sorrow and dispair. They say there are exceptions to all rules and here and there may be one to this rule but I never heard of any.

Many years ago that master of the screen: D. W. Griffith produced Broken Blossoms a picture based on this theme but even there death and tragedy stalked the film though there were a few high lights in the love of the blind white girl and the Chinese youth.

One more example: take a look at Mexico where the early Spanish conquerors mingled their blood with that of the native Indian stock and note the result: a wretched, degenerate race, groping in the dark and exploited for centuries and with nothing but centuries of sorrow ahead of it.

If you really are a friend to this young man and want to help him and you are a Christian at heart take the advice of one who has had the opportunity to observe much of life and urge him to immediately stop seeing the young woman or writing to her. The only way to break off is to break off entirely; no half way methods will suffice. Otherwise, I can see nothing but regrets, remorse and the utmost misery for all concerned.—JACK.

Atlanta, Ga.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was a girl about 14 years old, when I was just entering womanhood. Then after I married, I took more of it. During the time before my baby was born this medicine gave me splendid results. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation also and recommend these medicines to my friends and will answer letters asking about them."—Mrs. Gladys Rogers, Route 5, Grand Avenue, Atlanta, Georgia.

A Lot Better By Taking It

Trafford, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I could not eat a thing. I had no appetite whatever and never felt good. I was talking to my friend one day and she passed the remark of how thin I was getting since I got married and I told her my trouble and she advised me to take the Vegetable Compound. I feel a lot better now since I have been taking it regularly and I can eat most anything. I recommend your medicine to anyone who tells me of troubles like my own, for I know what it has done for me. I have also used your Sanative Wash. WHEN the Boone county club boys decide to do something, they do it.

They're champions now, with the proper reward of champions, but they weren't winners in the beginning.

In fact, in those first days when they wanted to be cattle judges, they were rather mediocre. They were amateurs, without any background of experience of their own or of observation, and they didn't rate very high.

That indifferent placing determined the boys to climb to the top, being as they had the right sort of ambition and perseverance in them. They put into use a little of the try, try again idea, with most satisfactory results. They laugh now at the first trial of theirs, but they admit that it helped to put them where they are today. The boys went home, realizing that they needed more study and practice, if they were to bring home the ribbons. They, and those who followed, did not deviate from the thought.

Won National Championship.

The plan appears to have worked. Albion boys composed the 4-H national champion dairy judging team at Memphis last summer.

And now the boys are going to England for the international judging contest with England in July.

Many people have gone to England with many purposes. Few have ever gone from Nebraska with more honor, and none so young as the three Boone county boys, who have worked for their distinction, but take it so calmly and quietly. They grin about their failures, but they are the soberest sort of souls about their successes.

Joe King, Jesse Bilyeu, and Russell D. Hughes form the triumvirate who won out. They are the three members of the Boone county dairy judging team, winners of the Boys' and Girls 4-H club judging contest at Memphis, which for the first time will represent Nebraska in this international contest. Joe and Jesse come from Albion and are seniors in the high school there. Russell graduated in 1926, and lives at Boone.

Girardot Is Coach.

The boys are students in the vocational agriculture classes, sponsored by the Smith-Hughes method. C. C. Girardot, vocational agriculture teacher in the Albion high school, is their coach, and has been for the last three years.

Mr. Girardot is a graduate of the university college of agriculture, where he was a member of the judging team. He has taught at Friend, and is now in Albion. Mr. Girardot has a good bit of fire in his own personality, and is able to enthuse the boys, so that they go into every contest with the belief that they can win, which keeps them on their toes every instant.

The Boone boys go in a county where the leadership is in the hands of the people. The leaders are volunteer workers who give of their time and their experience that the youngsters may have an adequate idea of the methods, the requirements, the compensations, and the values of and in the soil. It is their way of interesting their young folks in the farm, and in making them appreciate the real joy in the work of the land. Boone has no county agent, and the men and women have voluntarily maintained the clubs.

Sail In June.

The team, with Mr. Girardot and M. L. Flack, extension specialist in dairying, leaves Lincoln early in June, going a little judging on the way east, and sails about the middle of the month. The international contest will be held at Wye, Kent, July 3.

It is costing about $3,000 for this first expedition of Nebraska boys to the English contest. Boone county is raising one-third, the dairy interests, including the producers, manufacturers, and cow testing associations another third, and the civic clubs, business interests, and individuals the final third. Boone county has no doubt of raising its quota, and it is felt the other interests will do their share to send the boys across the water.

The members of the committee to raise the funds include L. H. Daft, president of the Nebraska Dairymen's association, Lincoln; A. W. Lamb, vice president of the state board of agriculture, Albion; and T. A. Leadley of the Nebraska Farmer, Lincoln, treasurer.

Texas and Maryland entered teams, winners of the Southeastern fair, at Atlanta, Ga., in 1920 and 1921, winning both years. Missouri, Maryland, North Dakota, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland for the second time Iowa again, have had national champions from the National Dairy exposition. Of these last, the Missouri and North Dakota teams did not go, Maryland, Illinois, and Iowa won, Maryland and Iowa, of 1926 and 1927, lost. Nebraska for the first time has the chance to send a winning team.

To Study English Cattle.

Mr. Girardot is not worried that the funds will not be secured. He is only hoping that the boys will have an opportunity to become acquainted with English cattle, of a different type than ours, and with their showmanship methods. They are studying pictures of the types and will have about ten days in England previous to the show, but that is none too much time to learn type peculiarities.

In the Memphis show, Jesse Bilyeu was high, with 1249 points, Joe King fourteenth with 1140, and Russell Hughes nineteenth with 1113 points. The team placed first on Guernseys and Jerseys, tenth on Holsteins and twelfth on Ayrshires.

Joe King, 17th and the youngest of the three, is a pioneer of club work. He undertook his first projects when the portly porkers were nearly as large as he and when he was too young to be a member of any club. For ten years, Joe has been a club member, and he has completed twenty-eight projects in that time, having spent three years in dairy calf clubs, six in baby beef clubs, and ten in pig clubs.

At 7 years of age, when an associate member of the club, Joe formed his Poland Chinas into a club and also did the corn club work. In those days, when boys' and girls' club work was in its very young infancy and not organized as it is today, the county superintendents enrolled the rural school pupils. The members learned their lessons through the mails, and accomplished what they could by themselves. As a special honor, Joe, 7 years old, was given two ribbons at the Boone county fair.

Third at State Fair.

After spending another year as his own director, the present type of club was formed, and Joe joined a swine and baby beef club, taking the two firsts and a third with his pigs at the county fair. The following year, he was given fourth place for his baby beef at the Boone exposition. In 1925, Joe was a member of three clubs, the dairy, swine, and baby beef. The dairy club is a perpetual affair, sponsored by the Albion chamber of commerce, which buys the heifers, puts them out among the children, who pay for them with the first calf of each heifer. Those calves are in turn presented to other club workers, thereby perpetuating the club indefinitely. That year, his Poland Chinas won $104 for the owner, placed as grand champion of the club entries and first in the open class at the Boone fair. Joe also took third at the Nebraska state fair among the baby beef entries.

Joe's father was leader of the pig club in 1925 and the next year his son became leader of the Pleasant Hill pig club and later the leader of the dairy club. Serving as leader of two clubs, Joe managed to have three projects, in baby beef, purebred swine, and dairy, as well as taking a few awards. That year Joe took first prize in the junior boar pigs of club entries, placed third in the showman's contest, took tenth place with his baby beef, and came in third in the dairy judging contest. Last year, Joe had three projects, and took third in the dairy showman's contest at the state fair.

In 1923, Joe was a member of the animal husbandry judging team from Albion, placing eleventh in eighteen entries at the Nebraska fair. At that time, the Albion boys grinned and decided to practice. The fololwing year Joe and his sister, Mary, took third in a baby beef club demonstration, and the same pair placed fourth in a swine club demonstration in 1925. In the 1926 contest, Joe placed third as an individual in the dairy judging contest. Last year, he raised himself one place and went to Memphis with the judging team.

Attended Club Congress.

Joe has come into all sorts of honors through his club work. In 1927, he was one of four delegates and of two boys sent from Nebraska to the national club congress in Washington. The choice was made on leadership, experience, enthusiasm, and from an essay submitted. As that was the first year Nebraska sent any club members, Joe met stiffer competition than succeeding boys will, as all past club workers were eligible, except those more than twenty years of age and those who had been bout of the state for a club gathering in previous years. Those exceptions barred but few.

The same Joe has won a couple of trips to club week in Lincoln, and honors in his own home town. He has to his credit a trophy for swine and another for baby beef, offered by various interests in Albion.

Jesse Bilyeu has been a club member for two years, and has done a number of interesting things in that time. Among other accomplishments, he is the holder of a scholarship to the college of agriculture, offered to the outstanding club member of Boone county. Jesse expects to use that $100 this fall toward the first year of his college course.

When the boys returned from Memphis, they brought a watch and four medals with them, with various differing acacomplishments inscribed on each medal. Jesse brought the watch, suitably engraved, for being high man in the judging. He placed first in Gurnseys and Ayrshires and second on jerseys. At the same time, Joe placed first in Ayrshires and Russell sixth in Guernseys and Jerseys.

Entered State Fair.

Jesse has been a member of a dairy club two years, breeding Holsteins, and on a baby beef club two years, working with Shorthorns. For

Millions of Americans Will Wear Poppies On May 5 in Memory of Boys Who Died in France

Poppies, reminders of the stirring days of '17 when our boys fell on Flanders field, will make their annual appearance on the streets of Lincoln Saturday, May 5, when the American Legion auxiliary will stage its poppy day sale for the benefit of disabled veterans. Already more than 50,000 of the little red poppies have been disposed of in Lincoln in the poppy days of past years.

The American Legion poppy is one of the few connecting links between the tumultuous World war days and the present materialistic-inclined time. It is to be worn not as a red tag to be bought and worn indifferently, but as an emblem of sacrifice to be worn in reverence for the boys who "didn't come back." The Legion auxiliary has pledged itself to the mission of keeping the poppy an emblem of remembrance.

Commends Poppy Day.

President Coolidge says of poppy day: "The annual sale of poppies under the auspices of the American Legion, the American Legion auxiliary and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, for use on Memorial Day has a double significance. It perpetuates and emphasizes a particularly fine symbolism, calling to mind the supreme sacrifice of those who died in the service of our country. Such symbolism cannot but have its effect in inspiring us to the sacrifices demanded of all good citizens in peace times. Furthermore, those who buy these poppies do something very real to help the disabled veterans who in making them are able to contribute to their own support.

"I would commend this movement heartily, and my hope is for its continued success."

The origin of poppy day goes back to November 1918 when Miss Moina Michael, then serving on the staff of the Y. M. C. A. overseas headquarters at New York City, picked up a magazine one morning and first read Colonel John McCrae's poem immortalizing the poppy, "In Flanders Fields." The poppy day idea spread rapidly until in 1927 the total number of poppies sold in this country was 8,134,578 of which disabled veterans made 5,015,324.

Can Earn Money.

This meant that about $60,000 was made to the workers who made the poppies, enabling more than 1,000 disabled veterans to partially support themselves and their families. The disabled man reecives one cent for maikng the poppy and a fourth of a cent for attaching the American Legion and the American Legion auxiliary tag to the poppy. Profits on poppy sales by the national auxiliary last year were estimated at $600,000 all of which is being used for rehabilitation work among disabled veterans.

In Lincoln last year $1,560 was raised by the local auxiliary on poppy sales out of about 15,000 poppies sold in the city. The money went toward the rehabilitation of seventy-seven Lincoln families, many of which were given aid extending over a period of time. Of the total amount ,$345 was given to disabled veterans who made the poppies.

The poppy fund is in the nature of an emergency fund which is used by the auxiliary to tide over disabled veterans and their families who come to the attention of the auxiliary. In time these needy persons are placed under the care of the state aid fund which contributes about $8,000 a year to the support of disabled veterans in Lincoln.

Approved By Chest.

The auxiliary poppy day is the only tag day that is approved by the council of social agencies and the community chest, for the reason that the auxiliary complies with the regulations of those bodies, filing monthly reports of activities and financial statements. The council and the chest also believe that there are enough engaged in the work of relief of disabled veterans in this community, with thirteen agencies contributing to the aid of exservicemen of the World war.

Mrs. C. E. McGlasson, department poppy chairman of the American Legion auxiliary, state department, has issued the following statement concerning poppy day May 5:

"In the spring of 1919, after the war on Flanders field, where the firing had been terrific and thousands of our boys had fallen in battle, in the midst of complete devastation, the poppies came up in abundance. The French women tell us today that the poppy is significant of the blood of the boys who fell on Flanders fields. Those who have traveled thru France since the war tell us that where the battle was fiercest and the bloodshed the greatest, the poppies to this day grow most profusely.

Emblem of Faith.

"Because of this close association to the supreme sacrifice made by the boys who fell on Flanders field, the poppy has become the memorial flower of the American Legion and its auxiliary—the emblem of a faith that is being kept.

"The world in general has forgotten the war, and if the poppy will, in the season of Memorial Day, make the indifferent public remember the sacrifices which have been made for them by the boys who gave their lives that our country might be saved, so that they wear the poppy in reverence and sincerity, and not as a red tag that they could not avoid buying—then indeed the first and greatest mission of the poppy sale has been fulfilled.

"In 1927 when we entered the World war, our liberty was threatened, millions of our men answered the call. This cost billions in money and far more of value in their lives, limbs, and health of thousands of American boys. In many hospitals throughout the country there are remnants of once strong, manly forms, many blind—these men have given all, that our country may be secure.

Can Help Family.

"Picture the mental strain of the non-compensated man in the hospital as he thinks of his wife and little children at home with no income. Then open to him this opportunity whereby he can earn money by making poppies—$60 to $75 a month to send his family. This same man also knows he is making these poppies for the auxiliary who will use the proceeds from sale for a buddy or his family who is more unfortunate then he—as many of the men cannot make them. Then there is the buddy who has made the supreme sacrifice. The money from the sale of the poppy will be used to help make conditions better for the family that may be left, in many cases where the mother cannot care for the children. The legion and auxiliary will give assistance by caring for the 'kiddies' through the child welfare program by providing a home for them when it is not possible to keep children and mother together.

"The disabled veteran will see the poppy worn as a memorial emblem in tribute to his buddies who died. He is not able to take his place as a wage earner, but he knows that in making poppies he is doing something to help someone else and he has a place in life. This is what the poppy means not only to this man but to thousands of others."

Veterans Make Them.

The Lincoln auxiliary has had from four to six disabled veterans making poppies at the club rooms of the Legion for several months past. No poppies are sold by the auxiliary which are not made by disabled ex-servicemen.

Of the dozens of veterans who have been helped by the poppy fund in Lincoln there is one who was wounded in the foot at the battle of St. Mihiel. After his discharge from the hospital he was driving a truck with a load of 3-inch shells when a high explosive shell exploded on the front end of the truck killing his buddy and almost severing one leg from his body. Later he was rescued by a first aid man who found it necessary to amputate the leg.

Lost Both Legs.

Since this man's discharge from service in 1919, he has spent the most of his time in government hospitals. Recently it was necessary to amputate the other leg just below the knee. At present he is able to be up in a wheel chair, and he finds the making of poppies the only activity at which he can happly pass the hours away.

Another Lincoln ex-serviceman has been fighting for his life against tuberculosis. He worked in the railroad shops against his doctor's advice, because he "had to support his family." Although he is now in a hospital and is unable to make poppies, the auxiliary has promised him that it will aid his family in every possible way, seeing that his children go to school. It will be necessary to use the poppy fund for this as the man never applied for compensation. He has a good claim, however, and the auxiliary hopes to procure compensation soon for him.

Still another man, who had four disabilities but who was receiving compensation on but one at the rate of $18.50 a month, has been making poppies at the Legion club rooms in an effort to support his family. He has a wife and one child, crippled from birth. In addition to giving this victim of the war, employment the auxiliary has assisted him in securing additional affidavits which have resulted in increasing his compensation to $82 a month.

Bought Veteran Truck.

And still another disabled veteran, who had made a living for his family by haulnig junk in an old truck, found himself "up against it" recently when his truck fell to pieces. He tried to find employment of another nature but because of his disability could get nothing. The Legion and Auxiliary went to the rescue, and a short time later the man announced that he could purchase an old truck for $17.50 which he could patch up so as to be able to again make a living for his family. An Auxiliary caseworker investigated and was dubious about the proposed second hand truck. She consented to advance the $17.50 out of the poppy fund however. Two months have passed and the man has had no other assistance. He has fixed up the truck, bought a body for it, paid for a license, and has his rent, grocery and coal bills paid up. The truck has been driven 1,000 miles by him and is still going strong. He has even stated that he will soon be able to repay the poppy fund the $17.50 loaned him.

There are 225 units of the American Legion auxiliary in Nebraska and these have all ordered poppies for the poppy day sales. The orders have ranged from several hundred to 10,000. Many of the poppies are used to make wreaths and window decorations. School children in many places are given poppies free of charge in order that reverent remembrance of the "boys who didn't come back" may be instilled in the hearts and memories of the coming generation.

—Bucklin Photo.

Disabled veterans of the World war are engaged in making poppies for the annual Poppy day Saturday, observed in memory of those who did not return from the conflict. Mrs. C. E. McGlasson, national vice president of the American Legion auxiliary, a member of the state advisory board for rehabilitation and child welfare and state poppy chairman, is shown looking at a box of the completed flowers.

Tree Planting Opens Way to An Increased Wealth and Beauty of City, State, Nation

Two illustrations of what can be accomplished in forestation in Nebraska. The grove is a group of walnut trees on a Burt county farm, well toward the northeastern part of the state. The other shows the possibilities of plantings along a roadside. It was taken in the northern part of Holt county.

By FRED FASSETT.

History tells us that taxation without representation led to a war that left its influence upon the entire world. It was a war of a young nation crying for the right to grow unrestricted, unhampered by a burden of heavy taxation in the levying of which they had no part.

Could they speak a similar cry would go up from millions upon millions of acres of lands in America. They are being taxed without representation. They are a burden on their owners, and could they think, would know it and demand that which is their right—to be forested.

Under present conditions these lands are almost valueless. Planted to tree with a view to forestry, however, they can be made over into some of the most valuable assets of any community, be it rural or urban.

Throughout America, a movement has been under way with a view of remedying conditions. It continued a week and by proclamation of President Coolidge and the governor the period was designated as "Tree Planting Week." It ended today

Only Week Approved By U. S.

Of all the scores of weeks that have been brought to the fore in recent years, this is the only one that has been endorsed by the national government.

The idea of setting aside seven days for the education of people in forestry, originated on the Pacific coast in 1920. In 1922 President Harding issued a proclamation which gave the idea government sanction. The proclamation was repeated in 1923, and in 1924 and 1925 and the years since the thought was further recognized by President Coolidge in proclamations issuing from his office. With the government giving recognition to the idea governors of many states have fallen in line and issued statements in keeping with those of the president.

The proclamation issued by Governor McMullen concurred "heartily in the purpose of American Forest week." and called upon the people of the state to participate generally in the program of tree planting. "We should plant more trees," the governor said. "Trees add beauty, shelter and an economic resource.'

Gave Nation Arbor Day.

Nebraska, through J. Sterling Morton, gave to the nation Arbor day, observed April 22. As a result the state is known as the tree planting state, and it is fitting that Arbor day should be the first day of a week's program designed to emphasize tree planting for beautification, shade, shelter and woodlot purposes. The growing of trees for posts, poles, lumber and other commercial uses was not included in the campaign this year.

From the days of the very first settlers Nebraskans have been interested in forestation. At the beginning there were few if any trees save along the banks of streams. Windbreaks made their appearance, however, and shade trees soon followed. Then came efforts through the establishment of nurseries, to learn which of the trees and shrubs were the best adapted to the climate and soil here. From this developed widespread interest in trees and the reputation of Nebraskans of the early days has spread into the far corners.

Probably the name of J. Sterling Morton is the best known of all those associated with tree planting in Nebraska.

Other Names Will Live.

Others, however, whose names are far from unknown are Robert W. Furnas, Isaac Pollard, C. S. Harrison, Wm. Stolley who passed away only recently; and many others. A tribute to them in the form of a bulletin on forestatioin was issued from the Universiey of Nebraska recently by the conservation and survey division.

Arbor day has been a decided stimulus to tree planting in Nebraska. Exercises generally are held in the schools and this year these were extended to churches, civic clubs, lodges, hospitals, cemeteries, towns, cities, fair associations and railroad companies.

In Lincoln there were observances in the schools and a program was arranged for the chamber of commerce under the auspices of the city planning committee. Men prominent in forestation work and tree planting from the beautification standpoint were among the speakers. One of these were Dr. George E. Condra, head of the university conservation and survey division. Another was Philip Edinborough. He is in full charge of the city's park development and responsible for carrying out the street forestation scheme which provides for designated trees on certain thoroughfares. Plantings along the thoroughfares of the state were not included in the general program this year, that activity being contemplated for a year hence. "Lack of a plan, however, should not hold back planting of memorial drives and the approaches to towns and cities," Dr. Condra declared in a report at a conference in the governor's office, January 28, this year.

Have Always Planted.

Lincoln people have been imbued with the idea of tree planting from the very beginning of the city. In the early days the plantings were not uniform and no effort was made to learn whether this or that tree was adaptable to the localities where they were planted. Although the trees were not uniform, however, they enhanced the beauty of the driveways, yards and streets.

Recent years have seen a change. Now Lincoln's street are planted after a scheme or "tree key" made possible by the city charter. This is watched over by Mr. Edinborough and a force of men the year round with the result that in a few years the city has come to be known as one of the most beautiful in America—a city of beautiful homes; a home city. Lincoln does have beautiful homes, many of them, but it must not be forgotten that it is the setting provided for them that makes their beauty more noticeable.

According to Mr. Edinborough considerable thought should always be given to location, topography and weather, when trees are to be planted. Frequently trees that will thrive on open level spaces will become stunted on low ground. Weather that will be killing to certain trees in one location will not hurt them in another.

Fit Trees to Locality.

Likewise, he declares, a tree of one type will add charm and dignity to one locality and be entirely out of place in another. The same also is true of shrubs and flowers and because of this thousands of dollars are wasted every summer by householders who have made planting without consulting an authority.

The trees that are best adapted to ornamental use in Nebraska are the Chinese elm, American elm, green ash, honey locust, mossycup oak, hackberry, black locust, cottonwood, Scotch pine, red cedar, arborvitae, Black Hills spruce, jack pine, Austrian pine, western yellow pine, almost every one of which is used on the streets of Lincoln.

Nut Trees Native.

Recent studies of Nebraska trees have disclosed that the walnut is a native. In addition to this there are many others of the nut species grown here, among them being the chestnut, hazel nut, filbert, English walnut, hickory nut and others.

The chestnut is grown profitably in the southwestern part of the state. The walnut grows best along the streams but there is not a county in the state where they are not found.

The movement in the interest of tree planting is the outgrowth of a realization that the forests of the nation were rapidly being depleted, and that something must be done to rehabilitate the forest lands. This has included a plea that lands unsuited for agriculture be forested also.

Opens Forest Reserve.

To enhance interest in the work the government has established federal reserves in many of the states. In Nebraska there are two in the sandhill region west of Halsey. This 13,000 acres have been planted—12,000 on the Halsey, and 1,000 on the Niobrara division of the forest. Prairies and sandy lands have been changed to forests and it has been demonstrated that conifers can be grown sucessfully.

For several years small trees have bee sent from the Halsey nursery for distribution in the western part of the state. Now the distribution is handled by the extension forestry service of the university, and trees are sent to farmers in all sectioins. This year it is hoped the distribution will reach one million trees. Nearly that many have been sent out already.

It is fittingly said:

"If the nation saves the trees,
The trees will save the nation."

BOONE COUNTY TEAM TO SEEK ADDED HONORS

the last year, he has been a member of the Spotted Poland swine club. In 1926, Jesse showed the first prize heifer in the Holstein calf club contest at the Boone fair and the following year took fourth place with his heifer at the same exposition. Last year, Jesse placed first in the county showing contest and ninth at the state fair showman's competition.

He was a member of the winning vocational agricultural judging team of the Albion high school, competing against the state, two years ago. In 1927, Jesse was given first place for his essay on club work by the Holstein Friesian breeders' association. In his first year on the dairy judging team, it placed first among thirteen counties at the Nebraska State fair. At Memphis it took the highest honors against twenty-three teams, Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan and Virginia following in order.

Although newer in club work than either of the other team members, Jesse appears to have an especially keen eye for fine points of cattle. However, he refuses to take any credit to himself for his skill, or to say that he more than "just judges" and merely remarks that he has "just practiced" since he entered the course in vocational agriculture.

Russell Hughes ranks second in years of club work among the three, having been a club boy for three years. He had been a member of a Holstein dairy calf club each of those years and in one of them he worked in a Poland China pig club.

County Behind Workers.

At the present time, Russell is alternate for Jesse in the university scholarship award. Russell received third prize for his entry in the pig club contest at the Boone county fair in 1927, and was a member of the dairy demonstration team from the time of its organization, including the year it won the county championship and competed at the state fair.

Boone county residents are strongly behind their club workers, and do a number of things for them. The Kiwanis club has given a banquet each of the three years for members. The club members have an annual picnic, which had an attendance of 150 or 200 this last year. It began in 1920, when the chautauqua admitted the members free to the grounds, and the interest has grown until this last year was the largest gathering yet held. The different clubs compete in a ball game at the picnic, to establish the diamond prowess of the swine breeders over the baby beef clubs, or not to establish their supremacy, as the case may be. The baby beef club members also have two annual tours among the members of the clubs. This event requires a full day twice each year.

J. E. Donaldson of Albion has been leader of the baby beef club since its organization in 1920. Laverne Ball, a Holstein breeder of the county, was the first local leader of the dairy calf club in 1925. He was succeeded by Joe King in 1926, and then by Mr. Girardot. From the organization of the pig clubs until 1920, Miss Johnson, county superintendent of schools, supervised the work. At that time, this club became a standard club. In 1920, John Clipston, a shorthorn breeder and president of the county fair from 1919 to 1927, was the leader, and the four following years, F. O. Danbaum, Poland China breeder served as local leader. John King, Joe's father served in that capacity in 1925, Joe in 1926, and Mr. Girardot after that time.

Farmers' Fair at Ag. College, Saturday, May 5, Will Show Results of Work Done by Students

Next Saturday is the big day for the college of agriculture students. Then they have their chance to parade down O street, act in the Follies, explain their year's work, appear in the Snorpheum, dance a little, drink pink lemonade, eat peanuts, make hamburgers, drape themselves about in the pageant and do considerable hard labor.

It's the time of the annual Farmer's Fair, when the boys and girls of the college spread a neat layer of entertainment over the real results of their university course for the delight and edification of themselves, students on the city campus, and hundreds of townsfolk.

Committee chairmen are the busiest souls in Lincoln at the moment. Just a week until May 5, and the great day, when the students propitiate the weather gods, hoping that much orange sunshine and few dull gray raindrops may be the portion of the day. It is, of course, to be a bigger and better fair, with plumper cattle, fancier floats, hotter hot dogs, and prettier girls.

An Agricultural Parade.

For the public—which doesn't have to do any of the work—the fair starts with the agricultural parade, "Conquest of Science." A large group of floats is being planned for this expedition, which contrasts the past and the present in the agriculture of Nebraska. A new feature of the parade is a program of short stunts and songs, to be given by some of the ag students.

An essential part of any fair, and to the thoughtful, the heart of the exposition, is the exhibits, which are to be concentrated in the studen activities building, rather than scattered over the entire campus, as in years past. Each department is arranging to show what it is contributing to the farmers of Nebraska.

The exhibitis will be arranged to show the relationships existing between them. The chemistry demonstration will be the starting point, with the soils, agronomy, and horticulture exhibits grouped nearby. In the entomology exhibit will be the eradication of harmful insects, and in plant pathology, the eradication of plant diseases. The animal pathology department exhibit will suggest the control of diseases of animals by sanitation and hygiene, and the animal husbandry, poultry, and dairy husbandry will afford valuable information in each line through its showing. The vocational educational display will portray the advantages of agricultural training, and rural economics will emphasize the value of bookkeeping on the farm.

Girls Have Full Share.

All the agricultural college work is not done by boys, and the girls have their share in the fair demonstrations. In the home economics building, the foods department will show the olr and the new ideas of food preparation, and interior decorators will display exhibits featuring modern and older ideas in house fhrnishing. The textile section will show garments and contrast clothes of today with clothes of yesterday The nursery school is to display toys and equipment every child can enjoy, as its share of the fair.

The livestock parade will stress the best of the livestock in the college barns. About one hundred head will be shown, including beef cattle, dairy cattle, and horses, many of them prize winning animals. Speakers will explain each of the livestock departments of the college.

A new thought in the Farmers' fair of 1928 is the fancy horse show, the first ever held in Lincoln. The horses will be put through their different paces and prizes will be offered for the best riders.

Visitors get free ride, if they want it. The bus excursions will continue their sight-seeing trips about the agricultural college campus, with guides to point out and explain all the points of interest. Further information will be available through the "Cornhusker Countryman," a special number of which will be published at that time, and in which the guide book of former years will be included.

Amusements Big Feature.

What's a fair without amusements? Nothing, as far as the younger generation is concerned. If they can't have pop and a dance or two, there might just as well be no fair. The usual Glider is scheduled for the day, the home ec girls will appear in their annual Follies, and be Ziegfeld belles for a day. The show this year is entitled "Ship Ahoy." As a competitive attraction the ag men are to be frocked as chorines, for their Snorpheum. When one can't go to a show one can dance on this big play day of the year—and a couple of dances, one outdoor and one in the student activities building, will pass the time for the jazz devotees.

The main feature of the afternoon and early evening will be the pageant, an annual event presented by the home economics girls. "Master of Miracles" was written by Miss Maxine Churchill, a senior in the department. It tells the story of a young girl who was fettered by ignorance. Each department of the college supplies some virtue which frees her from her affliction. The cast includes about fifty of the home ec girls.

Every one will be hungry at the fair, with the dancing and the trips and the sightseeing, and the boys and girls will see that no one passes on from starvation. The hamburger stand, the Yellow Dog saloon, and the tea room will see to that.

Chadron Normal

Carden Williams, twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. F. Williams, died Wednesday, April 18, of influenza. Funeral services were held in the Baptist church, Friday morning, following which he was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Harry B. Cooley nee Flora A. Daboll, a graduate of the class of 1912, together with her little son Billy, has been visiting relatives and friends in Chadron. Her husband, who graduated from the Chadron public high school in 1908, will join them soon. Mr. and Mrs. Cooley reside in Chicago. During the past year they spent several months in Europe, as Mr. Cooley, a mining engineer, was called to Russia for consultation in regard to the mines of that country.

Mrs. Alice I. Roasch, county superintendent, supervised seventh and eighth grade examinations in the administration building, Thursday and Friday, April 19-20. More than a hundred pupils in the vicinity of Chadron participated. They were conducted through the buildings on the campus before their departure.

Miss Florence Bruce, a former faculty member, was in Chadron recently.

Members of the Order of the Golden Fleece, also known as Omega Gamma Phi, held their regular social meeting, Thursday, April 19, at the home of Eloine Gilmore. Several guests were present. The entertainment committee consisted of Luella O'Connell, Chadron, Ida Bosche, Gordon, Loraine Stickley, Morrill, Eloine Gilmore, Chadron, and Lorraine Salleng, Thedford.

A miscellaneous shower complimentary to Miss Amanda B. Osnes, whose approaching marriage was recently announced, was held at the Alpha Phi Pi sorority house Tuesday evening, April 23. The ladies of the faculty were guests. Games and contests furnished entertainment, following which little Betty Work dressed as a fairy led Miss Osnes to a pink-and-white throne and crowned her with a wreath of flowers. Presentation of the gifts then took place. Refreshments were served at small tables centered with May poles, the favors being corsage bouquets of pink sweetpeas in a lacey frill. The hostesses were Misses Sophia M. Uhlken, Genevieve V. Williams, Cecelia Forbes, and Lena C. Emerson.

New officers for the forthcoming year have been chosen by the Girl Reserves as follows: Evelyn Wilson, Chadron, president; Betty Wells, Chadron, vice-president; Florence Schwabe, Chadron, secretary; Leontine Thomas, Whitney, treasurer; Margaret Cook, Chadron, chairman of the program committee.

Mary Snow, who will graduate from the college at the end of the spring quarter, has been elected to a teaching position in the Chadron public school system for next year.

A daughter was born April 16 to Mr. and Mrs. Lyle R. Wood of Chadron. The parents are former students of the college. Mrs. Wood before her marriage was Miss Hollace Harris.

Miss Edna E. Work, dean of women, talked on "Mexico" at a meeting of the P. E. O., held at the home of Mrs. P. P. Proudfit, Monday evening, April 23. For several years Miss Work was affiliated with the American school of Cananea Sonora, Mexico.

The birthday anniversary of Miss Sophia Uhlken was observed at the Alpha Pi sorority house by a dinner, Thursday evening, April 26. The centerpiece was a snowy birthday cake with candles. A number of gifts were presented.

The first social activity under the leadership of the new Y. W. C. A. officers was held Thursday evening, April 19, directed by Marjorie Rouse, Chadron, president, and Jessie Thompson, Thedford, chairman of the social committee. There were thirty-two in the group. Each Y. W. member brought beefsteak for the fry, and buds, pickles, and coffee were provided by the organization. Faculty members present were Misses Ethel L. Delzell, Edna E. Work, and Susie E. Boyer.

At the recent election Professor E. P. Wilson was nominated as state representative for the ninety-ninth district in the Nebraska legislature. He has served three terms in the house of representatives.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Refrigerator

Wherever you go you hear people praising the General Electric Refrigerator. Almost overnight it has taken a prominent place in the thoughts of homemakers.

One hears of its remarkable simplicity. That it hasn't a single belt, fan or drain-pipe. That it hasn't a bit of machinery under the cabinet—or in the basement. That it never needs oiling. There are many, many comments on the quietness with which it operates. There is much enthusiasm for the extreme roominess and the splendid strength of its gleaming, up-on-legs cabinet.

Overnight, it seems . . . . but for more than fifteen years the vast laboratories of General Electric have been busy with the development of this truly revolutionary refrigerator. Will you not come in and see the various models? Time payments can be arranged, if you prefer.

AN INDUSTRIAL SIR GALAHAD UNMASKED.

It was reported a few weeks ago that Colonel Stewart, chairman of the board of Standard Oil of Indiana, received thousands of letters and telegrams from prominent business men and industrial leaders of America, congratulating him upon his refusal to answer questions put to him by a senate committee in the oil investigation. To have answered these queries, it was understood, might have involved some of Colonel Stewart's business friends and associates. The senate had his sworn word that he personally had not profited in the $3,000,000 boodle arising out of the oil transaction, and that he knew nothing of the distribution of the bonds.

Now the existence of a code of silence in the underworld has been recognized for many years. The knowledge that it extended to other stratas and groups of society was not suggested until Colonel Stewart received a shower of congratulatory messages from industrial and business captains upon his refusal to "peach."

Colonel Stewart, as the "Sir Galahad" of modern business, voluntarily doffed his mask before the Senate committee last Tuesday.

His defiance of senatorial interrogators was not inspired by a misguided sense of chivalry, and generosity towards men occupying high positions of responsibility in American business life. Colonel Stewart did receive some of the $3,000,000 profits from the oil transaction, after being informed he was entitled to a "cut". To be exact he got $759,500 of the "rake-off" —delivered to him on sundry occasions—and which, according to his own testimony, excited his suspicions. He placed the bonds in escrow, in the direct care of a personally appointed confidential trustee, and just last Saturday, when the Sinclair trial came to a close, called in his directors, placed before them the trust memorandum and turned over the bonds to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company, of which the Standard of Indiana owns one-half.

What say these thousands of business and industrial captains, who wired and mailed Colonel Stewart their congratulations for upholding the traditions of the code of silence, now?

Their Sir Galahad was no Sir Galahad at all. His tightened lips at the senatorial investigation last February instead of reflecting a sacrificial desire to protect erring others merely resulted from the fact that Colonel Stewart found himself in an embarrassing box. He himself had accepted a fourth of the bonds which the senate was attempting to trace. While he wouldn't and couldn't be in the position of accepting a private "rake-off" at the expense of his own company, he had hold of a "hot potato" and he did not know how to let loose.

There has been no more amazing story placed before the American people than that told by Colonel Stewart last Tuesday. The manner in which Stewart, Blackmer and O'Neil handled the Liberty bonds, which represented the profits of the Continental Trading company, is enough to show that they recognized it was a "shady" deal. Stewart put all of his bonds in trust, and the final decision as to where they should go was not made until after a jury had acquitted Sinclair of criminal charges. O'Neil did not dare cash his, and finally disgorged to the company while Blackmer passed his on to someone else.

And those who congratulated Stewart upon his loyalty to friends, even at the risk of a contempt citation for refusal to answer questions, have not helped American business and industry. Regardless of what a small group of rich men may think about Teapot Dome, and the transaction arising out of it, the American people think it was "rotten." Their confidence and their faith in the integrity and honesty of Big Business has been rudely shaken. They are back again at the spot from whence they started, when the public was skeptical and mistrustful of the ruthless, conscienceless practices, which seemed to mark all business transactions in which great industrial and business captains furnished the guiding spirit.

Colonel Stewart will not be prosecuted for perjury, despite the intimations which have been thrown out. On February 2, 1928, Colonel Stewart told the senate committee:

"I never had anything to do with the distribution of any bonds of the Continental Trading company."

Again asked if he had received any of these bonds, he replied:

"I never handled any of these bonds. I never made a dollar out of this transaction in my life."

A little more than two months later, April 24, he admitted to the same committee he had received $759,500 of them—unwillingly to be sure—but nevertheless he got them. He explained they had been turned over to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company.

American political history affords no parallel for the Teapot Dome transaction. Never before has justice been so outrageously flaunted. Never have men laughed at legal processes more openly and more boldly. They have made a mockery of law. It seems incredible that the American people can review this episode without a crushing sense of shame.

FIRST TRANS-ATLANTIC STEAMSHIP.

There are people in Lincoln many of them in Nebraska, who were living when the first steamer crossed the Atlantic ocean. In fact everyone who was ninety years or more old last Sunday was living on the day when that first steamer landed in New York, which was April 22, 1838. On the following day, April 23, 1838, the second vessel to cross the ocean entirely by steam reached the same port, this being the occasion for the biggest celebration that had ever been held in New York up to that time.

The first steamship to cross the ocean was the Sirius, which made the passage in twenty-six days. The Great Western, which arrived the following day, however, only required fifteen days for the trip. She was much larger than the Sirius, as well as much faster. History gives the American ship Savannah the credit for being the first steamer to cross the Atlantic, but the fact is that the last named boat depended more upon her sails than upon her paddle wheels for power, the latter being "shipped" whenever bad weather was encountered.

The Sirius left Liverpool on March 28 and put in at Queenstown for refueling. And even then she had to burn every spar and barrel of resin in order to make the trip entirely by steam, her fuel having run out before reaching Sandy Hook. Fulton's first steamboat had gone up the Hudson in 1807, but sailors were slow about adopting the new power for ocean navigation. So after the ship had left Queenstown the crew broke out in a mutiny, refusing to go on, saying that any attempt to cross the ocean by coal alone was suicidal. The mutiny was finally put down, however, and the ship proceeded.

The length of the Sirius was 178 feet and that of the Great Western was 236 feet and her tonnage 1,340. Her two engines were capable of furnishing 750 horsepower, indicated, and she could travel 240 knots a day.

Could the sailors who manned the two steamships which entered the port of New York ninety years ago this month return to this terrestrial sphere they would be no more astounded at the telegraph, submarine cable, telephone, radio and airplane, than at the vessels which now plow the deep, with their propellors, steel plates, reciprocating engines, oil and powdered coal burners and tremendous size and speed.

Astounding progress has been made during the last ninety years in science and mechanics, but during it all water navigation has never lagged.

THE AUTO TAX REPEAL.

Repeal of the automobile tax by congress, as contemplated in the revenue measure which is now nearing conference, will do justice to one group of American citizens, whose claims have heretofore been ignored.

When congress, acting upon the president's recommendations, eliminated all special taxes imposed during the war emergency, the automobile industry was overlooked. The special excise taxes, excess profits tax, and income taxes were either abolished entirely or appreciably reduced. The automobile manufacturer was left out in the cold, and he in turn passed it on to the public, so that in the final analysis the public paid the bill. The auto tax did make cars more expensive, however, and because of that reason tended to retard the industry.

Assurance that President Coolidge, while opposed to the repeal of the auto tax, would not veto the revenue measure because of a provision in it for abolishing the automobile tax, makes certain the passage of the measure. The public, which has come to look upon the automobile as a necessity, will approve.

HAGEN TAKES THE COUNT.

In suffering the most crushing defeat of his career at the hands of the British professional, Archie Compston, Walter Hagen ignored one of the fundamentals of golf. He had hardly gripped a club during the winter. His chance for practice on board ship on his way to England was nullified by rough seas. He had one practice round before the gruelling match with Compston, which could hardly be expected to put him in trim to face a buzz saw.

Even at his best it is doubtful if Hagen could have survived the brilliant golf which the English star displayed. A round of 67, followed by a second round of 66, on a par 71 course, is good enough to win in any man's tournament, or in any match. The great Bobbie Jones, the greatest shot maker in the world, would find it difficult to match such perfection. In gathering thirteen birdies, and in playing 54 holes of golf twelve below par, Compston compiled the greatest record in match play ever achieved by a golfer. His victory should hearten and encourage the British public which has had but slender crumbs to appease its athletic appetite. Compston has given his American rivals something to shoot at for some time to come.

BENNETT'S DEATH.

So frequently men who have braved great danger and endured great hardship meet the final summons under the most commonplace circumstances.

There was Floyd Bennett, the young American airman, who had attained lasting glory as a result of his flight over the North Pole as a companion of Commander Richard E. Byrd. In that exploit, Bennett conquered regions which had been the burial place of scores of brave explorers. He had experienced the rigors of a full season close to the North Pole, and on innumerable occasions he had taken his life in his hands in his career as an aviator. He had been selected to accompany Byrd to Paris and was prevented only through a serious accident which inflicted painful and slow-healing wounds. Escaping all of these dangers, he falls victim to the most common of maladies.

America mourns the death of Floyd Bennett.

He was a brave man, who achieved signal distinction. He rose from a humble position in his country's service to write his name among the list of heroes. The shock of his untimely demise is softened by the knowledge that he lived a glorious hour, when with Byrd, he qualified for a place among the world's great heroes.

A "KEY-NOTER" WITHOUT A "KEY."

Senator Simon Fess, of Ohio, chosen to deliver the keynote address at the republican national convention in Kansas City next June, finds himself in an embarrassing position, after the smoke of the recent Ohio primary cleared away. He is in the same fix as the chap who lost the key to the door. Fess, running as a delegate at large to the national convention, and aligned with the Willis group, met a smashing defeat.

Of course Mr. Fess will be permitted to sound the keynote address even though his neighbors and fellow citizens did not seem to think much of him. It is said on good authority that Mr. Hoover has no antagonism to Senator Fess. But what a galling defeat it must have been for one who has been as prominent in the councils of the republican party as Senator Fess, and one who was supposed to speak for the administration in congress. It has been Senator Fess who persisted in the "draft Coolidge" movement, who has been a staunch advocate of all the Coolidge policies, and who was popularly supposed to have special influence with the white house.

Judged from the record it would seem that the "draft Coolidge" movement did not have a lot of support in Ohio. Senator Fess had gotten himself so much publicity in this connection that if there were any considerable demand for a renomination of the president in Ohio, in contradiction of Mr. Coolidge's expressed desire to retire, it would have manifested itself. Mr. Fess is in the position of one who permits his enthusiasm to get the better of his judgment, and as a result he will face the audience at Kansas City with the knowledge that the people of Ohio, his home state, were not particularly interested in having him there.

The day has arrived when the runaway of a team of horses is deserving of front page space.

If, as Coolidge fears, the flood bill will permit a big steal by land owners along the Mississippi, the loot will at least be divided among more than four or five persons.

At least Senator Norris never disagrees with a charge that someone else is a liar and a crook.

Geography Is Getting Popular

Hoover may have to sow some spring wheat.

By WILL ROGERS.

Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers. And about all you read in the papers now is political propaganda for one candidate or another. Now this old reliable "Illiterate Digest" hasent come out for any certain one. I am just sitting waiting for the best offer. So I guess I will land with the republicans, as it looks like they can make the best offer, unless the democrats have got wise and they are sending someone out to gather in some dough too.

All the "Boys" are getting out beating the bushes now. Even Calvin made a speech for the D. A. R.'s. Thats the Daughters of the Revolution. Its a band of women who have traced their births directly to the excitement of some revolution. The rest of us are just here by "The grace of God." We dont hardly know what to trace our birth to. I started to have my ancestors looked into one time, and they got back one generation and had one of the family upon a limb for horse stealing, and I asked them to discontinue. These birth societys take that junk seriously. Why they not only wouldent let my friend William Randolph White of Emporia, Kansas join the Daughters, but they wouldent allow him to speak in their presence. If he opened his trap all of them was to get up and walk out on him.

William White can't trace his ancestry back much farther than Kansas prohibtion. They haven't barred me from speaking for 'em yet, but on the other hand they havent asked me to, so that means about the same thing.

Can't Act Natural.

Well let's see what other scandal we got off this week. Al went clear to Ashville, North Carolina, to play golf. These northern courses are all packed with snow. I look for Hoover to have to go out around Iowa to help plant some spring wheat. That's the tough part about being a candidate your backer wont let you act natural and do the very things that you have always done. You cant be the man; you must be the candidate. I still take my little straw vote every night in each place. I played New York a couple of weeks ago, had a big audience, and Hoover got all the votes. In New York, what do you know about that? These, however, were all in evening dress. If I had gone right over to a movie theatre, why Al would have copped all the votes. Did I tell you I am including Coolidge now in my straw vote, and he is running right up next to Hoover? It's Hoover, Coolidge, and Smith. Course its only a straw vote, and dont mean much, for somebody is liable to come along with a better offer for the real vote at election and they would change it.

Irishman At Home.

I was around New York all during the excitement of the flyers. Stood out at the field all day waiting for them to come that first time. There sure would have been some excitement there if they had got clear in that time. When we heard they had landed safe, Mayor Jimmy Walker pulled a wise crack. He said when the Irishman landed he said, "I got a cargo of foreigners here what will I do with them?" That was a great feat, getting clear over to this side. Just think three men, all that gas, and just one engine. Its been a great thing for geography. Nobody had any idea that there was that many different pieces of land away off up there. Americans always though when you passed Halifax, the next stop must be the North Pole. Why these guys were further north than Cook got! And if I was going to fly that ocean I would pick me out the highway where all the ships go. I would kinder hang along with one ship till I though that I could make it over to another one.

Long and Short of It.

They tell you that the earth is round, and yet they say that it is further to come straight from one place to another than it is to come away up around Greenland. There must be a kind of a dent in the earth up around there. Spain to Florida would be my route, and then if I come down my wheels wouldent break through the snow. You know that must be a pretty tough trip either way.

By the time you read this I will be winging my way back to California. Back on the old air line, and say by the way, you are going to hear of something before long with some pretty well known men in it. It will be a big transportation scheme, worked in connection with the rail roads. You will leave New York in the evening, travel all night on your train, in the morning you will be met at some city by cars that will take you to a plane and you will have lunch in St. Louis, or Chicago, (depends on where you are headed for) dinner in Omaha, or Dallas, then on another train you will spend the night, then off in the morning and on the last day in the plane you will go clear to any part of the coast, Frisco, Los Angeles, Seattle.

That's whats a brewing. Two days and two night to the coast. No night flying. Both nights will be spent on the train. When plane travel breaks in a big way you will find that the railroads will be working with it and not against it. They are not going to let another bus thing be pulled on 'em, by thinking that it would never amount to anything. You watch the old Boy "President of the Pennsylvania System, and see if he hasent got his eye on this scheme. I wrote a story on this very idea two or three years ago, and people thought I did it for comedy. The Atlanta to New York line opens just as you will read this. Its all already lighted. You will be able to go clear to New Orleans, leaving New Orleans after lunch, and be in New York the next morning. This summer will see some great strides in commercial aviation, and dont forget that old Boy Lindberg is the one that stirred the whole thing up too. Aviation was just, Blah, maby I will—maby I wont—well that baby woke 'em up to it. We will never get through paying that Guy.

Need of a Guardian.

(The Omaha World-Herald.)

First of all get this right, that Harry F. Sinclair gave Albert B. Fall $233,000 for a third interest in the latter's New Mexico ranch, the Tres Ritos Cattle and Land company. Sinclair says so, Fall says so and Everhart, Fall's son-in-law, says so. And these men are honorable men who wouldn't lie when the truth will answer just as well.

Moreover a jury of twelve good men and true says so, too, and that clinches it. When twelve good men and true say that black is white or the moon is made of green cheese, why then for the purpose for which the jury was impanelled black is white and the moon is made of green cheese.

It is necessary to get this clear because so many people are under the impression that what Sinclair bought was the exclusive privilege of taking the navy's oil out of the Teapot Dome reservation. The contrary having been established, however, it follows that he isn't the shrewd captain of industry he is supposed to be and much less the malefactor of great wealth. He is, on the contrary, the kind of a man who buys gold bricks and thinks he can tell which shell the little pea is under. He ought by rights to have a guardian appointed to keep him from dissipating his property.

This conclusion is forced by revelation of the fact that the ranch for the third part of which he paid $233,000 is worth altogether in the neighborhood of $200,000, according to information brought to light by the New York World. Its investigator found that the total assessment of the ranch in 1927 in the two counties in which it is situated was $135,209, and that the practice of local assessors in New Mexico is to assess ranch lands at 60 per cent of their value. "Officials of the two counties believe $200,000 would be a generous figure," the World's correspondent writes.

So that is the kind of sharp business man Harry Sinclair is. A man who will pay $233,000 for a third interest in a $200,000 ranch in order to build a country club in the desert can't be the kind of slicker who would steal the pennies off Uncle Sam's eyes. What he needs is a protector who will see that somebody doesn't sell him the capitol at Washington or the Lincoln memorial.

Everyday Questions

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

Bridgeport, Conn.

It seems to me that pretty much everything in this life is predetermined by God, and when after nearly seventy years I look back upon the events of my own life and the lives of those dear to me, I realize how little we can foresee and how much depends upon the turn of events wholly beyond our control. Nor is predestination, in my opinion, an unhappy theory of life or anything in derogation of God's laws. In fact, it seems to me that it is a very comforting theory, for the reflection that what is to be will be, frequently relieves the mind of the endless worry and anxiety which would otherwise be present if we thought any action on our part could change the course of events.

However, as I grow older, I more fully realize how little I know, and I would appreciate your pointing out to me the weaknesses in my philosophy if any there be.

The reflection you express is common to our older days, but it is fallacious because it ignores our premier faculty for choice. Every man has the conviction that while in a given situation he should act in a certain way, he has the power to act in a different way. If you say this conviction is an illusion then the sense of responsibility is equally illusory, and the foundation of ethics, justice and law entirely disappears.

The correlate of "what is to be will be" is "what has been had to be." Therefore, men had to lie, steal, betray, murder or on the other hand, to be honest, faithful, merciful and kind. In this case wherein do these actions ethically differ, since all are alike robbed of moral significance?

Life is lived on a basis to relationship by which one thing leads to another. Looking backward, you perceive how close these connections are, and assume that the life you have lived was the only one possible for you. But you ignore the fact that you might have chosen differently at every turn in the way, or at least on many occasions it presented.

What you are today is the inevitable result of your past. So far this is plain necessity. But by your personal decision you helped to make yourself what you are, and in this fact your freedom and responsibility inhere. If your actions can not change the course of events, why do you eat, drink, sleep, vote, advise, consult a physician when you are infirm, or dodge an automobile at the street crossing. Indeed, why ask this thoughtful question which I have done my best to answer?

Glen Falls, N. Y.

Why do not the clergy correct the extravagance and immodesty of women's clothes today? You must know the bad effects of their appearance in public and suspect the ruinous cost of their wasteful habits in the home. Why then are preachers and moralists like yourself so dumb about it?

They are far from dumb on this issue. The Pope himself has protested against the abuses of feminine attire and adornment and so have countless clergymen of all the churches. Yet there is no material change in women's dress and there will be none till they decree it themselves.

Granting their slavish subservience to fashion and that the poorest of them often spend money recklessly in obedience to its demands, it still remains true that though an ill-dressed one is a social nuisance a well dressed one is a social necessity.

But who is to determine the difference except women? Members of the opposite sex who view them with a jaundiced eye or through the miasma of base desire may insist that on the whole feminine beauty is degrading.

This I do not believe. The large majority of women are modest for the sake of self-protection. Their good taste and refinement elevate every circle in which they move. They know that monogamous marriage safeguards women against men and against themselves, that it also secures for them a higher level of life than any other system hitherto tried or imagined. They will therefore dress and behave as attractively as possible, and they are justified in so doing.

Nevertheless feminism has limits because its power is tremendous, and like all great natural endowments it may serve base as well as noble ends. The mischief is that too many young girls exercise it without rightly estimating its gravity or the responsibility that goes with it. Yet the majority of these adolescents whom you perhaps deem immodest are entirely unconscious of their fault. They go a little beyond custom and expose six inches of limb instead of three. But they are not nearly so blameable as women of uncertain age who contribute their backs as well as their shoulder blades to the evening's cruder spectacles.

Some one has suggested a book entitled "What a Girl of Eighty Ought to Know." Make it fifty and upward and it deserves a wide circulation. Meanwhile reflect that some current fashions reveal quite as much deformity as beauty. They will vanish in time, but let us hope that their hygienic benefits may survive.

Famous Pets of Famous People

"Pret didn't know from where the pellet came."

BY PRESTON WRIGHT.

Alexandre Dumas' crafty, ungovernable, but lovable dog, Pritchard, has a counterpart in the feline world in Pret, the remarkable cat which was a favorite pet of Rev. John George Wood, the noted English naturalist and historian.

On obtaining Pret as a young cat, Wood determined he would teach him no tricks — such as jumping over a stick or through a hoop—which he had taught other cats. But he made it an invariable rule to be very kind and patient with his pet.

Pret found his master so sympathetic and understanding that if anything out of the way, or amusing, happened he would run to take his protector to see it. If startled or frightened, he immediately sought safety and comfort from Wood. And if in difficulty he sought his aid.

The cat was very mischievous and indeed headstrong. But he was smart.

He loved to tease Mrs. Wood by springing upon her from behind chairs and clinging to her skirts. But she did not appreciate this game. When Pret started it, summer was on and muslin dresses were the rule. Pret ripped Mrs. Wood's skirts outrageously.

What to do. He simply couldn't be stopped!

Winter came. Muslin gave way to silk. Pret made two or three leaps, missed his grasp, and took hard tumbles. He gave up this favorite game.

He soon developed a most unusual trait. Cats of the neighborhood came to Pret's back yard and of course he joined them to play and fight. And it was now that he conceived the role of the generous host.

Pret declined to eat the food set out for him and carried it to his friends. When there wasn't enough to go around he went into the house in search of more. He raided the pantry and took what hewanted.

A Crafty Thief.

This had to be stopped. The pantry was kept locked, but still Pret's depredations continued.

A watch was kept and Pret's secret discovered. The crafty cat waited until the cook went into the pantry and then crept in under her skirts. After she had come out he got what he wanted and waited for her to enter the pantry once more. Then he decamped with his stealings.

He was a bit persnickity about food, wanting only the best quality. When he found the cat that lived next door eating some meat of inferior quality, Pret took it away and hid it. He gave his friend his own meat.

One day Wood heard a bumping on the stairs. He looked to see what the matter was. Pret was dragging away a whole leg of mutton. Some of his friends must have had a birthday that day.

He didn't steal graspingly. He seemed to do it merely for amusement and the benefit of other cats.

Mrs. Wood gave birth to a baby. Pret immediately became very jealous of the little mite of humanity. He wouldn't forgive Mrs. Wood. Ever after, his demeanor toward her was changed.

He would have nothing to do with the infant. When he was held up so that he might see it in its cradle, he kicked, struggled and cried until he was loosened, when he immediately ran away.

But Was Curious.

But while he acted like this, Wood discovered that he actually was curious to have a good look at the baby. Only he didn't want anyone to witness his weakness. If he thought there was nobody looking he would creep inquiringly to the cradle. But the minute he was seen, he turned his head away, sat down and began to lick his paws as though his toilet was the only thing in the world that mattered to him.

Pret was fond of his cat friends, but he wouldn't let them come to his master's house. One tried it on a rainy afternoon. There was a fearful fight, which Pret won. He came into the house fairly covered with mud.

But soon he was as fastidiously clean as usual. He had made speedy toilet. Wood wondered how he had done it. He noticed the cat had a guilty air. That night when he went to bed he found the reason.

His sheets were filthy with dried mud. Pret had crawled between them and given himself a good wiping.

Wood bought some canaries. Pret would have made short work of them, but Wood tricked him. He got a long glass tube and some pellets. Then he turned the cat loose.

Taught a Lesson.

Pret settled himself near the cage, his tail swinging ready for a spring. But just then Wood blew a pellet through the tube. It hit the cat harmlessly in the face.

Pret didn't know where the pellet had come from. He suspected the canaries. When he was hit a second time, he decided his suspicions were correct. Funny things, he though, and he concluded he'd leave them alone.

He and the birds came to be good friends. When this happened,

KEARNEY NOTES

The annual conference of the rural schools affiliated with Kearney college was held April 27 in the college gymnasium.

The annual elections of the student government association held at Kearney college last Wednesday resulted in the selection of Sidney Mosser for president, Sidney McCaig for vice president, and Theresa Grantham for secretary.

At the recent meeting of the normal board in Lincoln two new faculty appointments were made for Kearney college. They are Walter A. Klehm and Calvin T. Ryan. Calvin T. Ryan comes here from Mount Pleasant, Ia., as the head of the English department. He will take up his duties at the opening of the summer school.

Walter A. Klehm will be an assistant in the industrial training department. He will join the teaching force in September. Mr. Klehm has a degree from North Central college at Naperville, Ill., and a graduate of the University of Illinois.

The Xi Phi honorary leadership-scholarship fraternity initiated six new members at the regular meeting last Tuesday. They were: (honorary) Mr. Sutton, (active) Golda Winn, Coral Wilson, Opal Hemmett, Elizabeth Loomis and Mildred Hanson.

Miss Florence Stewart, senior student, was the winner of the Xi Phi essay contest with her essay on the "Relation of Chemistry to the Home."

"Bellinda," and April Folly, by A. A. Milne, was presented by the senior class in the college auditorium, Friday, April 13. The director was Miriam Eckhart Drake.

In the April 5 issue of the Musical Courier, a weekly review of the world's music published in New York, is an announcement of the fact that Louis Diercks, head of the voice department of Kearney college, is an associate teacher of Frantz Proschowski, voice instructor who will spend a week in Kearney this summer.

Prof. B. H. Patterson, who has been very ill with diabetes, was taken to Omaha last week-end to receive medical attention.

Prof. R. C. Rogers, head of the music department, judged the music and dramatics contests held at Franklin this week-end.

Grand Island Notes

The inter-class track and field meet was held April 19 and 20. The seniors were again successful in securing the largest number of points and next in order came the sophomores, freshmen and juniors. This is the third successive year for the present senior class to win the cup and it now becomes the permanent property of the class.

The eighth annual invitation high school track meet was held Saturday, April 21. Twenty-three high schools were represented, and of this number fifteen of schools scored. The schools having the five highest places were Grand Island, Kearney, Gothenburg, Hastings and St. Paul. Grand Island high school won first place. The cup for individual honors was won by H. Barnes of Gothenburg.

The regular meeting of the Faculty club was held at the home of Dean and Mrs. Chas. Firth on Saturday evening, April 21. Mrs. George Sutherland, Mrs. Firth and Miss E. N. Pedersen were hostesses. Dr. Sutherland, acting president, spoke, comparing present day education with the education when he was in college. Prof. H. E. Histon sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Hinton.

The Application of Mathematics to Golf.

Ind Jones always says, "You moved your head!"

It is only quite recently that I have taken up golf. In fact, I have only played for three or four years, and seldom more than ten games in a week, or at most four in a day. I have only had a proper golf vest for two years. I only bought a "spoon" this year and I am not going to get Scotch socks till next year.

In short, I am still a beginner. I have once, it is true, had the distinction "of making a hole in one," in other words, of hitting the ball into the pot, or can, or receptacle, in one shot. That is to say, after I had hit, a ball was found in the can and my ball was not found. It is what we call circumstantial evidence—the same thing that people are hanged for.

Under such circumstances, I should have little to teach anybody about golf. But it has occurred to me that from a certain angle my opinions may be of value. I, at least, bring to bear on the game all the resources of a trained mind, and all the equipment of a complete education.

In particular, I may be able to help the ordinary golfer, or 'goofer'—others prefer 'gopher'—by showing him something of the application of mathematics to golf.

It Can, Indeed, Be Done.

Many a player is perhaps needlessly discouraged by not being able to calculate properly the chances and probabilities of progress in the game. Take, for example, the simple problem of "going around in bogey." The ordinary average player, such as I am now becoming—something between a beginner and an expert—necessarily wonders to himself: "Shall I ever be able to go around in bogey; will the time ever come when I shall make not one hole in bogey, but all the holes!

To this, according to my calculations, the answer is overwhelmingly "yes." The thing is a mere matter of time and patience.

Let me explain for the few people who never play golf (such as night watchmen, night clerks in hotels, night operators, astronomers, and negroes) that "bogey" is an imaginary player who does each hole at golf in the fewest strokes that a first-class player with ordinary luck ought to need for that hole.

Now, an ordinary player finds it quite usual to do one hole out of the nine "in bogey"—as we golfers, or rather, 'us goofers,' call it—but he wonders whether it will ever be his fate to do all the nine holes of the course—to take a nine-hole course for his sake—in bogey. To which we answer again, with absolute assurance, be will.

Conservative Calculation.

The thing is a simple instance of what is called the mathematical theory of probability. If a player usually and generally makes one hole in bogey, or comes close to it, his chance of making any one particular hole in bogey is one in nine. Let us say, for easier calculation, that it is one in ten. When he makes it, his chance of doing the same with the next hole is also one in ten; therefore, taken from the start his chance of making the two holes successively in bogey is one tenth of a tenth chance. In other words, it is one in five hundred.

The reader sees already how encouraging the calculation is. Here is at last something definite about his progress. Let us carry it further. His chance of making three holes in bogey, one after the other, will be one in a thousand; his chance of four, one in ten thousand; and his chance making the whole round in bogey will be exactly one in 1,000,000,000—that is, one in a billion games.

In other words, all he has to do is to keep right on. But for how long? he asks. How long will it take, playing the ordinary number of games in a month, to paly a billion? Will it take several years? Yes it will.

Not Yet—Nor Soon!

An ordinary player plays about one hundred games in a year, and will, therefore, play a billion games in exactly 10,000,000 years. That gives us precisely the time it will need for persons like the reader and myself to go around in bogey.

Even this calculation needs a little revision. We have to allow for the fact that in 100,000,000 years the shrinking of the earth's crust, the diminishing heat of the sun, and the general slackening down of the whole solar system, together with the passing of eclipses, comets, and showers of meteors, may put us off our game.

In fact, one begins to consider if we shall ever get around in bogey after all. S loet us try something else. Here is a very interesting calculation in regard to "allowing for the wind."

We and the Wind.

I have noticed that a great many golf players of my own particular class are always preoccupied with the question of "allowing for the wind." My friend Amphibius Jones, for example, just before driving always murmurs something as if in prayer, about "allowing for the wind." After driving he says with a sigh, "I didn't allow for the wind." In fact, all through my class there is a general feeling that our game is practically taken over by the wind. We ought really to play in the middle of the Sahara desert.

It occurred to me that it might be interesting to reduce to a formula the effect exercised by the resistance of the wind on a moving golf ball. For example, in our game of last Wednesday, Jones in his drive struck the ball with what he assures me was his full force, hitting it with absolute accuracy, as he himself admits, fair in the center, and he himself feeling, on his own assertion, absolutely fit, his eye being (a very necessary thing with Jones) absolutely "in," and he also having on his proper sweater—a further necessary condition of first-class play. Under all the favorable circumstances the ball advanced only fifty yards!

It was evident at once that it was a simple matter of the wind. The wind, which was of that treacherous character that blows over the links unnoticed, had impinged full upon the ball, pressed it backward, and forced it to the earth.

What Jones' Ball Should Do.

Here, then, is a neat subject of calculation. Granted that Jones—as measured on a hitting machine the week the circus was here—can hit two tons, and that this whole force was pressed against a golf ball only one inch and a quarter in diameter. What happens? My reader will remember that the superficial area of a golf ball is Tir3—that is, 3.141567 x (¾ inches) 3. And all of this driven forward with the power of 4,000 pounds to the inch!

In short, taking Jones' statements at their face value, the ball would have traveled, had it not been for the wind, no less than six and one-half miles.

I give next a calculation of even more acute current interest. It is in regard to "moving the head." How often is an admirable stroke at golf spoiled by moving the head! I have seen members of our golf club sit silent and glum all evening, murmuring from time to time, "I moved my head."

When Jones and I play together, I often hit the ball sideways into the vegetable garden from which no ball returns (they have one of these on every links; it is a Scottish invention.) And whenever I do so, Jones always says, "You moved your head." In return, when he drives his ball away up into the air and down again ten yards in front of him, I always retaliate with the repartee, "You moved you head old man."

In short, if absolute immobility of the head could be achieved, the major problem of golf would be solved.

How Askance You May Look.

Let us put the theory mathematically. The head, poised on the neck, has a circumferential sweep or orbit of about two inches, not counting the rolling of the eyes. The circumferential sweep of a golf ball is based on a radius of 250 yards, or a circumference of about 1,600 yards, which is very nearly equal to a mile. Inside this circumference is an area of 27,878,400 square feet, the whole of which is controlled by a tiny movement of the human neck.

In other words, if a player were to wiggle his neck over 1-190 of an inch, the amount of ground on which the ball might faisely alight would be half a million feet. If at the same time, he multiplies the effect by rolling his eyes, the ball might alight anywhere.

I feel certain that after reading this, no sensible player will move his whole head.

Everybody who plays golf is well aware that on some days he plays better than on others. Question—how often does a man really play his game?

Being Put Off Your Game.

I take the case of Amphibius Jones. There are certain days when he is, as he admits himself, "put off his game" by not having on his proper golf vest. On other days the light puts him off his game; at other times, the dark; so, too, the heat; so again, the cold. He is often put off his game because he has been up to late the night before; or similarly because he has been to bed too early the night before; the barking of a dog always put him off his game; so do children; or adults; or women. Bad news put him off his game; so does good news; so does the absence of news.

All of this may be expressed mathematically by a very simple application of the theory of permutations and probability; let us say that there are altogether fifty forms of disturbance any one of which puts Jones off his game. Each one of these disturbances happens, say, once in ten days. What chance is there that a day will come when not a single one of them occurs?

The formula is a little complicated but mathematicians will recognize the answer at once as X over 1 plus X squared over 1 plus..... (X over 1) times N. In fact, that is exactly how often Jones plays at his best. X over 1 plus X squared over 1..... X squared over 1, worked out in time and reckoning four games to the week, and allowing for leap years and solar eclipses, it comes to about once in 2,930,000 years.

Members of Irving Junior High School Civic League

The Irving Junior Civic league, which participates in many activities of the school. Each home room has two delegates, a boy and a girl, and each group has its own officers. They are: presidents, Barbara Harrison and Jack Cassity; vice presidents, Mary DePutron and John Kos; secretaris, Mary Louise Kurk and John Miller; and sergeants at arms, Marine Rystrum and Don North.

The thirty-two boys and girls making up the Irving Junior Civic league take up the various activities of school life, handled either separately, in a group of thirty-two boys, or of thirty-two girls or if they are of definite interest to both the groups are presented to the delegate assembly, which is made up of the sixty-four.

The members of the delegate assembly are chairmen of committees that are very helpful at Irving. The Members of these committees are chosen from the student body at large. The playground committee, and indoor tournaments, are all planned and manipulated by these boys and girls, and the good will committee meets visitors in the building and extends every courtesy possible to them. They also help in the cafeteria at noon.

The visiting day committee takes care of special days, such as girls and boys assembly days and departmental weeks. The assembly committee helps work out details for assemblies, decorates the stage, ushers, and guides patrons through the building. The flag committee sees that all rules of use of flags, set up by the American Legion, are observed and the historical committee is compiling a book of records of all events of historical interest to Irving.

The light committee, which is made up only of boys, checks on all lights to see that they are turned off when not needed, while an annual committee, made up only of girls, assists a class in English, which puts out the school annual, by handling the sale and publicity.

Pret moved his bed into their room, so he wouldn't have to sleep alone.

He had a curiously mischievous treatment for mice. A spiral stairway ran from the ground floor of the house to the attic. When Pret caught a mouse he would climb to the top of the stairs, thrust his head through the rails and drop his prey. On hearing it hit the lower floor, he would dash down after it and repeat the trick until he grew weary.

Until now Pret and his family had lived in London. But a great surprise was in store for the cat. They moved to the country.

It was strange, but delightful. A little bit frightened at first, Pret gradually grew accustomed to his surroundings. He settled down to a happy existence which, as he grew older, became more and more sedate.

Are the following married and if so to whom: Billie Dove, Richard Dix, Richard Arlen, Claire Windsor Neil Hamilton, Louise Brooks, Pola Negri, Mary Brian, Betty Bronson, Marion Davies, Fred Thompson and Ben Lyon.

Was Pola Negri really engaged to Rudolph Valentino? I don't think so.

How old is Douglas Fairbanks?

Please tell me all about Clara Bow, Jackie Coogan and Baby Peggy.

If you can answer these questions, which I know you can, I will certainly thank you very much. I will try to write to you again sometime. Sincerely yours, PHYLLIS, Wymore, Neb.

Miss Windsor is divorced from Bert Lytell. There's a Mrs. Hamilton, and Louise Brooks signs her checks as Mrs. Sutherland. Pola Negri is married to Prince Divani, which makes her a sister-in-law of Mae Murray's. Fred Thomson and Frances Marion are husband and wife. Mary Brian, Betty Bronson, Marion Davies and Ben Lyon register as single.

We have only Pola's word for it that she expected to marry Mr. Valentino had he lived. You are not the only skeptic in the matter, either.

You'll find Norma Shearer, Ramon Novarro and Renee Adoree on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot, Culver City, Calif. Miss Windsor is so well known that she will receive a letter addressed to Hollywood. Betty Bronson is with Warner Brothers, 5842 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood, and Sue Carol's chauffeur leaves her at the Fox Studio, 1401 N. Western Ave., Hollywood. You'll have to drive on out to Universal City, Calif. to find Laura La Plante.

I wonder which "Blonde" you had in mind—"Blonde or Brunette," "The Blonde Saint," or the kind "Gentlemen Prefer?" Or you may like them "For a Night," or "By Choice."

The cast for 'Dance Magic" is: "Jahala Chandler," Pauline Starke; "Leach Norcutt," Ben Lyon; "Jed Brophy," John Louis Bartels; "Selma Bundy," Isabel Elson; "Jahala's Father," Harlan E. Knight; "Her Mother," Judith Vasselli.

"The Patent Leather Kid," featured: "The Kid," Richard Barthelmess; "Curley Boyle," Molly O'Day; "Lieutenant Hugo Breen," Lawford Davidson; "Jake Stuke," Mathew Betz; "Jimmy Kinch," Arthur Stone; "Mobile Molasses," Raymond Turner; "Officer Riley," Walter James; "German Officer, "Lucien Prival; "French Doctor," Nigel De Brulier.

I think you have "Peter the Great," in mind. He is dead, but Strongheart and Rinty are living.

Mr. Fairbanks was born in 1883—ten years before Mary.

Clara Bow is another reason why Brooklyn, N. Y. is famous. It was twenty-two years ago that her name appeared in the list of births.

While she was attending Brooklyn high school, she won a "personality" contest, and with it a chance to work before the camera. But like so many other contest winners, Clara found that it takes more than that to "stay put" in the movies. Her first big "break" was in "Down to the Sea in Ships," which Elmer Clifton directed, but it was hard sledding for her between the time the picture was released, and the next important part that she received.

Clara has memories of dreary hours spent in visiting the studios and begging for a chance to show her "stuff." Finally she was placed under contract by B. P. Schulberg and it was a lucky day for both of them.

Clara's salary was small, but Mr. Schulberg soon had an opportunity to rent her out to some of the producers for as much as $3,500 a week. When he became an associate producer at the Paramount studio, Clara naturally went over there, too, and it wasn't long before she became the most popular flapper in Hollywood.

Clara has red hair and brown eyes, and most of all what Elinor Glyn insists upon calling "It."

Jackie Coogan is a native son of Los Angeles. It was in 1914 that Jackie was born with big brown eyes and light brown hair. There's now a little brother, Robert, but for several years Jackie was an only child.

His father and mother were theatrical people, and Jackie made an uncalled for debut on the stage in New York while his father was appearing in a vaudeville skit. Jackie was only twenty-months at the time, but he took advantage of a minute when his mother's back was turned and toddled out to see what it, was all about. The audience was so delighted with him, that his father reized the opportunity to have Jackie show some of his dance steps.

Later he did some dance steps with Annette Kellerman—that was when he was four. Charlie Chaplin happened to be in the audience and decided that Jackie was the boy he had been looking for, for the role of "The Kid" in the picture he wanted to produce. It was this picture that made Jackie the idol of screen fans.

He has started in numerous productions as the head of his own producing company since that time, and has now grown up to be a juvenile player. He is under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and because boys must also go to school, Jackie only makes about one picture a year. Never more than two.

Baby Peggy is becoming a flapper, too. In 1921 she was the youngest bona fide girl star in the movies, but we seldom see her any more. She originally entered the movies in answer to an ad calling for children to play with Brownie, the dog star. Her father took her to the lot and she was chosen from about three hundred children for the role, because of her intelligence and vivacity.

Baby Peggy was born in San Diego, Calif., just ten years ago. Her father was a forest ranger. There is an older sister, Louise, in the family. She appeared in a few pictures, but was too high strung for the work. Baby Peggy made over forty comedies with Brownie, and later became a star in Principal Pictures.

Dear Movie Editor: This is the third time I have ever written to you and I hope that I haven't worn my welcome out.

Would you please give me the age, height, color of hair and eyes, if married and to whom of the the following stars: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray, Eleanor Boardman and the man who played opposite Eleanor in "The Crowd." Also William Haines and Alice Day.

Didn't the man who took the leading male part in "The Crowd," also take a leading part in "The Big City?" I think he is certainly a wonderful actor. In "The Crowd" I don't think anyone could have carried off the part as he did.

Well, I am sure I have forn you out with so many questions, so I'll ring off until next time. "MIMI."

My "welcome" mat is guaranteed not to wear out.

Gary Cooper is single in spite of his six feet of height and black hair and blue eyes. So are Jimmy Murray and William Haines. Jimmy is the young man in "The Crowd." Yes, he also played in "The Big City." His hair is curly and light brown, and his eyes are blue. William is a decided brunette. William was born in 1900. Gary is twenty-six, and Jimmy is twenty-five. William and Jimmy are five -ten skward. Fay Wray is a petite little girl, nineteen years old and with light brown hair and blue eyes. She and Alice are single, but Miss Boardman is now Mrs. King Vidor. Eleanor was born in 1899 with light brown hair and greenish colored eyes. She's five feet six in hight. Alice is nineteen and has brown hair and gray eyes. She's about five three in height.

Dear Movie Editor—I am a new fan and have been wanting to write to you for a long time, but always my questions have been answered for others in your section of the paper, which I read every single Sunday.

I am ten years old and am interested in your section.

Will you please give me addresses of the following: Clara Bow, Bebe Daniels, and William Haines?

Well, now I will begin my questions.

I saw Mr. Haines in "The Smart Set" this week and enjoyed it immensely.

Hoping I will see my letter in print soon, and with best wishes to you and all of the other fans,

JAMMIE.

That's a well written letter for a ten-year-old, too, and only one misspelled word in it.

Clara Bow and Bebe Daniels are co-workers on the Paramount-Famous-Lasky lot, 5451 Marathon, Hollywood, Calif. William parks his car in front of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, Culver City, Calif. There's no doubt about it, that boy's popular.

Dear Movie Editor—Here we are again. We have not written for a long time. You will have to excuse us as we have moved to Harvard so we were busy helping Mother fix up our new home.

Gee, Movie Editor, we surely were mad when we read the letter signed by someone who called themselves "Critic." How dare they say such things aout Clara Bow. If they don't think she is a keen actress, they must have their eyes in their pockets.

Clara Bow is just a darling in "Red Hair." We received the swellest photo from her with her handwriting. Now Clara Bow's fans step into the circle and tell "Critic" what you think of her.

Now Movie Editor, we don't know how much to send the movie stars, so we just wrote and received the photo free within a week or ten days.

We love to see Jackie Coogan. What will his next picture be, and also Clara Bow's?

Our favorite stars, besides Clara Bow and Jackie Coogan, are Colleen Moore, Ronald Colman, Harold Lloyd, Esther Ralston and Norma Talmadge. Please tell us the color of their hair, eyes, if married and to whom, address and what their next picture will be. That is, if we are not asking too much.

Now we'll sign off until some other time. JEAN AND JANE,
Harvard, Neb.

At least we can thank "Critic" for another visit from you. Real "red hot" paper, too. Almost as flaming as Clara's hair, but I like it.

The fans will all be happy to know that they can secure Miss Bow's picture, for the asking.

"Buttons" is Jackie's most recent picture. He isn't working on one at present.

"Ladies of the Mob" is the title of the picture Clara is making now.

Colleen Moore fills out her income tax with John McCormick, the producer of her pictures, as well as her husband. Colleen is a brunette, so far as hair and eyes go, with a fair complixion. She is working on "Heart to Heart," and you can find her most any day at the First National Studio, Burbank, Calif.

Mr. Colman has just returned from a vacation trip abroad, and has not yet started production on a new feature. He has dark hair and eyes and may be reached through Samuel Goldwyn at the United Artists Studio, 7200 Santa Monica Blvd., Hollywood. He is married, but separated from his wife.

"Speedy" is Mr. Lloyd's current release. He is addressed in care of his own production at Hollywood. Mildred Davis, his former leading lady, is now Mrs. Harold Lloyd. Harold has dark hair and eyes and so does Norma Talmadge.

Miss Talmadge is Mrs. Joseph Schenck in private life. You will find her, also, in care of United States Artists Studio. "The Dove" is the last picture she has made.

Esther Ralston also answers when addressed as "Mrs. Webb." She punches the time clock at the Paramount-Famous-Lasky Studio, where she is working on "Half a Bride." Esther is a blonde.

Dear Movie Editor—I've been working so didn't have any time for your column, but now I am back, and I am back scolding "Critic" and the Clara Bow fans. I must say I am very disappointed at the fans for being so unfaithful to Clara.

And now for "Critic." If you ever say a thing like that again, I won't stop at writing. If you don't like Clara, don't go to see her. I don't go to see actors and actresses I don't like, so why should you?

Movie Editor, I must apologize to Doug Fairbanks for what I said about not going to see him if he had played in "Soft Cushions," instead of Doug MacLean. I think Doug Fairbanks was just grand in "The Gaucho," so if he will accept my apology, I'll promise not to say anything like that again.

What has become of Doug McLean? I surely miss him. What is his next play? How many pictures does he make a year, or has he a limited amount?

If anyone says anything about Jack Gilbert being no good, will you please pull their hair out or send them to me. I would be very glad. I suppose because he was drunk, they don't like him. Didn't they ever see a drunk man before. They better go to New York and see another. Anyhow, they never saw Jack and he might not have been drunk after all. He is just as good as any of their heroes off screen.

I am asking Tom Mix to accept my apologies, also, for it was not Tom that spoiled the play. It was the director.

Jack Holt is good, too, but his director spoils the play. He does too much fighting. When I was out west they didn't do anything like that. They just shot it out and the quickest on the draw was the best man.

In closing, I will say this. Rex Lease is a fine actor. I don't see why he isn't more popular. ROMA.

I should judge the Clara Bow fans all waited and "bunched" on the "Critic." "Critic" seems to have stirred up a hornet's nest alright.

Doug is most forgiving. I'm sure he will accept your apology.

Mr. MacLean has heretofore headed his own producing company, and made pictures as the "spirit moved him," never more than four a year, and sometimes not more than two. In the future he will join his organization with that of Al Christie and turn out feature laugh producers for Paramount release. He expects to start "shooting in June, and is now looking for a suitable story for his first pictures."

Mr. Gilbert accepts your bouquet, with thanks.

Perhaps we shall see more of Mr. Lease in the future. You could help by writing him a letter of commendation. It's the fans' letters that add the dollars to the salary checks of the players.

They do seem to enjoy making a real fist-fighting, he-man out of Jack. He's to have more to say about his future productions, so we'll await the results.

Screen Siftings

New Leading Man.—Walter Byron is the name of the new leading man that Samuel Goldwyn found in England for Vilma Banky. Mr. Byron, who is a friend of Ronald Colman, has arrived in Hollywood and is preparing to start work opposite Vilma Banky in "The Innocent."

Has Grown Up.—Betty Bronson of "Peter Pan" fame has taken on grown up airs since she returned from her recent trip abroad. Betty is to have an older type of role with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in "The Bellamy Trial." As soon as she completes work on that picture, she will move her make-up box over to the Warner Brothers studio again, where she expects to do a couple of pictures with a Vitaphone accompaniment.

To Have Lead.—Don Alvarado has been signed by David Wark Griffith for the leading role in "The Battle of the Sexes," which Mr. Griffith is making for United Artists.

Lots of Action.—Hoot Gibson took four cameramen with him when he went on location at Lone Pine, Calif., for exteriors for his next picture, "On Sunset Range," in order to assure perfect filming of the many fast and dangerous scenes. The picture is said to have twice as much action as any Hoot has made heretofore. Dorothy Gulliver, a Wampas Baby Star of this year, plays opposite Mr. Gibson.

Two Recovering.—Fans will be glad to know that Richard Dix and Karl Dane are now on the road to recovery, although saddened by the news of the death of Frank Currier. Mr. Currier had septic poisoning caused by a slight injury to his finger when he caught it in an automobile door. Richard Dix suffered from complications following an emergency operation for appendicitis. Karl Dane is convalescing from pneumonia and a broken shoulder blade.

JEANNE GORDON WILL BROADCAST

Metropolitan Contralto Will Be Featured In Kent Hour.

Jeanne Gordon, contralto with the Metropolitan Opera company will be the leading artist in the concert to be broadcast in the Atwater Kent radio hour, Sunday night, April 29, at 8:15 central time.

Assisting Miss Gordon will be the Atwater Kent singers, a male chorus of sixteen voices under the direction of Reinald Werrenrath, popular American baritone; Phillip Bernolfo, cello soloist; and the Atwater Kent orchestra with Robert Hood Bowers conductor.

Miss Gordon will sing but two operatic numbers. She has selected from Mignon the song considered by many one of the loveliest in the entire range of opera—"Connaise tu le pays"—"Knowest thou yonder land where the orange grows." It expresses the passionate longing of the orphan child for the home of her infancy.

Miss Gordon's other selection is the opening air from Carmen, "Haberna" or "Love is Like a Wood-Bird." This old Spanish song was interpolated by the composer. Bizet considered it particularly appropriate to the mood of Carmen who in the opening scene is piqued at Don Jose's indifference to her charms.

Miss Gordon is a Canadian and obtained most of her schooling at Havergal college, in Toronto, and at the Toronto conservatory of music. She later studied abroad. Returning to New York, she sang for six weeks in motion picture houses before an engagement with Creatore and his orchestra brought her to public attention and started her on a rapid rise to the Metropolitan Opera company.

In addition to the songs from opera, Miss Gordon will sing: Chanson Florian; Serenade; Sapphische Ode; Hark the Lark; Home, Dead Home; The Night Wind; and The Evening Song. The orchestra will play the grand march from Aida, and The Swan.

Long Leads Cause Poor Reception.

Long leads are probably the principal causes of poor reception. The grid and plate leads especially should be made as short as possible by proper placement of parts so that the signal passes from one to the other in the shortest and most direct manner. Filament leads also should be kept short. In this connection it is well to note that the leads to the rheostat on the panel are usually quite long. These leads may be eliminated by using a self-adjusting rheostat alongside the tube socket, thus providing automatic filament regulation with a minimum of wiring.

Radio Programs

Radio programs are necessarily compiled several days in advance by the broadcasting stations and The Star is not always informed of last minute changes. This accounts for the differences sometimes noted in the program as broadcast and the printed schedule. Listeners should keep this in mind.

All station programs are given in Central Standard time.

Radio Digest

Use Wood as Tool for Testing.

Never use a screwdriver or other metal tools when testing and trouble-shooting about the receiver. A thin sliver of wood is best and cannot cause a short circuit.

The Antenna—Long and Short.

A short antenna reduces signal strength, sharpens the tuning and decreases the static and other interference, while a long antenna causes broad tuning and increases static and other interference.

When Listening to Weak Signals.

The best way to "pull in" weak signals is to turn out all lights in the room and listen in total darkness. By relieving sensitive eyes of all strain, ears are kept "alive" for the reception of the faintest possible tones.

Test for Defective Tube.

Just one bad tube will upset the operation of the entire receiver. It is a good idea to have one of two new tubes at hand at all times, and if in doubt as to the condition of the tubes, take one of the new ones and insert it in turn in each socket. If the signal strength increases, it shows that the tube that has been replaced is not working efficiently.

To Get Best Possible Results From Receiver.

A good antenna and ground are absolutely necessary to obtain maximum results from the receiver. The best antenna to use is one about 50 feet long, including the lead-in. Better results may be had with the antenna facing in one particular direction. The best ground to use is a copper plate with the ground wire soldered to it and buried five or six feet in damp earth.

Worth Remembering.

When it is necessary to test the condition of tubes and no tube tester is available, the best plan is to remove the tubes from the set and take them around to the neighbor who has a set operating using the same type of tubes, and place them in his receiver one at a time, noting if the receiver functions properly as each tube is inserted. If the receiver does not operate when one particular tube is inserted, it shows that the tube is defective.

Noises From the Receiver.

For perfect reception, it is a good plan to keep the speaker away from the receiver five or six feet. Generally the tube in the second detector socket is the one that will cause the trouble. To test for this, hold the second detector tube firmly with the hand, noting if the hum or howl stops. If ot does this is positive proof that the tube is microphonic. Try the other tubes in the set in the second detector socket, and in this way one will probably be found that is not microphonic.

New Life to the Old Receiver.

There are innumerable little changes that can be made at a small cost in a set which will greatly improve the quality. Receivers that become old and out of date can be renovated by the simple replacement of radio transformers, by increasing the plate voltage, by the adjustment or introduction of grid bias batteries, by use of a power tube in the last stage, by the introducing of a suitable volume control, by installing new batteries, and by the substitution of a better kind of loudspeaker.

For the Notebook.

Moisture is one of the greatest enemies of good insulation and precaution has been made to prevent leakage of the delicate currents.

When operating a regenerative receiver, keep the detctor down below th oscillating point by reducing the filament voltage. This also serves to eliminate microphonic troubles.

There is a microphonic tube if the receiver has a tendency to start howling when turning up the potentiometer to get any degree of volume ,and especially if this occurs when the speaker and set are together in a console cabinet, or when the speaker is near the receiver.

Radiograms.

Throughout the United States there are upwards of 7,500,000 receiving sets in use, and the radio audience is estimated at 35,000,000. At least 1,600,000 sets are located on farms and in rural communities.

During the grand national steeplechase race, recently held in England, many automobile parties used their radio sets. When the horses were "in the country" or out of sight in the brush, the "spectators" knew what was going on from radio announcers stationed at points along the course.

Ford Henderson, a farmer living near St. Joe, Ark., is said to have established what he considers a high mark for the uninterrupted listening in on radio. He sat at his receiver, manipulating his dials and hearing talking, singing and orchestral programs for 42 hours. Static became so bad toward the end of his vigil that he was forced to tune off, as he could no longer distinguish the nature of the music nor make out the words of the speakers.

WESEEN WRITES VALUABLE BOOK

Dictionary of Word Usages by Nebraska Professor Highly Praised.

"Now and then some one, a college professor, for instance writes a book that is of genuine service to his fellow man. Such a book is Professor Maurice Weseen's "Dictionary of English Grammar and Handbook of American Usage" declares Lowry C. Wimberly, of the English department of the University of Nebraska. Mr. Weseen's book was recently published by the Thomas Y. Crowell Company of New York and is indispensable to those who are concerned with expressing themselves in correct and effective English. Mr. Wimberly believes that this book takes a place alongside other serviceable works, such as Roget's "Thesaurus" and Webster's "Dictionary."

"Even a cursory reading of Professor Weseen's attractive volume is enough to reveal the wisdom or common sense and the sincerity of purpose that went to its making," according to Mr. Wimberly. "Beautifully clear in the arrangement of its materials, and impressively authoritative in its treatment of English grammar and American usage, this dictionary has a common sense objective, an objective toward the attainment of which Professor Weseen has brought to bear his long experience in handling the problems of those who, on whatever occasion, desire to speak and write correctly."

The problems and difficulties of which Mr. Weseen speaks are all drawn from his experiences with hundreds of students, both adolescent and adult, and they represent the actual questions that confront a teacher of English, the daily problems and perplexities of speakers and writers.

The dictionary anticipates the hundred and one difficulties that all experience in writing. It is a book for business and professional people, for dictators, stenographers, and secretaries, for office help, and for every one, for every day in the year, for rthe library, for the office, for the school, and for the home.

Critics throughout the country speak highly of Mr. Weseen's latest work. Edwin Bjorkman, author and critic, says of the dictionary: "This is the reference book of my heart's desire. To students and teachers, to editors and writers, to readers of copy or of proofs it should be a godsend. It is modern and liberal. It is particularly safe and desirable guide. It is well arranged, easy to consult, and has a clearness that is most helpful. This work is a good deal more than it professes to be and warrants fully the term "invaluable." All in all, Weseen's Dictionary is one to be eagerly recommended."

NICE THINGS TO EAT- LOTS OF TOYS AND EVERYTHING A BOY COULD WANT TO MAKE EVERY DAY SEEM LIKE CHRISTMAS?

OH BOY! I DREAMPT I WAS A LITTLE ROBIN - AND A GREAT BIG HAWK WAS CHASING ME IN AND OUT AMONG THE STARS- I GUESS THAT'S BECAUSE I'M NOT USED TO SLEEPING A MILE ABOVE THE CLOUDS -

THIS MUST BE THE MOST WONDERFUL AIR-SHIP IN THE WORLD- IT'S JUST LIKE A GREAT BIG BEAUTIFUL HOTEL - WHEN I TELL THE KIDS AT HOME ABOUT THIS SHIP THEY'LL NEVER BELIEVE ME-

WHAT WOULD COLUMBUS - MAGELLAN - CAPT. COOK AND THE OTHER DARING SEA ROVERS OF THE PAST THINK IF THEY SHOULD COME TO LIFE AND SEE A MODERN AIRSHIP MAKING A TRIP IN SAFETY AND COMFORT - IN LESS THAN ONE WEEK - THAT COST THOSE EARLY NAVIGATORS MONTHS AND EVEN YEARS OF SUFFERING AND HARDSHIPS?

IF YOU PLEASE, SIR- YOUR UNCLE BIM WISHES TO SEE YOU IN THE CHART ROOM - WHEN YOU HAVE QUITE FINISHED YOUR REPAST - THANK YOU. SIR

BY MERELY GLANCING AT THIS INSTRUMENT BOARD - THE PILOT LEARNS HOW MANY MILES PER HOUR THE SHIP IS TRAVELING - THE PRESSURE OF THE AIR - THE HEIGHT ABOVE SEA LEVEL - DIRECTION OF AIR CURRENTS - AND A SCORE OF OTHER IMPORTANT THINGS CONCERNING AERIAL NAVIGATION-

I SUPPOSE, CHESTER, WHEN YOU GROW UP YOU'LL WAN'T TO BE AN NAVIGATOR -

WHEN I GROW UP I'M GOING TO BE CAPTAIN OF THE BIGGEST AND FASTEST AND FINEST AIRSHIP IN THE WHOLE WORLD -

GEE WHIZ! I'LL BET HE WISHES THEY HAD SIGNS AND STOP LIGHTS UP IN THE CLOUDS-

I CAN SEE A TINY LITTLE TOY STEAM SHIP - WAY WAY DOWN THERE ON THE OCEAN -

TAKE MY GLASSES - AND YOU WILL SEE THAT "TOY STEAMSHIP" IS A MAIL BOAT FROM THE ORIENT CARRYING THOUSANDS OF PASSENGERS -

I'M GOING TO WRITE A LETTER TO MY PAPA AND MAMA - AND TO MY SCHOOL TEACHER - AND ALL THE KIDS THAT I KNOW AT HOME - I'LL TELL THEM ABOUT WHAT A NICE TIME I AM HAVING AND WHAT I SAW - AND EVERYTHING -

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. Copyright, 1928, by The Chicago Tribune.
